10 Wisconsin Students Killed In Plane Crash

Death Toll 19 as Jet Slams Into New Orleans Motel

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A Delta Air Lines DC8 jet on a training flight careened into a luxury motel opposite New Orleans International Airport early today and exploded. Ten high school pupils from Juda, Wis., were among the 19 persons killed in the flaming crash.

The students were on a senior class outing, part of a group of 32 from Juda High School who had been in New Orleans since Monday and were scheduled to leave today. Nine of the dead were girls found huddled together in a charred bathroom of the motel. The body of the 10th, a boy, was blown outside.

Juda is in Green County near the Illinois border.

Five pilots and a federal inspector were on board the big jet, which was coming in for a landing. It sliced through two houses before plunging into the Hilton Inn, across U.S. 61 from the airport. All six in the plane were killed.

Fierce Flames

The motel erupted into fierce flames. As many as 40 guest units were destroyed or damaged. The number of injured was not known.

The cartwheeling jet spilled fuel as it skidded down a railroad track behind the motel, blistering the area. It blew apart when it hit the motel.

Challenge to Federal Court

Mrs. Wallace Ready To Unveil Plan for Takeover of Schools

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — An audacious challenge to the federal government which sets a new high in bravado is now ready for unveiling after careful and secret preparation by George Wallace and his wife, Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama.

What Wallace is planning is no less than total takeover of the state's public school system by Mrs. Wallace, claiming the police power of the state as her constitutional authority for seizure.

The announcement, carefully concealed as a state secret until now, will come tonight in a well-rehearsed speech by Mrs. Wallace to a joint session of the legislature and a statewide television audience. Mrs. Wallace will ask for specific legislative endorsement of her takeover of the school system in the form of a resolution of approval, in the Wallace rubberstamp legislature, the wheels are well greased for a quick okay.

This bold challenge to the federal government, growing out of a March 23 order by a special three-member U.S. court to end 13 years of stalling on desegregation, is designed above all to galvanize the South behind George Wallace's presidential ambitions.

Moreover, the challenge also poses the prospect of the nation's only lady governor, at some future point in the new school crisis, confronting federal troops sent to Alabama to enforce the court's integration order — a replay of George Wallace's 1963 stand in the schoolroom door. But with a fragile flower of southern womanhood playing the leading role, this time it could boost Wallace sentiment throughout the nation.

The decision to hurl a new challenge at Washington wasn't arrived at lightly. When George Wallace's legal advisers first proposed it, he called a meeting of some two dozen advisers, both in and out of the state legislature, and analyzed the political and juridical effects of seizing the public school system. Immediately after they reached their decision, television coverage was arranged.

Wisconsin Among States Which Would be Affected Under Federal Injunction

BY DAVID GIFFEY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The National Farmers Organization Wednesday afternoon was charged in court with using coercion in attempting to monopolize the interstate sale of milk during the two-week-old milk holding action.

The civil suit, filed by the Justice Department in U.S. District Court in Des Moines, brought forth strong criticism of federal policies as early as Wednesday morning from NFO officials in Wisconsin. They were informed that the federal action was pending, in a tape recording distributed Tuesday night from the office of Oren Lee Staley, Corning, Iowa, national president. The message said that an injunction would be issued against the NFO.

Staley's recording apparently was sent out too early. Meanwhile, local NFO members were altering their tactics before the court announced the suit. The Justice Department and U.S. District Court spokesmen in Washington said during the morning Wednesday they didn't have any knowledge of the action.

A short time later, however, word of the antitrust suit was released.

Reality Assumed

Proceeding under the assumption that the suit was a reality, local NFO officials began contract negotiations with processors asking that farmers be allowed to ship the milk, have it processed into cheese, powdered milk or butter, and held in warehouses.

The contracts would be for 12 months and warehouse receipts would be issued so the product would, in effect, be held in a processed form rather than raw milk.

The court action seeks an order forbidding the NFO from trying to monopolize the sale of milk by illegal means and from threatening non-NFO members. It didn't challenge the milk withholding by NFO members but accused them of forcing non-member farmers, truckers and processors to cooperate with them.

During the milk hold which began March 15, there have been scattered reports of violence in the states affected. In the Fox River Valley, reports violence has been minimal and, in most cases, the acts haven't been directly blamed on NFO members.

Picketing at dairy plants since last Saturday has gone without incident.

Criticize Action

Staley, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman have criticized the federal action saying farmers should be allowed to withhold the product they produce from the market if they choose to do so.

Edward Kenney, a spokesman for the Justice Department in Des Moines, this morning told the Post-Crescent the action "would have nothing to do with ending the withholding."

"The NFO's withholding of its own milk is not attacked in the suit," he said.

Reports said 19 of the 25 states taking part in the hold were named in the suit. Kenney said, "Wisconsin definitely is included among them."

"We never were quite sure which 25 states they were talking about," he added when

Action on Dodd Unlikely to be Either Extreme

Ethics Committee Decides Against Expelling Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee has decided against recommending expulsion of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd. But neither will it exonerate him of misconduct charges.

It also was learned Wednesday that the panel will not propose that Dodd be stripped of his Senate seniority or penalized financially in any way.

The 59-year-old Connecticut Democrat's financial affairs and his relations with an agent of West German business interests have been under investigation by the bipartisan committee for more than a year.

The committee's recommendations to the Senate are not expected for three or four weeks, but the staff is working on a preliminary draft.

'Between Extremes'

At a secret meeting last week, to set guidelines for the staff, the committee ruled out both total exoneration and expulsion, it was learned.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., one of the six committee members, said when asked about this he thought it was fair to conclude that whatever action is taken "will fall between these two extremes."

In-between courses of action could include censure or condemnation of Dodd's conduct or some other form of reprimand or rebuke.

It appeared the committee's report is likely to make different findings on various aspects of Dodd's activities.

'No Official Action'

One source said "the degree of severity" of the committee's action has yet to be determined, with the precise wording to be worked out after the members return from Congress' Easter recess.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., committee chairman, issued this statement: "Since the hearings closed the committee has had one meeting which was for discussion only. All members were present. No official action was taken. The committee adjourned to meet soon after the recess for further consideration of the case."

Huntley, Brinkley Differ

Some Picket, Others Work, But Artists' Strike Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — "Good night, David. Good night, Chet," is a casualty of the television-radio strike as Huntley talked but Brinkley didn't.

The familiar coast to coast television signoff was conspicuously absent Wednesday night as Chet Huntley, defying a strike by the 18,000-member American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, went it alone on his evening news report for the National Broadcasting Co.

David Brinkley, the other half of the NBC news team, stayed away from his microphone in Washington. He refused to cross a picket line.

Saturday Meeting

There appeared to be little likelihood of a settlement before Saturday when union officials and executives of NBC, CBS, ABC and the Mutual Broadcasting System meet in Washington at the offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

The strike over wages and commercial fees, the first national one in AFTRA's 30-year history, was called at 5 a.m. Wednesday in behalf of about 100 local on-the-air newscasters whose minimums currently exceed $11,000 a year. Most network stars, some of whose salaries range upward from the $100,000 level, supported the strike, as members of AFTRA even though they had reached an agreement last January.

Frank McGee, another NBC television and radio newsman well-known for his description of U.S. space shots, also defied the picket lines and broadcast his regular 4 p.m. radio newscast Wednesday.

Cronkite Jennings

But missing from the TV screens were other well-known newscasters such as Walter Cronkite of the Columbia Broadcasting System and Peter Jennings of the American Broadcasting Co.

Cronkite was replaced by Arnold Zenker, CBS program administration manager. Jennings

President of Sherwood Bank Succumbs at 83

James Bergstrom Was Life-Long Valley Resident

James W. Bergstrom, 83, president of the Sherwood State Bank, died early this morning after a lengthy illness.

A funeral mass will be said at St. Patrick Catholic Church, Menasha, at noon Saturday and burial will be in St. Margaret Cemetery, Neenah. Laemmrich Funeral Home, Menasha, is in charge of arrangements. There will be no visitation at the funeral home.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Bergstrom, Lake Winnebago.

Born in Neenah Jan. 22, 1884, he was a lifelong resident of the Fox River Valley. His parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George O. Bergstrom, were pioneers in Neenah and established the Bergstrom Stove Co., the products of which were sold worldwide.

Neenah Schools

Mr. Bergstrom was educated in the Neenah school system and the Mohegan Lake Military Academy in New York. In 1928, he became president of the Bergstrom Stove Co. and directed its operation until the business was discontinued. In 1945 he became associated with the Sherwood State Bank and held the position of chief executive officer and director for many years and was the president of the bank at the time of his death. He also held the positions of vice president and director of the State Bank of Greenleaf from 1954 through 1959.

Mr. Bergstrom had always been interested in education. In 1925, he was appointed a member of the Board of Industrial and Vocational Education in Neenah and served through 1929. He also was a member of the building committee of the board in 1928 and 1929. He has been associated with the administrations of both Marquette University and St. Norbert College as a business consultant for many years.

During World War I he was active on the various War Bond drives. Throughout World War II and for 10 years thereafter he served as chairman of the Calumet County draft board. He received a citation from the office of the President of the United States for this service. He also organized and was chairman of the Calumet County Civil Defense organization during World War II. He served on the National Committee of Sponsors of the United Seamans' Service, an organization which worked on behalf of the merchant seaman during the war effort.

Memorials may be made to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton, or Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, Neenah.

274 Americans Killed in Week

U.S., Reds Suffer Most War Deaths

SAIGON (AP) — More American and Communist troops were killed last week than ever before in the Vietnam war, U.S. military headquarters announced today.

The United States lost 274 dead and the Communists 2,774, the American command said.

While the Communist death toll set a record for the second straight week, the U.S. total exceeded a record of 240 that had stood since the battle of the Ia Drang Valley in November 1965.

Growing Intensity

Although the ground war has been relatively quiet for the past few days, the casualty summary for last week emphasized the growing intensity of the struggle in Vietnam. Many of the casualties were suffered in one of the war's deadliest one-day battles, on March 21, in which a crack Viet Cong regiment lost more than 600 dead in the jungles of Tay Ninh Province.

The deadly pace of the war continued Wednesday with 50 Viet Cong reported killed by South Korean soldiers sweeping the central coast and scattered actions dotting the countryside.

U.S. pilots smashed at targets in North Vietnam with 168 missions, including strikes on a storage complex 27 miles northeast of Hanoi. In the south, rockets from a U.S. Army helicopter on a firing mission fell short, killed three civilians, wounded 20 others and destroyed 31 huts in a government-controlled village 35 miles southeast of Quang Ngai.

1,320 Wounded

The weekly casualty summary reported 1,320 Americans were wounded last week, the third highest total of the war, and 12 were missing.

The casualty figures also reflect the increasing use by the Communists of mortars, rockets and recoilless rifles — relatively long-range weapons which they now generally favor in an attempt to escape the massive and growing U.S. firepower. U.S. officers say the Communists have apparently decided to wage a war of attrition for the time being.

Despite record losses for two weeks, the U.S. estimate of total Communist troop strength increased by 1,000 men last week and 4,000 the week before, to a total of 287,000.

Tuesday's Referendum . . . Part II

Terms of Office Cause Confusion, Could Get Worse

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — If Wisconsin voters are often left in a quandary about the framework of their government, no one can really blame them.

For state and national offices Wisconsin voters are called upon to deal with contenders racing for offices which seemingly have little unity of tenure, and keeping them straight at times can be expected to be more than difficult.

United States senators are elected to six-year terms, while their counterparts in the House of Representatives serve for two-year periods.

The state models for such officers serve also for staggered periods, but of shorter durations.

State senators serve for four years, while assemblymen serve for two.

Nationally, state voters are called upon to select a chief executive to serve for a four-year period, while on the state level the governor serves only two years before coming before the voters once again.

With him come most of the rest of the constitutional officers of the state who, unlike their national counterparts, are elected and not appointed to their posts.

Some Resemblance

The lieutenant governor, whose duties but not station resemble those of the vice president, serves a two-year term. The secretary of state, who follows the lieutenant governor in the gubernatorial line of succession, also serves a two-year elective term.

The state treasurer serves for two years.

The attorney general serves for two years.

Confusing?

Questions are being presented to state voters next Tuesday which are designed to ease the problems of government and citizenship which are seemingly caused by such a system.

But it is conceivable that even more problems could result.

Four questions specifically designed to do away with the two-year system of service for the partisan constitutional officers have been submitted for consideration on next week's ballot.

But the questions, which divide the five offices into four separate packages, could be decided completely independently, resulting in a more mixed system than we now have.

Many Possibilities

The questions ask, in turn, whether the governor and lieutenant governor should serve four-year terms, starting in 1970, and then in separate questions, if the same system should be started in that year for the secretary of state, the state treasurer and the attorney general as well.

Most probable results of the questions are, of course, those considered by the 1965 and 1967 legislatures when they approved resolutions calling for the submission of those questions to the voters this spring.

Either the entire package will pass, it is thought, or the package of four questions will fail.

But a multitude of other results is possible, growing out of the individual manner in which the questions were framed.

Voters could accept the first questions and reject the other three. Or they could accept the first two and reject the second two. Or approve the first three and disapprove the fourth. Or

Carl Yastremski Socks Two Homers In 10-9 Triumph

Houston Nips Atlanta' 3-2, On 4-Bagger by Joe Morgan

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The left-handed hitter smacked two home runs off southpaw Alvin Jackson Wednesday as the Red Sox nipped St. Louis 10-9.

His first homer came with a man on in the third inning, and his second came with two aboard in the fifth. He also drove in a run with a bases-loaded walk and made the game-ending out by spearing Jim Williams' fly to deep left field.

Earlier this spring, first-year Manager Dick Williams said Yastremski, who hit .278 but only .193 against southpaws in 1966, definitely would not be platooned this season.

Morgan Homers

In other exhibition games Wednesday, Joe Morgan's home run lifted Houston over Atlanta 3-2; Donn Clendenon smacked two homers as Pittsburgh beat the Chicago White Sox 6-4 in 10; Harmon Killebrew's fifth homer of the spring helped Minnesota past Washington 5-0.

The New York Mets beat Cincinnati 5-3; Cleveland nipped California 2-1; Detroit rocked Philadelphia 6-2; Los Angeles edged Kansas City 3-2 and San Francisco and the Chicago Cubs were rained out.

Joe Foy's three-run double in Boston's five-run sixth provided the winning runs. Mike Shannon drove in four runs with two homers and a pair of singles and Orlando Cepeda homered for St. Louis.

In the Houston game, Larry Dierker retired 13 straight while working seven innings for the Astros, while Tony Cloninger set down 12 straight in a seven-inning stint for Atlanta.

3 Straight Singles

Pittsburgh got three runs from Clendenon's homers but needed three straight singles for a run in the 10th to win it. The Pirates added another extra inning run with a sacrifice fly. Chicago's Ken Berry hit a grand slam off Bob Veale in the third.

Dave Boswell, Jim Perry and Al Worthington of the Twins combined to shut out Washington.

The Mets got seven hits, including Ron Swoboda's triple, in scoring all of their runs in the fifth inning. The outburst was at the expense of Cincinnati's Mel Queen, an outfielder trying to make the grade as a pitcher.

Cleveland got two unearned runs in the fifth to overcome California's 1-0 lead fashioned on Rick Reichardt's second-inning homer, and pitchers Gary Bell, Vicente Romo and Dick Radatz made them stand up.

Doubles by George Korince and Dick McAuliffe and three singles enabled Detroit to break a 1-1 tie with three runs in the eighth against Philadelphia.

Los Angeles got its three runs in the first inning, two of them on Bob Bailey's homer, in beating Kansas City. The Dodgers, however, lost center fielder Willie Davis for seven to 10 days. Davis sprained his left ankle while attempting to steal second.

Entries Near 400 For Bowl-O-Rama

Classic to Open April 11 At 41 Bowl

Entries for the fifth annual Bowl-O-Rama are approaching the 400 mark, tournament officials reported today.

The 4-game classic will open April 11 at the 41 Bowl and bowling will be held on week nights through May 12.

Last year just over 2,500 bowlers participated in the Bowl-O-Rama making it one of the largest singles events in Fox Cities area. The large number of entries pushed the cash prize jackpot over the $5,000. In addition hundreds of dollars worth of merchandise awards was distributed during and after the tournament.

Prizes Doubled

As an added incentive to bowlers this year, the first place cash prizes for both the men's and women classes have been doubled.

First place prize for both the Class A and B men divisions will be $200 compared to $100 last year. For the women there will be a first place cash prize of $100 in each class, compared to $50 in 1966.

Early entries have come from communities throughout the Fox Cities and as far away as Green Bay and Manitowoc. If early entries are any indication, it appears that Friday will be one of the most popular nights on the schedule so any bowlers or groups who wish to have a Friday night is advised to get their entries in as early as possible.

Entry blanks are available at the 41 Bowl and also at various bowling establishments around the area. In addition, blanks will appear periodically in the sports section of the Post-Crescent. The $2 entry fee for each bowler must be sent in with the entry blank.

Kaukauna Track Team Will Have 8 Lettermen for '67

Ghosts Open Campaign Friday In Manitowoc Indoor Invitational

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Kaukauna's High School track team, under head coach Ron Margelofsky, makes its 1967 season debut Friday night, when the Ghosts participate in the 15-school Manitowoc Indoor Invitational Meet to be held at the John F. Kennedy Memorial Field House.

Preliminary trials are to begin at 5 p.m., with the finals of the events slated for 7 p.m.

Ghost Track Slate

Friday—Manitowoc Invitational
April 18—At Kimberly.
April 25—At New London.
April 27—Green Bay Southwest.
May 2—Two Rivers (also JV)
May 5—At Menasha.
May 9—At Appleton (also JV)
May 12—Neenah (also JV)
May 20—M-E Conference Meet (At Kaukauna)
May 24—Mid-East Conference Relays (at Kimberly)
May 27—Sectional Meet.
June 3—State Meet at Monona Grove

Kaukauna is one of three Fox Cities teams to be represented in the meet. Defending Mid-Eastern outdoor champion Neenah and Kimberly will also send entries. The remainder of the field is composed of New London, Chilton, Manitowoc, Beaver Dam, Kewaunee, Sheboygan Falls, Luxemburg, New Holstein, Peshtigo, Sturgeon Bay, Two Rivers, and West Bend.

Eight Lettermen

With eight lettermen back from the team which finished second to Neenah, Margelofsky is hopeful for another good season. Currently 54 boys form the Ghosts' roster and there is the likelihood of more coming out in a week or so. Among those who will miss this indoor test (the Ghosts' only indoor meet of the year) are members of the basketball team, who are taking a breather between seasons.

Five seniors and three juniors return from the 1966 club, which compiled a 6-1 record in dual meets, ran second in both the M-E conference and M-E Relays meets, and finished third in the sectional.

Heading the list are Tim Leatherbury and Bill Derricks. Weatherbury, a senior half-miler, is expected to give the Ghosts strength in the middle distances. Derricks is being counted upon to be the No. 1 dashman.

Other senior lettermen are Steve Therriault (440-pole vault), Bob Jansen (hurdles), and Pat Kavanaugh (dashes). Shot putters Marty Van Zeeland and Bill Verhagen top the list of juniors, and Nick Kuhn of the same class will do the pole vaulting.

Graduate Losses

Graduated from the 1966 squad were shot putter Bob Promer, and sprinters Paul Kiffe and Mike Baisch. All three went to the state meet a year ago. Kiffe and Baisch were part of the Ghosts' crack 880 relay team. Weatherbury and Derricks were the other two boys on the relay unit.

Hurdles — Scott Bay, Mike Hooyman, Mark Tatro, Steve Bordini; 60-Yard Dash — Bill Derricks; 880 Yard Run — Tim Leatherbury, Carl Haack; Mile Run — Kevin Coleman, and either Don Kirchoff or Terry Van Wychen; 4-Lap Relay — Steve Therriault, Bill Derricks, Ken Hammen, Bernie Van Zeeland; Mile Relay — Steve Therriault, Ken Hammen, Tim Weatherbury, and Scott Bay, Dave Bruehl, or Mel Bierstecker; Shot Put — Marty Van Zeeland, Bill Verhagen; High Jump — Pat Cleveland, Mike Hooyman; Broad Jump — Bob St. Arnold.

Seniors:
Paul Bachmuber, Scott Bay, Bill Derricks, Ken Hammen, Mike Hooyman, Bob Jansen, Pat Kavanaugh, Dave Krings, Tim Leatherbury, Jonn Marx, Joe Robadeaux, Steve Therriault, Tom Zorack.

Juniors:

'Like Coming Home,' Claim New Head Coaches at Illinois

Valek Says South Carolina Had Same Situation Under Dietzel

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)— The ill wind of athletic scandal at Illinois, after wrecking careers of two veteran head coaches, Wednesday had launched new careers for two products of the assistant coaching ranks.

"It's like coming home," said Jim Valek and Harv Schmidt, former Illini athletic stars, named Tuesday to succeed, respectively, head football coach Pete Elliott and head basketball coach Harry Combes. Elliott and Combes were pressured into resignation by a Big Ten suspension threat against Illinois.

Valek, 40, former grid assistant at four colleges, and Schmidt, 31, cage aide at New Mexico the past three seasons, were given one-year contracts to help steer the Illini back on the Big Ten's straight and narrow path of recruitment.

Seasons at Army

"We faced this same kind of thing when Coach Paul Dietzel took over at South Carolina last year," said Valek, who also served under Dietzel four previous seasons at Army.

"Just as our tenders went out, the school was placed on probation for recruiting violations before our arrival. This didn't ruin South Carolina's recruiting. It made kids mad at what had been done to their state university. It firmed up their determination to go to school there."

Mailing date for Big Ten football tenders is Saturday.

Valek, a star Illini end from 1945 to 1948 and also an assistant football coach at Wichita and Illinois, said he hoped Elliott's entire seven-member staff would stay with him.

Valek said he was not concerned over the Big Ten code which forbids red-shirting, limits its football tenders to 30 per year and bans financial aid beyond room, board and tuition, prohibiting the $15 per month spending money permitted by the NCAA.

Don't Want Them

"If it takes $15 a month to have athletes come to Illinois, we don't want them," said Valek.

Schmidt, Illini basketball captain in 1957, also starred in the National Industrial Basketball League for the Denver Truckers and coached high school basketball at Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, before joining the New Mexico staff.

Schmidt faces a stiffer rebuilding job than Valek. The Illini scandal not only forced the March 19 resignations of Elliott, Combes and assistant basketball coach Howie Braun, but also permanently benched two basketball stars, Rich Jones and Ron Dunlap.

Additionally, a promising reserve, Steve Kuberski, was declared ineligible until the 1968-1969 season.

Like Valek, Schmidt said he would concentrate recruiting within the state of Illinois and added that the replacement of Braun as his assistant would be "an established Illinois high school coach."

Kerr Named Coach of Year

Coach of Bulls Gets 17 Votes in Writers' Balloting

NEW YORK (AP) — John (Red) Kerr of the Chicago Bulls was named the Coach of the Year in the National Basketball Association today.

Kerr led the Bulls into the Western Division playoffs in their first NBA season. They lost to St. Louis in the semifinals.

Kerr, a former star at Illinois set an NBA record by playing in 917 consecutive games with the Syracuse Nationals, Philadelphia 76ers and Baltimore Bullets before turning to coaching. Kerr won Coach of the Year honors with 17 votes in the balloting of a 39-man committee of sports writers, three from each BNA city.

Alex Hannum of the Philadelphia 76ers, Eastern Division champs, was second in the voting with 11. Bill Sharman of the San Francisco Warriors, the Western Division champs, was third with two. No other coach received a vote.

Titans Second In Battle for Sports Trophy

MADISON (AP) — La Crosse State leads Oshkosh by three points in the race for the Wisconsin State University Conference's first annual All - Sports Trophy.

With competition remaining in four sports—baseball, track, golf and tennis — the Indians have compiled 40 points to 37 for Oshkosh.

Points are awarded on the basis of nine for each first place finish, eight for each second - place finish, etc.

The trophy is being awarded to the member school with the best overall record in 10 conference-sponsored sports.

Platteville is third with 33 points. Stevens Point and Whitewater are tied for fourth with 32.

Redskins Top Draft Choice Okays Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ray McDonald, the bruising fullback from the University of Idaho who was drafted No. 1 by the Washington Redskins, agreed to a contract Wednesday with the National Football League team.

Formal signing of the contract, however, will not take place until sometime next week at McDonald's school in Moscow, Idaho.

Terms were not disclosed by McDonald — who was represented by attorney Carl Maxey of Spokane, Wash.

McDonald, 22, a 6-foot-4, 241-pounder, was the nation's leading ground gainer with 1,329 yards in 259 attempts last season.

Paquette Still Plans to Visit Notre Dame

Superior Grid Star Undecided

EDITOR'S NOTE:
For the past few months, major college recruiters have been combing Wisconsin, seeking to woo the state's prize high school athletes. One of the most sought after seniors is Superior's Packy Paquette. The story below focuses on the factors in play as Paquette nears a decision.

SUPERIOR (AP) — An "A" average in the classroom and an eight - yard rushing average on the football field are pleasantly complicating the life of Francis (Packy) Paquette of Superior High School.

He definitely plans to go to college. The trouble is he doesn't know just where he should go.

The list of possibilities has been trimmed to three—Wisconsin, Indiana and Notre Dame.

"I'm very undecided right now," said Paquette, a 6-foot-2, 200-pound halfback who can run the 100-yard dash in under 10 seconds.

His dilemma could have been even worse. Paquette broke a bone in his foot in the third game of the 1966 season. The injury benched him for the year and kept some scouts off his trail.

Eight Touchdowns

But in the two and one-half games he did play, he scored a total of eight touchdowns and won Associated Press "Player of the Week" honors.

"I plan to visit Notre Dame April 7 and I told Mr. Coatta (John Coatta, head coach at Wisconsin) that I would make up my mind about April 10."

Paquette has already visited Wisconsin and Indiana.

The Notre Dame trip is something special.

"They'll be in spring practice then and I hope I'll get a chance to see Bobby play," Paquette said.

Paquette was referring to Bobby Olson, an All-State fullback at Superior in 1965.

"He has a real fine shot at the middle linebacker job," Paquette said. "Jim Lynch was there and he's graduating and Bob has as good a chance as anyone. You should see him now. He's built like a stone wall. He must have added two inches to his chest. They have a real fine weight program there."

Indiana doesn't have a personal friend on its football roster, but a family friend is in the Indiana administration and Paquette admires Hoosier Coach John Pont.

"He and Mr. Coatta a very much alike. They both want to win and they are both religious individuals," Paquette said.

"No matter where I go, I'll have a great education. All three schools are just great," Paquette said. "You can learn all you want to learn. Then I have to consider what chance I'll have to play at the schools.

"Wisconsin has a tremendous football future and that's one of the reasons why I'm interested, and if I'm there, there will be people there that I know. Some kids from here will be going down and you won't get as homesick.

"These are the things I'm looking for. The time to make a decision—that's the hard part."

Member of Soccer Team Signed by Cowboys as Specialist in Kicking

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, near the halfway point in a 29-city quest of a field goal specialist, announced Wednesday the signing of Carlos Paulino of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

The Cowboys said Paulino, a member of the Lowell, Mass., soccer club, was signed at Memphis, Tenn., Tuesday after he made five of six field goal tries from 50 yards out.

4 National Honor Counts Socked by Women Bowlers

3 in Classic League, One at Marion Lanes for All-Time High

Women bowlers in the Fox Cities area enjoyed their biggest production of national honor counts Wednesday night as four were recorded.

The total is believed to be the highest number in history for one night of bowling in this area. Previously, as many as two women's and one men's national set was recorded, but never four.

Three of the better-than-600 counts were recorded in the Women's Classic League at the 41 Bowl. The other came at the Marion Lanes.

In the Classic loop, Jerry Erb had a 625 series, Joan Kolosso fired a 613 and Virginia Tegen had a 604. The national sets were the second of the season for both Jerry and Virginia while Mrs. Kolosso now has thumped five.

First of Year

At Marion, Sharon Radies socked a 615 in the Wednesday Night Women's League as she recorded the first national count of the year in Marion. She bowls for the Schmidt's Welding Service team and had games of 201, 199 and 215.

Jerry Erb slammed games of 200, 211 and 214 for the 625 series. She had a 619 back on Feb. 3 in the Bergstrom and Professional League at Neenah's Lakeroad Lanes.

Virginia Tegen pounded a 232 game and followed with 193 and 179 for her 604 set. Early in the season she had a 632 threesome.

In recording her fifth national set of the season, Mrs. Kolosso had games of 203, 211 and 199 for the 613 total. The 643 she hit on Sept. 29 in the American League at the 41 Bowl still ranks as the season high in this area.

25 National Sets

Women bowlers now have recorded 25 national honor counts this season and 13 have been rolled at the 41 Bowl.

Along with the national sets, some other big scores were recorded in the Classic League. Anna Jane Diedrich had games of 190 and 204 on her way to a 574 series while Elsie Ross had 194 and 190 lines with a 566 series and Myrna Schoenhaar fired games of 192 and 193 for a 556 aggregate.

Scratch team scores in the Classic loop included 924 and 2,669 by the Kaukauna Motel, 925 and 2,599 by Neenah Taxi and 926 by Cozy Bar.

In the Four-for-Fun League at Hahn's Lanes Wednesday, Ruth Bates had a 210 game and Marie Ridley slammed a 550 series. Ruth finished with a 503 and the only other honor score on the final round of bowling was a 206 game by Gloria Hoffman.

Rolls 531 Series

In the Tuesday Women's League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes, Elaine Mignon had a 214 game and 531 series.

Top score in the Wednesday Afternoon Coffee League at the 41 Bowl was a 519 series by Gerda Borchardt while Fran LaBonte was close behind with a 514. High games included Pat Hoelzel 195 and Bette Mauthe 191.

Maggie Jansen had a 216 game and 507 series to lead the Wednesday Nite Ladies League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes.

In the Marathon Girls League at the 41 Bowl Peggy Landsverk smacked an even 200 game.

41 Bowl Classic League

Arlene Techlin 209-529; Vivian Hilger 194-516; Helen Reblitz 506; Corky Behrent 193-529; Evelyn Steinacher 201-535; Marilyn Stein 544; Eileen Belling 202-514; Toby Hoffman 199-536; Irene Rondou 522; Birdie Bauhs 195-503; Eileen Hoel 512; Mary Ann Schuenemann 210; Naomi Hawkinson 215-532; Leone Uetzman 193-502; Grace Hansel 190-523; Bea Albrecht 203-516; Beverly Banczak 206-531.

Stan Prue Blasts Leading 642 Series

Bob Phelan Slams 246-626 In Kimberly Classic Circuit

Stan Prue blasted a 231 line on his way to a 642 set to lead the men in Fox Cities kegling Wednesday night. Prue's effort came in the Veterans League at 41 Bowl, where six other honor series were registered.

Gary Hannamann fired 607; Bud Everts, 565; Ozzie Johnson, 557; Elroy Kalies, 552; Ralph Schwartz, 552 and Ernie Van Boxtel, 558.

Bob Phelan topped the Classic League at Jerry's Lanes-Kimberly with 626, which included the high game for the Fox Cities of 246. Bud Mathison hit a 240-621 aggregate, and Frank Kroiss, Jr. came in with a 236-599 combination. Other high counts were: Tom Reider, 595; Toby De Bruin, 578; John Meunier, 576; Butch Jansen, 569; Gene Peerenboom, 558; Ron Busse, 556 and Ray Toonen, 551.

The Fraternal loop at Hahn's Lanes saw Wally Roblee set the pace with a 616 set, as AAL No. 1 wrapped up the league championship. Integrity Mutual finished second five games back, and the Odd Fellows were third.

Harry Grady crashed a 235 singleton on the way to 605 and Andy Jimos hit 603. Other top scores were by: Bob Maves, 234-581; Smiley Fiend, 568; Sid Landsversk, 567; Joe Driessen, 565; Hal Calmes, 562; W. C. Stach, 554; Irv Roberts, 550. Jim Jawort had the top individual game for the league with a 236 and Jim Hauert fired a 227 game.

Sheets Fires 608

A 608 by Ed Sheets paced the Fox Valley Leage at Sabre Lanes Wednesday night. Jim Trass rolled 595; Joe Keberlein, 586; Al Gutschow, 572; and Eddie Court, 555.

The Merchants league at 41 Bowl witnessed over-600 series from Tom Kronser, 605, and Jack Stingle, 604. Stingle also had a 227 line. Honor counts posted were: Al Gara, 583; Tom Hibbard, 586; Jim Mielke, 576; Ron Lass, 567; Al Gresl, 565; Evans Benz, 564; Roger Korth, 562; Bob Larkee, 558; "Tex" Techlin, 558; and Doc Glaser, 551.

Rangers Rout Detroit, Take Over 3rd Place

New Work Wins, 10-5; Montreal Tips Toronto, 5-3

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The hats were flying all around Madison Square Garden and nobody was happier to see them than Emile Francis, the dapper little general manager-coach of the New York Rangers.

The Rangers thumped Detroit 10-5 with their biggest scoring night of the year Wednesday and moved into third place in the National Hockey League as Montreal dropped Toronto 5-3. The Canadiens have 73 points, the Rangers 72 and Toronto 71 in the jockeying for playoff positions.

"We waited a long time for that kind of night," said Francis after three-goal hat tricks by Rod Gilbert and Donnie Marshall led the Ranger rout.

The three goals snapped a home ice scoreless drought that had stretched since New Year's night for Gilbert. The All-Star right wing for the first half of the season when he scored 29 goals, Gilbert had managed just five in the second half until Wednesday night.

Marshall and Vic Hadfield scored on the first two shots the Rangers had and the New York margin was as much as 7-2 until a Red Wing flurry led by Dean Prentice and Norm Ullman cut it to 7-5. Then Marshall's two goals put the Rangers out of danger.

Defenseman J. C. Tremblay scored one goal and assisted on two others in Montreal's key victory over the Maple Leafs.

It left the Canadiens in sole possession of second place with two games left to play. Montreal meets Chicago Saturday and Detroit Sunday. The Rangers, one point behind, play Toronto Saturday and Chicago Sunday. The Maple Leafs play Boston Sunday after hosting New York Saturday.

Jack McMahon Leaves Royals For San Diego

Cincinnati Will Name New Coach Within 10 Days

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Royals can expect to have a new coach "within a week to ten days," General Manager Pepper Wilson said after the announcement that Jack McMahon has accepted another job.

McMahon, who had led the Royals since 1963, Wednesday was named coach and general manager of the new National Basketball Association team at San Diego.

Losing Streak

There had been talk that McMahon's days at Cincinnati were numbered ever since the Royals went on a losing streak last season. The team finished with a 39-42 record for third place in the NBA's Eastern Division. McMahon's record in the NBA is 199-160.

"I think Jack did a very good job for us," Wilson said Wednesday night when reached by telephone at Denver. "San Diego asked for permission to talk to him about that job a month ago, and we gave them permission. His interest in the job was an open secret.

"Jack was sensible enough to know that a change was in the picture."

'Wega Grid Mentor Will Take New Post

WEYAUWEGA — Keith French, head football coach at Weyauwega High School for the past seven years, has accepted a similar post at Craig High School, Janesville, according to an announcement here today.

French, who had also served as guidance counselor, assistant basketball coach, and athletic director while at Weyauwega, compiled an impressive 47-9-3 record in directing Indian football fortunes. His teams won or shared championships in the Central Wisconsin Conference in 1961, 1962, and 1966. The '61 and '66 squads went undefeated.

He had previously served two years in the armed services and one year at Goodman High School before coming to Weyauwega.

Monroe Scored 41.5 Per Game For Point Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Monroe, who led Winston-Salem State to a 31-1 season record and the NCAA small college basketball championship, scored a record 1,329 points in the 32 games, final statistics from the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed Wednesday.

The Little All-America averaged 41.5 points in beating out Willie Scott of Alabama State who averaged 35.9. Wayne Proffitt of Lynchburg finished third with a 33.0 average.

Johnson, DeZur In SUC Records

Titans' Lallensack Established Single Game Rebound Mark

MADISON (AP)—A cartful of records tumbled during the 1967 Wisconsin State University Conference basketball season.

Stan Johnson of Eau Claire State and Dick DeZur of Superior both shattered two individual marks.

Johnson, the conference's most valuable player, broke records with 161 free throw attempts and 123 free throws.

DeZur broke two standards he set a year ago as he pulled down 297 rebounds and averaged 18.56 rebounds per game.

The single game rebound record was set by John Lallensack of Oshkosh, who grabbed 25 against Superior.

Guy Gust of Platteville set a record for free throw shooting when he hit with 25 in 25 attempts over a three game span.

The best single game scoring effort was turned in by Ron Havek of Oshkosh. He got 36 points against Superior. The conference record is 57 points scored by Roger Kuss of River Falls against Stout in 1953.

Michigan Duo Leads Classic Doubles at ABC

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ken McBride and Tony Kiteles, Muskegon, Mich., rolled 394-421-459—1274 to move into first place in the classic doubles division Wednesday at the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The 27-year-old McBride fired 655 and Kiteles, a bowling center manager, fired 619.

Welu Sets 2 World Marks

Jim Stefanich Leads Firestone Pin Test

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jim Stefanich of Chicago averaged a fantastic 245 for 16 games to take the lead in the $100,000 Firestone Professional Bowlers' Association Tournament of Champions after two rounds.

The 26-year-old Stefanich, who had a 300 game in his afternoon block, the first of his bowling career, followed up his early block of 1,936 for eight games with one even better — a 1,968. His 3,926 total was 48 pins ahead of rookie Mike Durbin of Costa Mesa, Calif., who finished Wednesday night with 3,878.

Earlier leader Billy Welu of St. Louis, who rolled a perfect game and broke two world's records in compiling a 2,008 for his first eight games, slipped to 1,787 for a 3,795 total and third place in the standings.

Biondolillo Fourth

Then came Jack Biondolillo of Houston with a 3,758 and Dick Weber of St. Louis with 3,751.

Weber, the pre-tournament favorite, jumped from 13th to fifth with a block of 1,934.

Defending champion Wayne Zahn of Atlanta, the current Bowler of the Year, moved into the sixth spot in his bid to earn the winner's check of $25,000, the prize he won last year.

The field of 48, all winners of PBA championships, roll another eight games Thursday after which the group is cut to the top 24.

Another eight games Thursday night and 16 more on Friday will determine the five finalists who will settle the issue before a network television audience on Saturday afternoon.

U. S. Goalie Named Best in World Meet

Soviet Team Cops Championship for 5th Straight Time

VIENNA (AP) — The United States finished fifth in the World Ice Hockey Championships, won by Russia for the fifth straight time, but the American goalie, Carl Wetzel of Detroit, was named today as the best netminder of the tournament.

The 27-year-old Wetzel was the only goalie to score two shutouts. He isn't eligible to compete on the U.S. team in the Winter Olympic Games next year, however, because he has had some professional experience.

The unbeaten Russians completed a sweep of their games by beating Czechoslovakia 4-2 Wednesday for their seventh straight. The Soviets placed four men on the All-Star team picked by sports writers.

On the basis of their performance here, the Russians have become heavy favorites to win the Olympic title in Grenoble, France, next year.

In another game Wednesday, Sweden upset Canada 6-0 to win second place in the tournament. Canada finished third with the Czechs fourth and the United States fifth, the last spot to qualify automatically for next year's Winter Olympics.

Ferrari's Absent As Sebring Gets Ready for Test

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — With Enzo Ferrari's first team staying in Italy, the rest of the world's top sports car pilots hurtled through first workouts Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's 12-hour Sebring endurance test.

Noticeable absent as the racers sped around the course were the red four-liter prototypes with which Ferrari snarled to a 1-2-3 triumph at Daytona Beach in the first of the 1967 races for the world championship.

This across-the-board victory got the Italian off to a blazing start in the battle to regain the championship he lost to America's Fords last year after a long reign as king of the world's race courses.

For first place at Daytona — the first of eight races in which the manufacturing title is won — Ferrari collected nine points. By also grabbing second and third, he blanked out the 10 points awarded for those places.

Volleyball Test Slated Tonight

Appleton Defends Regional Title in Kaukauna Meet

The Kaukauna regional volleyball tournament will be played tonight in the Kaukauna High School gym.

Competing will be defending champion Appleton, Almond, Plainfield and Kaukauna. A round-robin series of six games will determine the champion and qualifier for the sectional tourney.

AHS, with a 30-4 record for the season, will enter the regional meet as favorite. The Jim Kissinger-coached Terrors won the 6-team Antigo invitational tourney Monday.

Appleton finished with a 10-2 record, while co-runnersup Kaukauna and Antigo had 8-3. The three teams were tied, at 8-2, after the regulation number of games. Appleton then beat Kaukauna in a 1-game playoff and stopped Antigo in another playoff for the title.

Vikings' GM Has Major Surgery

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Jim Finks, general manager of the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League, was reported in satisfactory condition Wednesday after undergoing major surgery.

The Vikings office said the surgery was performed Tuesday night after occurrence of an embolism.

Saints' Second Round Selection Signs Contract

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — John Gilliam of South Carolina State, second-round draft choice of the New Orleans Saints, signed with the new National Football League club Wednesday night.

Gilliam, a 9.5 sprinter, will be used as a running back. In college, he played end, flanker, tailback and safety. Gilliam is 6-foot-1 and weighs 190 pounds.

The Saints also signed their fifth free agent within the past three days. He was Gordon Rush, 25, a 1963 Tulane graduate, who will be used primarily as a kicker.

Rush was drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles in 1963 but elected not to try pro football at that time.

Should be Ready for Playoffs

Hull Will Miss Three Games

CHICAGO (AP)—Bobby Hull, the Golden Jet of the champion Chicago Black Hawks, will miss the club's final three games of the regular National Hockey League season because of a knee injury suffered in Tuesday night's home finale against the Detroit Red Wings.

Dr. Myron J. Tremaine, Hawk physician, said Wednesday recurrence of a left knee injury which hampered Hull last year needed a week to 10 days to mend. The Hawks begin Stanley Cup play here April 6.

If the Hawks had not sewed up their first title in 40 years, Hull possibly could play in some of the remaining games, but Dr. Tremaine said: "It's not worth taking a chance of really aggravating the knee the rest of the regular season.

Has 52 Goals

Hull, who thus apparently has finished with 52 goals, two shy of his NHL record 54 of last season, was racked up in a third period collision with Detroit's Bob Falkenberg.

Also in the final period of the Hawks' 7-2 defeat of the Red Wings, completely out of play-off contention, Chicago's Matt Ravlich suffered a fractured left leg Ravlich caromed into the boards after being tangled with Falkenberg.

The Hawks close on the road, facing Boston Thursday night, Montreal Saturday night and New York Sunday afternoon, and can have a hand in determining their first-round Cup foe. A three-way battle for second now is raging among Toronto, Montreal and New York.

A NHL point-scoring record still is possible for Chicago's Stan Mikita, just three points shy of the mark of 97 set by Hull last year.

DEEP PLUG TRICK

IT'S BEEN COMMON PRACTICE TO ADD SINKERS TO THE LEADER TO SINK A PLUG FOR DEEP FISHING, BUT THIS REDUCES LURE'S ACTION. NOW, THE MAKER OF THE POPULAR FLATFISH LURES HAS SOLVED THE PROBLEM BY TYING (OR CLAMPING) A RUBBER BAND TO SINKER—LOCATED 12" ABOVE LURE, THEN TYING BAND TO SLACK IN LEADER. USE SINGLE RUBBER STRAND FOR MOST ACTION. WHEN A FISH STRIKES, THE BAND STRETCHES UNTIL LEADER IS STRAIGHT. USE THIS TRICK, ALSO, WITH SLOW-SINKING PORK RINDS, "EELS," ET CETERA.

Gary Hovey Named to 3rd NAIA Squad

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gary Hovey of Lakeland College, Sheboygan, Wis., has won a third-team berth on the 1967 NAIA All-America basketball team.

He was the only Wisconsin player named to any of the three 10-man teams announced Wednesday.

Wisconsin players gaining honorable mention were Ron Hayek of Oshkosh State, Stan Johnson of Eau Claire, Jerry Kissman and Mike Thompson of Stout, Jack Lutz and Jerry Parks of Carthage, Ron Brault of St. Norbert, Boll Schmieder of Northland and Jim Sevals of Superior.

FVGC Slates 'Open House' This Weekend

KAUKAUNA — Officials of the Fox Valley Golf Club have announced that an "open house" will be conducted this weekend. The public will get a chance to inspect the new clubhouse facilities.

The new golf layout, which was open for the first time late last season, will be ready for full-time play as soon as weather permits.

The open house will be held Saturday afternoon and evening and also Sunday afternoon and evening. Members will be on hand to conduct tours and explain facilities.

Officials also announced that some memberships are still available at the club. The new course is located on County Trunk UU, just west of Highway 55, north of Kaukauna.

Hodges Hopes Trades Will Help Senators to Continue Improvement

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. 12. (AP) — Gil Hodges isn't thinking pennant for this year, but he is thinking it for the not-too-distant future. That's a sign that gone forever are the days when Washington was first in war, first in peace and last in the American League.

"I think we're on the right track in building a club to get into the first division," Hodges, the Senators' manager, said. "And when you get into the first division, the pennant isn't too far away."

Hodges isn't walking around with his eyes glazed and his mouth frothing. He's just expressing satisfaction over the progress the Senators have made since he took over in 1963.

Busy Trader

Washington was one of the busiest traders this past winter, constantly trying to make a slight improvement here and another there. Whether the deals actually improve the Senators is something they'll have to wait and see.

The Senators picked up pitcher Camilo Pascual and second baseman Bernie Allen from Minnesota for relief pitcher Ron Kline, they sent center fielder Don Lock to Philadelphia for pitcher Darold Knowles and they traded pitcher Mike McCormick to San Francisco for infielder-outfielder Cap Peterson and pitcher Bob Priddy.

Allen is a light hitter but should plug a gaping hole at second while Peterson can help out at third or in the outfield.

Pascual, as usual, was a holdout this spring so it could be some time before Hodges knows just how much he'll be able to help. But the manager is counting on Knowles for a lot of work, either starting or relieving, and figures on Priddy for the bullpen.

Best Left-Hander

The prize of the pitching staff is Pete Richert, 14-14 last season, whom Hodges feels could be the best left-hander in the majors now that Sandy Koufax has retired. Not too far behind is righthander Phil Ortega, 12-.

Two other starters could be youngsters Joe Coleman and Barry Moore with Jim Hannan also given a chance to get into the rotation.

Hodges believes Washington could have the best catching in the league if John Orsino's arm is okay. Orsino is the backup man for Paul Casanova, who after one year is acknowledged as one of the best receivers in the AL.

The Senators' manager would like to keep mammoth Frank Howard in left field but might have to try him at first if Ken Harrelson or Dick Nen doesn't come through.

Hodges has had Howard open up his stance in an effort to hit the ball harder and further and improve on his record in 1966 when he batted .278, hit 18 homers and knocked in only 71 runs.

On the other side of the infield Ed Brinkman is at short and Ken McMullen at third while Fred Valentine is slated for right field and rookie Hank Allen, brother of Philadelphia's Rich, appears to be the leading candidate for center.

Waterfowl Must Have Markings

MADISON — Farmers, game breeders and shooting preserve operators have until May 1 to identify their captive-raised migratory waterfowl as private property by clipping off the rear toe of the right foot, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Mallard ducks are the principal species involved, but the new law affects all captive migratory waterfowl which appear identical to wild birds.

The operation, which does not injure the bird in any way, distinguishes it from the wild variety and allows transportation, shooting and sale of the captive waterfowl.

Young ducks and geese hatched after March 1 must be marked prior to reaching four weeks of age.

The regulation is a move to relax controls on persons having waterfowl in captivity, and to improve government administration of the captive bird permit program.

Volleyball Tourney Scheduled at 'Y'

The Appleton YMCA's fellowship invitational volleyball tournament will be played Saturday. Round robin action will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Bill Proposes License for Harvesting Clams

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Increasing interest in the harvesting of clams or mussels has prompted a bill in the legislature providing for licensing and regulation by the state conservation commission.

The commission's control over the harvesting of clams is now limited to the establishment of open and closed seasons. Its bill before the law-makers would provide for licenses at $5 for residents and $50 for non-residents, and the adoption of rules governing the taking or killing of clams. Licenses would not be required for the taking of 25 pounds or less.

12 Trackmen to Represent Lawrence at State AAU Meet

Twelve members of the Lawrence University track team will compete in the Wisconsin AAU Indoor Track Championships to be held at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Saturday.

This, the 24th annual AAU meet, will get underway at 10 a.m. The Viking trackmen who will participate in the meet will enter on an unattached basis and not as a team.

Coach Gene Davis has been able to get his squad outdoors for workouts this week. Following Saturday's AAU meet, the Vikes will have an intra-squad test at Whiting Field April 8 and open the regular season at Knox College in a dual meet April 15.

Davis reports that the new track which was installed last fall has been working out very well this spring. The track is made of rubber - asphalt and is known as a perma - track.

Events the Lawrence trackmen will enter Saturday include the 40-yard dash, mile run, high and low hurdles, 600-yard run, shot put, long jump, high jump and pole vault.

Entrants for the 40-yard dash include Ron Messman, Rick Miller, and John Biolo, Geoff Garrett will run in the mile while in the 600 the Vikes will be represented by Miller, Messman and Chuck Porter. Porter is captain of this year's track squad.

In the high and low hurdles, Lawrence entrants include Chuck McKee, Jim Leslie and Carl Liebich. McKee, Liebich and Andy Miller will enter the long jump while McKee and Pete Saving will be in the high jump.

Biolo and Paul Henningsen will enter the shot put and Larry Einspahr will be in the pole vault.

Badgers Drew Second Best Big 10 Crowds

CHICAGO (AP) — Wisconsin's basketball team was second at the gate during the 1966-67 Big Ten season.

The Badgers drew an 127,745 fans in 14 conference games. The total was topped only by Iowa which drew 142,779.

Wisconsin, a fourth place finisher, drew an average of 10,684 fans in seven home games and an average of 7,565 fans per road game.

Plan for Future Education

Most All-Fox Cities Players Prefer State Universities

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

At least 17 members of the all-Fox Cities football and basketball teams have decided to further their educations after high school graduation in June, a survey shows.

Most of the seniors polled chose one of the state universities or colleges, with Oshkosh and Stevens Point the most popular. Appleton High School's Pat Garvey and Bob Simon each selected Oshkosh, while Dan Poppy of Kimberly indicated either Oshkosh or River Falls. Lee Nimmer and Quinn VandenHeuvel, of Kaukauna, and Ted Schiedermayer of Kimberly selected the Stevens Point school.

Others with intentions of attending a Wisconsin school were: Jeff Volkman, Appleton — La Crosse; Jim Fetters, Neenah — Ripon; Pat Kavanaugh, Kaukauna — St. Norbert; John Grosser, Xavier — Lawrence; and George Hoffman, Appleton — La Crosse. Neenah's Gary Losse had previously announced his intentions of attending the University of Wisconsin.

Those with aspirations for going to schools outside of Wisconsin include: Dave Tiedt, Fox Valley Lutheran — Colorado; Lloyd Hackel, St. John — MIT; Tim Hartjes, St. John — Chicago Devry Institute; Dennis Runnoe, St. Mary — Michigan Tech; and Tom Heinritz and Dan Hardy, Xavier — both South Dakota. Tied and Hackel said that Beloit and Wisconsin were their second choices, respectively.

Still undecided as to future plans were Paul Ziemer, Appleton; Elwyn Kluess, Fox Valley Lutheran; Dennis Van Eperen, Kaukauna; Gene Jack, Xavier; and Larry Handler, Neenah.

Hurtubise, Nelson Pass Up Atlanta 500

ATLANTA (AP) — Defending champion Jim Hurtubise will not compete in the Atlanta 500 Sunday. Hurtobise and his racing partner, Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., said their schedule with Chrysler Corp. does not include the $78,000 Atlanta race.

Celtics Look Toward Playoffs

Bill Russell Given New Pact, Salary Increase

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Celtics' Player-Coach Bill Russell had a lucrative new contract in his pocket but his team's quest for another National Basketball Association championship on his mind today as the squad prepped for Friday night's playoff game.

Russell was signed to a new one-year contract as player-coach Wednesday at a reported sizable increase over the $125,000 he is believed to have received this season.

Red Auerbach, vice president and general manager of the Celtics, wouldn't disclose the exact amount of the raise, but said Russell didn't get it in one-dollar bills.

"I couldn't carry it that way," the 6-foot-10 Russell said. "I'd be listing too much."

An injury to Bailey Howell and an expected change in the attitude of the Philadelphia 76ers occupied Russell's thoughts. He looked to the game against them Friday night in the start of the final round playoffs in the Eastern Division.

Howell, a key man in the Celtics' attack this year, has a swollen ankle and his status for Friday night is uncertain.

Russell said the prime difference in this year's playoffs against the 76ers, who won the division crown from the Celtics for the second year in a row, is that the 76ers will have more respect for the Celtics. The Celtics beat them in last year's playoffs.

"They didn't respect us last year," he said. "They were too overconfident. They thought we were old.

Manages Teams Against Globetrotters

Klotz Must be Losingest Coach in Basketball; Record Now 10-2,130

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reds Klotz is an oddity in the sports world. For the past 17 years, he's been paid to lose.

Klotz, now 46 and a grandfather, has played and coached basketball teams that oppose the Harlem Globetrotters, known primarily for their clowning on the court.

His teams have lost 2,130 times while winning only 10. His record this year with the New York Nationals is 0-145.

"We have a sad record but that doesn't mean we play bad basketball," says Klotz. "I've never told a boy to lose. I insist they play up to their ability. We have to keep sharp to keep the Globetrotters sharp."

Despite his comment, Klotz has difficulty remembering when one of his teams last won a game.

"You mean, actually, what year?" he replied, quite seriously, when the question was put to him. "Ah, we don't keep statistics like that."

The nearest Klotz could recall, he won a game three or four years ago in St. Joseph, Mich.

"The scoreboard broke down with a minute to play," he said. "It showed the globetrotters were leading 61-57, but it hadn't registered three of our baskets.

"The Globetrotters froze the ball. The scorer tried to signal them but they didn't understand. They were really mad when they found out."

Klotz, who at 5-foot-7 is one of the smallest players in a sport where height is a premium, says winning gains him nothing. In fact, he says, the spectators don't want the Globetrotters to lose or become involved in a close game.

"Imagine. We win and we're booed," he says, incredulously. "There was this night in San Jose, Calif., and the score was tied with 10 seconds to play. I'm covering Marquis Haynes and he gets off a shot just over my hand. It goes in, and they win. You couldn't ask for a better game. Everybody booed. Can you believe it?

"Once we won two straight and we were booed."

Like any loser will tell you, Klotz says there was a time when he was a winner.

His high school team in Philadelphia was the city champion and, during the 1940's, he played on the Philadelphia Spas and the Baltimore Bullets, both title winners.

"It's ironic that I've made my reputation as a loser," he says.

Despite his habit of losing, player-coach Klotz enjoys built-in job security. He also owns the team.

County Board Asks OK to Construct Dam

MADISON — Creation of a dam on Halls Creek in the town of Commonwealth, Florence County, has been proposed to the Wisconsin Public Service Commission by the sponsoring county board. The project is intended to improve fish and game habitat, the commission explained as it announced that it will review the plan at a public hearing in the county courthouse at Florence on May 4 at 8:30 a.m.

Shipping Coupons for Fish Called 'Archaic'

MADISON — The requirement that a fisherman buy fish shipping coupons authorizing the shipment of game fish is archaic and should be repealed, the state Conservation Department has advised the legislature.

The law was enacted many years ago when such fish trophies were transported by common carrier. Today practically all fish are carried home by private automobile and the coupon requirement no longer serves a necessary or useful purpose, the department says.

Correction

KAUKAUNA — Recreation department sponsored bowling teams competing in the Junior State Tournament at Green Bay will bowl at 3:30 p.m. Sunday rather than Saturday as stated in Tuesday's paper.

Darboy Considers Sanitary District

Fox, Wolf Planners Call Meeting Of Neighbor Communities

The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission will call a meeting of five municipalities to discuss the formation of a sanitary district at Darboy, according to officials attending a Wednesday afternoon session at commission offices.

Gene Franchett, commission executive director, said officials from Combined Locks, Kimberly, Kaukauna, and the towns of Harrison and Buchanan will be asked to attend the meeting. No date was set.

The proposed meeting would be to discuss the means available to the unincorporated community of Darboy for the most feasible means of forming the district. Attending the Wednesday meeting were officials of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, the Town of Buchanan and the Farmers Home Administration, a possible source of funds if the sanitary district is called for.

Sanitary Problems

The five-community meeting was chosen as the first step in solving the problems of sewage at Darboy. The small community is on the border between the Town of Buchanan, Outagamie County, and the Town of Harrison, Calumet County.

To the north are Kimberly, Combined Locks and Kaukauna. Kimberly has a sewage treatment plant as does Kaukauna. Combined Locks is attached to the Kaukauna district.

The meeting is necessary, officials said, to determine if Darboy should or could become part of one of the existing sanitary districts or if Darboy will have to build its own treatment facility.

Same Watershed

Regardless of the final choice, the other communities would be affected because Darboy is in the same watershed.

Wolf River commission executive director William Morris said, "It's far better for this whole area to subscribe to one sewage treatment plant."

He proposed that a tentative sanitary district plan be drawn up and the process for its acceptance be put in motion.

To form a sanitary district, petitions must be circulated which indicate a majority of the land owners in the area favor a sanitary district.

Hearings Follow

Public hearings would follow and the towns would probably apply for federal assistance through the Farmers Home Administration or the department of Housing and Urban Development.

Approximately 150 potential "hook-ups" to a district reportedly are in the area. At the present time, septic tanks are used.

Francheit said the commission would call the five-community meeting and "outline a tentative sanitary district."

Town of Buchanan chairman Joseph DeBruin said both towns should be included in the sanitary district planning. "I would just as soon turn it over to a citizen's group to circulate a petition for forming the district," he said.

Officials at the meeting indicated cost estimates should be obtained for preliminary engineering studies and the actual district formation, whether it is hooked to another district for treatment or not.

The Town of Harrison wasn't represented at the meeting Wednesday.

AAL Sponsors Summer School For Ministers

Clergymen in the parish ministry who have not yet earned their bachelor of divinity degrees again will be given the opportunity to work toward the degree during two summer school terms being offered at Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Ill., or at the seminary's extensions in Seward, Neb., and St. Paul, Minn.

Amounts up to $100 will be made available to pastors through a $1,500 fraternal benevolence grant to the seminary from Aid Association for Lutherans.

The two summer school terms run from June 12 to July 14 and from July 17 to August 18.

Scholarships also have been awarded to six missionaries for specialized study of foreign languages to better prepare them for more effective service in foreign mission fields.

The Board for World Missions of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod awarded the scholarships from a fund made available by AAL.

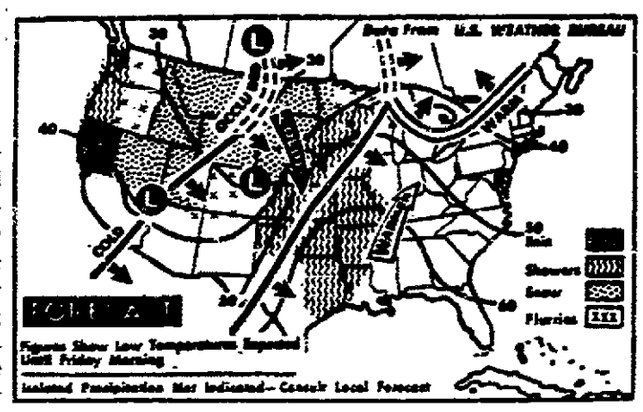
Corps of Engineers To Sell Former Home Of Lockmasters

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced the sale of a small two-story frame house which formerly served as a residence for lockmasters along the Fox River Canal at the fifth lock on Kaukauna Bay.

The house will be sold to the highest bidder submitting a bid to the Appleton Corps office. Bids will be opened April 7.

Corps officials said the building will have to be removed from the site according to sale terms. They plan to move a small lock shelter from another site to the spot where the house now is located on the north bank of the canal.

Water facilities and a sewerage lift pump at the site will be used for the proposed shelter. Officials said the home was being rented to a former lockmaster until his death last year.



Rain, Snow and Thundershowers are forecast tonight in the western two thirds of the nation. It will be colder in the northern and central Plains. Warm temperatures will continue in the eastern third of the country. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Court Dismisses Traffic Counts Against Driver

Five of eight traffic counts brought against a rural Kaukauna man following a police chase nearly two years ago have been dismissed by Outagamie County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren.

Robert M. Schumacher, 27, who at the time lived at route 1, Kaukauna, had been charged with five arterial violations, failing to yield to an emergency vehicle, speeding 60 miles an hour in a 25 m.p.h. zone, and an automatic signal violation.

Appleton police brought the charges after chasing Schumacher's car on the near northside early the morning of May 30, 1965. The trial had been delayed several times.

Judge Van Susteren, hearing the case Wednesday after an affidavit of prejudice was filed against Judge Gustave J. Keller, dismissed four of the arterial violation charges and the speeding count.

He fined Schumacher $50 for the remaining arterial count, $25 for an automatic signal violation, and $25 for failing to yield to an emergency vehicle. Schumacher, through his attorney, pleaded guilty to the three charges after the others were dismissed.

Welfare Director Warns Citizens to Call City When Asked for Help

The Appleton Welfare Department again has alerted the community to make certain any citizen approached by a stranger for help uses caution.

"Each year we hear of situations where well-meaning persons are victimized," Welfare Director Merton E. Ehricke said.

"Now that spring is here, our department is experiencing incidents involving transient people. In practically all of these experiences we find evidence that our community is again exposed to the con artist," Ehricke said.

The director said, "If you are approached by any stranger asking for help, we urge you to refer them to us. We are prepared to handle this kind of situation and perhaps may save you from being victimized."

Medicare at Home Is Theme of Workshop

Serving the patient in his home under Medicare will be the theme of a workshop Apr. 4-6 at the Holiday Inn, 4402 E. Washington Ave., Madison. The meeting is arranged by the Division of Chronic Disease and Aging of the State Board of Health.

Attending will be physical, occupational, speech and hearing therapists, and medical social workers who are working with home health agencies to provide services to patients in their own homes.

SALUTE

A COLUMN FOR DRAFTEES, SERVICEMEN AND VETERANS

Next to Last Call On Vets' Home Loans

BY JERRY T. BAULCH
For The Associated Press

If you are a World War II veteran planning to buy a home this year, you had better shape up fast.

July 25 is the cutoff date now on GI home loan guaranties from the Veterans Administration. And if you put things off until the last minute, you may get tangled up in the rush of deadline riders.

Congress has extended the deadline several times, but as nearly as I can find out there isn't too much chance of another extension. Nearly seven million loans have been guaranteed thus far for World War II veterans.

It should be easier now to buy a home under the program since the credit and high-interest situation has eased considerably since last fall.

The cutoff date doesn't affect Korean War Veterans or those who served in the military since Jan. 31, 1955. These are covered under separate legislation.

The latest program has a special provision for men now in service, guaranteeing home loans for those who have had more than two years of active duty.

Tax Breaks

You're not excused from paying federal income taxes just because you're in military service, but you get some special breaks that can save you considerable money. Many states also ease the tax burdens of men and women in uniform.

The major tax relief is given to those in Vietnam.

If you're an enlisted man or warrant officer you don't have to pay taxes to the Federal Government on pay received for time in Vietnam or its adjacent waters.

The same rule applies while you're hospitalized as a result of wounds, disease or injury in Vietnam or adjacent waters.

The Vietnam exemption for officers has been raised from $200 to $500 of their monthly pay.

Servicemen in Vietnam — as well as Red Cross workers, federal civilian employes supporting the armed forces and others — need not file tax returns until 180 days after the leave there.

If you are hospitalized outside the United States as a result of service in Vietnam, your tax return is not due until 180 days after your release from the hospital.

Wife Alone Can File

And here's another special rule. If you are serving in Vietnam, your wife can file a joint return without your signature.

Other military personnel on duty outside the United States are allowed an extra two months for filing.

There is no automatic extension on filing for others in the services, but if their ability to pay is materially impaired by being in service, they may defer payment of tax until six months after first discharge.

Servicemen get another break. These items in their pay are not taxable:

—Subsistence, uniform and quarters allowances.

—Housing and cost of living allowances while on permanent duty outside the United States.

—The allowance for those who live in trailers near their bases; also trailer-moving allowances.

Check On State Rules

If you are on permanent duty overseas you may not deduct expenses for meals and lodging, even though you have to maintain a home for your family in the United States.

As for State tax relief, it's best to consult your home state tax guide. State and local tax collectors where you are stationed may try to tax your income, car or other personal property. But only your home state may do so.

G.I.Q. BOX— 14 pt bf

Dear Jerry:

Are educational aid benefits under the new GI bill taxable? And what about other VA benefits?

Philip J., Tacoma, Washington

Dear Phil:

No, benefits under the GI educational provisions are not taxable. Other benefits that are not taxable include subsistence allowances for disabled veterans in vocational rehabilitation training, compensation and pension payments, grants for "wheelchair" homes and automobiles and all benefits to families of deceased veterans. Proceeds of GI policies and dividends also are non-taxable and need not be reported. However, interest on GI life insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA is earned income and must be reported.

Dear Jerry:

I left the army with a dishonorable discharge. Is there anything I can do to get this changed, because I really don't think I deserve anything worse than an honorable discharge. I think I got a raw deal.

Jose K., New York, N.Y.

Dear Jose:

You can write to the Army's adjutant general office at the Pentagon and ask that you be mailed Form DD 293, Application for Review of Discharge for Other than Honorable Cause, and DD form 149, Correction of Military or Naval Records with Dishonorable Discharge. Or you can pick up the forms from your regional Veterans Administration office and that includes detailed instructions of what to do. The VA doesn't handle the appeal but does provide the forms as a service.

Circle Tells Spring Dance Plans

Neenah-Menasha King's Daughters Set April 8 Party Date

The Neenah-Menasha Service Circle of The King's Daughters has announced plans for its annual benefit dance, scheduled April 8 at North Shore Golf Club. "Spring Blooms" is the theme members will carry out in party decorations. The event is the project through which the Circle undertakes many charitable programs through the year. Its other fund raising event, a rummage sale, is scheduled May 18 and 19 at the Neenah Club.

Mrs. Iveaux W. Anderson Jr., dance chairman, has announced that couples wishing to dine at North Shore make their own reservations at the club. Serving will be from 8 to 9 p.m. Dance tickets may be obtained from committee members, or purchased at the door the night of the dance.

The party is an annual highlight of the spring social season in the Fox Cities. Couples who enjoy the music and dancing help the 27 active Service Circle members support projects that benefit and inspire many segments of the Neenah-Menasha community.

The Circle sponsors an annual lecture series in the fall. For the last two years J. Wilbur Vickery, assistant to the dean at the University of Wisconsin Green Bay Center, has been the speaker, talking on 'Contemporary American Theater" and "Contemporary Humanities." Besides his lecture, Mr. Vickery also presented two early Ingmar Bergman films, followed by discussion.

Members of the Circle have formed a small sewing committee which meets weekly to make miscellaneous children's articles, such as stuffed dolls, decorated china Easter eggs, ear muffs and play pen toys.

Among projects their fund raising efforts help carry out have been a contribution to Rawhide auction at which the furnishings of the former owner were sold.

Give to U.S.O.

In the name of the young men from Winnebago County serving in the Armed Forces in Southeast Asia, the Circle has donated $100 for the last two years to the U.S.O. Each year they participate in Christmas programs for the needy, last year providing gifts for 100 children and adults at the Easter Seal Society party at the Menasha Elks Club. Members choose, wrap and deliver birthday gifts to children at Winnebago State Hospital each month. Members also visit the hospital admitting ward and sponsor bingo parties for the men there. A monthly birthday party is given for the men whose birthdays fall in that month. The activity is a new one at the hospital and the circle is the first to take part in it.

From its Remembrance and Campership Funds, contributions are made to Boy Scouts and Boys' Brigade. The group also sponsors vocational scholarships.

Teen Circle

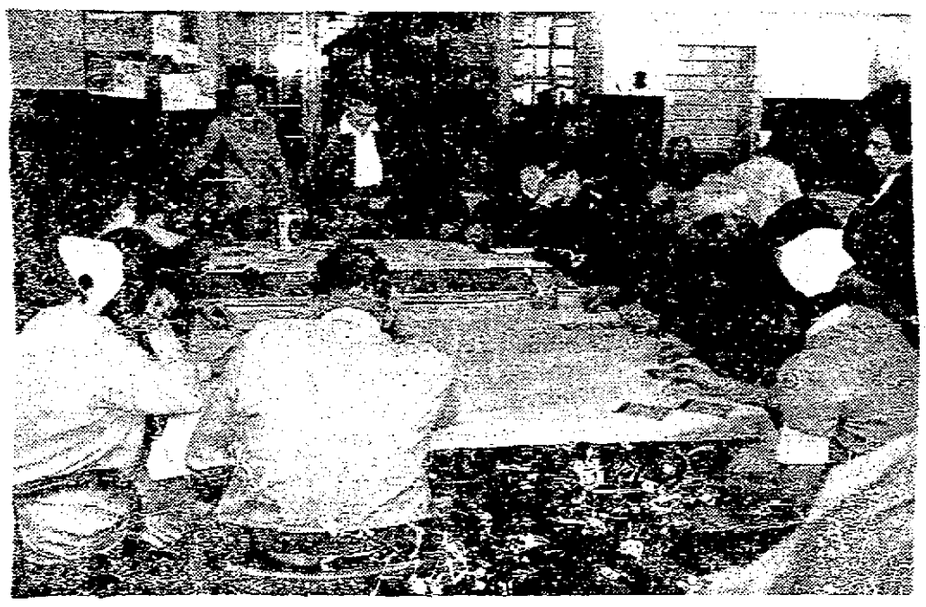
Service Circle sponsors a junior group composed of girls from Neenah, Menasha and St. Mary High Schools. Called The Frances Gilbert Circle, the young women also carry out a program of community activities, collecting clothing for children at Winnebago, caroling at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital; giving Christmas gifts to longtime patients there, and entertaining a group of retarded children. The group raises funds for its programs through rummage and bake sales and dances.

Frances Gilbert Circle's major fund raising endeavor is the annual Bachelor Belle's Ball. This year the dance will be held April 22 at the Menasha Elks Club. Co-chairmen are Kris Waters, Suzie Bachuber and Margie Mack.

Girls' Home

The Service Circle has announced that part of the proceeds from this year's "Spring Blooms" party will be used to help furnish a group foster home for girls, the new state King's Daughters project. Several Circle representatives from throughout the state are now working on plans to purchase and furnish a facility to accommodate eight neglected and dependent girls between the ages of 13 and 18. The home will be located in Winnebago County but will accept girls from county welfare departments and private agencies anywhere in the state. It is hoped the project will fill a need existing due to the lack of private foster homes.

Dance committee members working with Mrs. Andersen are Mrs. William H. Toppan Jr., co-chairman; Mrs. Robert H. Rector; Mrs. Harry J. Sheerin; Mrs. W. U. Day; Mrs. Jack Haanen, Mrs. N. C. Young and Mrs. Hugh F. DeMorest.



"Spring Blooms" will be ready promise Service Circle members involved in making decorations for the April 8 party. Above, making paper topiary trees, are Mrs. Frederik Jensen and Mrs. E. M. Collar. The North Shore party helps support the Circle's charitable activities, one of which is shown at left. Members providing an evening of entertainment for patients at Winnebago state hospital are, standing, Mrs. Harry J. Sheerin, Mrs. George Griffin and Mrs. John Pohler. While the Neenah-Menasha Service Circle of The King's Daughters is preparing its spring dance at North Shore, the teen group it sponsors has plans of its own. The Frances Gilbert Circle is busy with arrangements for its "Bachelor Belle's Ball", scheduled April 22 at the Menasha Elks Club. At a work session, above, are Cathryn Martin and Barb Steffin of Menasha High School, Margie Mack of St. Mary High School, Menasha, and Nancy Angermeyer and Markley Catlin, both of Neenah High School. At left, Mrs. Jack Meyer of the Service Circle is shown as she carries out the circle project of working with youngsters at the Happy Day Nursery, Menasha. Seated at the table with her are Teri Lynn Hopfensperger and Pat Dorton.

Tell Plans for Class Reunion

LITTLE CHUTE — Plans are underway for the ten year reunion of St. John High School's Class of 1957. At a recent meeting members of an alumni committee scheduled the event June 10 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Kaukauna.

Plan for Annexation Violently Opposed

Need for Town Approval Would Be Eliminated

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A bill to allow the unilateral annexation of urbanized but unincorporated areas surrounding cities was violently denounced Wednesday at a hearing before the state Senate Governmental and Veterans Affairs Committee.

Backed by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities and the new Alliance of Cities as well as individual spokesmen for many of the major cities of the state, it was opposed by the vast majority of more than 125 spectators drawn to the hearing.

On a show of hands called for by committee chairman William Draheim, R-Neenah, odds of about 20 to 1 favored killing the bill.

Quick Death

"Give it a quick death. Don't let it suffer and be reintroduced next year. Put it in a deep hole and I'll sit on the lid," said portly Ben Hanneman of Wisconsin Rapids, representing the Wisconsin Towns Association.

The bill, introduced at the request of the league, would allow such outlying areas to be annexed without the consent of the residents affected by a two-thirds vote of the annexing city council and with the approval of the state planner. A public hearing would be held by the planner in making his decisions. If opposed by residents, the decision could be appealed to local Circuit Court and then to the State Supreme Court.

The bill, backers point out, also would require cities to annex unwanted areas desiring to join municipalities. "This is not a one-way street, said Ed Johnson, executive director of the league.

Opponents of the measure repeatedly alleged that only cities would benefit from the act. No action was taken at the committee hearing, but passage in its present form is regarded as highly doubtful.

Continuing Problem

"We are looking for a solution to this mess," said Draheim "We've been studying this problem for as long as I have been in the Legislature," said the veteran lawmaker.

Hanneman suggested that towns also be given a right to approve annexations by a two-thirds vote. "This way we would have some voice," he said. "The people of the rural areas are tired of being on the defensive." Robert Jacobs, Town of Menasha clerk and chairman of the state Suburban League, offered to draft a bill which would allow urbanized towns to incorporate as a substitute to the existing proposal. Sen. Norman Sussman, D-Milwaukee, drew loud cheers when he replied that he would be willing to introduce such a measure.

Jacobs specifically objected to the role of the state planner in the annexation proceedings.

"Is there one man who is going to tell the public what is good for them," he asked.

"I defy any planner down here in Madison to tell me what my public interest is."

Speaking of Green Bay's consolidation with Preble he said that the merger did not lower Green Bay taxes. The year after the merger, he pointed out, Green Bay taxes climbed.

Opponents charged that the only interest backers of the bill have is in financial benefits gained through incorporating new areas to the cities.

"All this is a gimmick to increase the valuation of cities so that they can bond more," said Roland Kampo, Town of Menasha chairman.

Backers, led by Johnson, described the financial plight of the modern city, and recent state laws which require municipalities to offer services to such outlying areas.

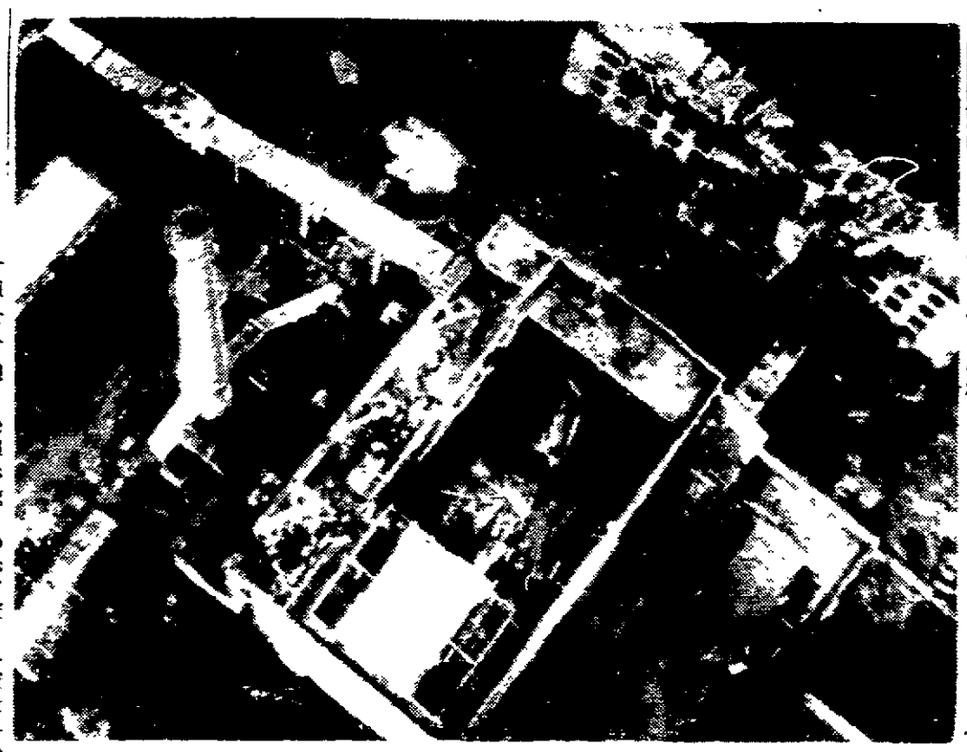
Rurally Oriented

The town form of government is rurally oriented and is not equipped to handle problems of modern urban areas, Johnson contended.

Donald Herrling, town attorney of Grand Chute, charged that cities should "clean up their own skirts," before looking for financial help from town or from state government.

Appleton has been unwilling to cooperate in mutually beneficial projects with his town, he charged.

"If this bill goes out of committee and onto the floor," he said, "you are in effect telling people they don't have any choice as to where they live."



An Aerial View of the Thai Nguyen thermal power plant, about 38 miles north of Hanoi, shows the damage inflicted on it after U.S. Air Force jet bombers struck the plant March 19. The Air Force said on releasing this picture that the plant had supplied 17 per cent of North Vietnam's electrical power.

Bombardment Resumed

Tanker Still Clings to Reef

LAND'S END, England (AP) — The Royal Navy ordered new air strikes with napalm and bombs today on the broken hulk of the supertanker Torrey Canyon, still clinging to The Seven Stones Reef off the southwest tip of England.

Parts of the blistered hulk of the hard-dying tanker still showed above water after surviving two days of bombing aimed at burning off millions of gallons of oil still inside the wreck.

In the past two days navy and air force planes have pounded the wreck and the oil slick around it with 96 thousand-pound bombs, 2,000 gallons of napalm, 9,800 gallons of aviation fuel and 16 rockets. Each night the rising oily sea doused the flames.

Destroy Oil

The navy's intention is not to sink the remains of the tanker but to destroy the oil she retains before it seeps out to increase the already heavy pollution of the beaches of southwest England.

One huge oil slick, from the cargo of 35.8 million gallons which has been escaping from the tanker since she hit the reef 12 days ago, was reported moving along the English Channel 20 miles south of Plymouth.

But local authorities in shore resorts already invaded by the oil said they believed most of it could be removed before the summer vacation season starts in July.

The navy planned to use booms — some more than a mile long — in an attempt to prevent the oil reaching more resorts and ports along the Channel coast.

Work Starting

Work was starting on a boom across the 1½-mile Needles Channel between the Isle of Wight and Hampshire. Ships will lay buoys across the Channel and a two-foot-deep net of polystyrene will hang between each buoy.

A losing battle to disperse the oil with chemicals before it reaches the beaches was still going on. A naval spokesman said more than 50 ships were out, spraying detergent on the floating mass of oil.

In New York, Albert Rudick, Liberian deputy commissioner of maritime affairs, announced a three-man board of inquiry to investigate the disaster. The Torrey Canyon flew the Liberian flag and was operated by a Liberian subsidiary of the Union Oil Co. of California.

Rudick said the board was en route to Italy, to question the tanker's Italian officers and crew.

Delay Enforcement Of Wage-Hour Law

Federal Court Extends Restraint To Await Constitutionality Ruling

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A three-judge federal court said today it would extend a temporary restraining order prohibiting the federal government from enforcing some provisions of the wage and hour law until a decision is rendered on their constitutionality.

The court, asked to limit federal power over states, took the case under advisement Wednesday.

At issue is whether the 1966 amendments in the Fair Labor Standards Act are permitted under the federal-state system.

The judges acted after hearing Charles Donahue, U.S. solicitor for labor, warn against trying to "fashion a new law out of whole cloth."

Atty. Gen. Francis B. Burch of Maryland initiated the suit against the law, which requires minimum wages for employes of schools, hospitals, nursing homes and institutions for the mentally or physically handicapped. The facilities may be public or private.

The law, effective Feb. 1, 1967, required a minimum hourly wage for those employes of $1.15 in the first year, $1.30 in the second, $1.45 in the third and $1.60 in the fourth. It would affect some 1.4 million public employes.

Maryland obtained on Jan. 27 the temporary restraining order delaying its enforcement.

Maryland and Texas, arguing Wednesday in behalf of 26 states which are parties to the suit, asked the court to draw a line against federal encroachment on states' rights.

Judges questioned Donahue extensively on whether there is any boundary, under the Constitution's commerce clause, to federal regulations involving state employes.

"How far do you think the power of the federal government goes in exercising its power in regard to states?" asked Harrison L. Winter, circuit court judge of the U.S. 4th District.

"It goes as far as it goes to individuals," Donahue replied.

"If you have a janitor in a hospital receiving goods in interstate commerce," asked Judge Edward S. Northrop, "then you could cover all employes of a hospital. Is that not true?"

Imported Materials

Donahue replied in the affirmative.

Roszel C. Thomsen, chief judge of the U.S. District Court for Maryland, then asked: "Could (the principle) apply to the office of Atty. Gen. Francis Burch, whose assistants have been working long hours on this case? They use ink, paper and other instrumentality of interstate commerce."

Donahue said he was "not sure whether it would."

Carriers Vow Fight

Railroads Threatened By Nationwide Strike

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Railroads over most of the nation are threatened with a strike of train operating employes this weekend in a dispute over health and welfare benefits. The carriers say they will go to court to prevent a walkout.

A strike deadline of 12:01 a.m. Saturday was set by the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen, affecting about 18,500 members and 60 to 70 railroads.

Clyde F. Lane, union president, said the carriers plan to cancel their agreement with the union on hospital, medical and insurance benefits Saturday in violation of the Railroad Labor Act.

Stop Work

He said that unless the benefits are continued the conductors and brakemen will quit work on all railroads except a few which have their own health and hospital plans with the union.

The walkout threat was termed "unlawful" by James E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers in Washington.

Denying that the railroads plan to withdraw the union's benefit plan, Wolfe expressed confidence that the courts will grant them an injunction "and we will not permit them to carry out a strike."

'Inferior Contract'

Lane claimed that the carriers are attempting to use the issue to force the union into accepting a new wage-rules contract.

"This is the first time within our knowledge, he added, "that an employer has used the withdrawal of hospital, medical and insurance benefits for employes and their dependents as a club to force them to accept an inferior contract."

Democrats Hope Renaming of Martin Won't Tighten Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic critics of William McChesney Martin Jr., Federal Reserve Board chairman, said today they hope his continuance in office will not bring tighter money later this year.

President Johnson announced Wednesday he was designating Martin, 60, to stay on as chairman until Jan. 30, 1970.

Martin's Democratic opponents on Capitol Hill resigned themselves some time ago to this action.

They said Johnson apparently felt he had no choice in view of Martin's wide reputation as a "sound money man" among U.S. and foreign bankers.

Not Confident

The critics said they were hopeful, but not too confident, that Johnson had been able to reach some agreement with Martin that the White House would be consulted in the future before any dramatic tight money moves are made.

They noted that Martin, in his 16 years as head of the Federal Reserve under four presidents, always jealously guarded the independence of his agency.

Some leading Democrats, including Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee, Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee, and Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., had publicly urged Johnson not to keep Martin as chairman.

Gore said after Wednesday's announcement that "this is an unfortunate reappointment of a man who has demonstrated his supine affinity to special interests."

Repeat Cycle

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., another critic, said he hoped the action "does not mean a continuance of the repetitive cycle of high interest rates and tight money which has three times brought recession to our national economy."

"I would hope also," Hartke said, "that Mr. Martin would reverse his support of higher taxes — a matter on which I disagree with him entirely."

Senators will not have a chance to vote on the redesignation since it does not require any action by that body.

Martin has always enjoyed strong support from Republicans and from Democratic conservatives. But he will be ineligible for any further term as board chairman or member after 1970 since he has served a full 14-year term.

The Federal Reserve has eased interest rates in recent months as the nation's economy has slowed.

Clues Still Sought In Disappearance Of Chicago Girl

CHICAGO (AP) — Police are still seeking a firm clue on the fate of Carrie Stephens, 8, who disappeared from a sidewalk near her family's north side home Monday evening after a man had stopped to talk with her and her playmates.

Carrie's friends ran to her mother, Alice Stephens, and said that Carrie walked away with the man. The man was described as fat and about 40. He offered the children $1 if they could find a little dog which he said was lost.

Although more than 200 persons have called police with tips and advice, there has been no trace of Carrie.

Police continued to search nooks, crannies and catch basins in the area.

Your Problems

Each Day Precious to Reader Who Survived Cancer Surgery

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS I was interested in the letter from the West Virginia reader who wrote that she was afraid to be around women at work who had had cancer operations The writer said she knew it was crazy but she just couldn't help it

I, too, have a fear of cancer, but my story is different Please print this letter because there are thousands more like me, and we need the moral support and understanding of the public

Landers

Three years ago I was operated on for a malignancy. The doctor praised me for coming in without a recurrence I could at the first sign of trouble. He said I was very wise and very lucky. He assured my husband that the operation was a complete success and said we shouldn't worry. He told me that if I got through five years I could consider myself cured.

I have two years to go and my mind is never at rest Every day I look for cancer symptoms on my own — hoping and praying I don't find any At night I go to bed with a prayer, "Dear God, please let everything be o k"

My children are still in school My husband is not in the best of health They need me. Every day is precious now. My burden of those who share my problems is heavy The thought that some people are afraid to be near me is demoralizing and depressing

Medical science has made tremendous strides in the fight against cancer but there is still so much ignorance — like that of the women from West Virginia Your column has educated millions of readers on subjects people don't want to talk about. Will you please print this letter and ask for compassion and understanding for those of us who are fighting a very difficult battle? — A Lady From Ohio

Dear Lady: Here is your letter and I am asking for more than compassion and understanding. I am asking for money.

Cancer research is costly. Education and services must be paid for. Each and every one of us has a personal stake in the battle against caner. Fortunate (and rare) is the family that has not been touched by this dread killer. About 50 million Americans now living will eventually have cancer. This is one out of every four persons in the United States.

I urge everyone who reads this column to respond to the appeal of the American Cancer Society. And be generous, please. Your contribution means the difference between life and death. — Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS I was very much interested in the letter from the Cleveland woman whose husband has been begging her to accept a mink coat for her 20th wedding anniversary She said she was going through the change The hot flashes were driving her crazy "I don't need a mink coat," she moaned "What I need is a fan"

I have been married for 21 years and I have been wanting a mink coat for a long time I live in San Francisco and the weather can get pretty chilly out here Please tell the Cleveland woman that I will gladly send her a fan if she will send me the mink. — Bay Area Shivers

Dear Goldie Goodheart: Here's your letter and best of luck. If we don't get a response out of Mrs. Cleveland, how about trying for a hot water bottle?

Pick Right Finesse to End Drama

If your diet calls for only one piece of fruit per day, should you eat a grape or a watermelon? If you settle for something middle-sized, you would follow the principle of choosing something that does you some good Adopt the same principle when you are choosing a finesse.

You consider an immediate finesse with dummy's queen of diamonds but reject the idea because you will go down two instead of one if the finesse loses Win the first trick with the ace of diamonds and lead a spade or a heart, depending on which finesse you want to try.

Decide which finesse you would choose before you read on

Most bridge players would lead a spade from dummy at the second trick "When in doubt lead trumps," says the old bridge adage (This is a saying that costs the bridge players of the United States $10 million a year.)

Expert Play

An expert would lead a heart from dummy at the second trick. If the heart finesse works, you are home. You draw trumps and put your hand on the table to claim the slam

The spade finesse is just as likely to succeed as the heart finesse, but you are not necessarily home if the spade finesse works If East has three or more spades headed by the king he will get a spade trick despite your finesse.

Since you must try one finesse or the other, choose the finesse that ends the suspense Don't make a risky play and then find out that you are no better off than you were before you took the risk

Daily Question

Partner opens with two spades (forcing to game), and the next player passes You hold S-K 6 4, H-K 9 7 2, D-K J 9 8, C-9 5. What do you say?

Answer Bid three spades The three kings are worth a positive response Raise partner's suit since you have adequate trump support Partner may then be able to find out everything he wants to know by way of the Blackwood Convention

Cold, Heat Both Lethal For Insects

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: An old wooden tray, carved in Haiti, seems to be infested with some kind of insects — probably termites. How can I get rid of them?

A: Two methods. An hour and a half in the oven at 150 degrees, or overnight in your freezer. Both treatments are lethal.

Q: A throw rug came back from the laundry clean but limp. Other than sewing on a layer of backing, what will restore some of the stiffness? — Los Angeles.

A: Spray or brush a coating of fresh shellac over the underside. Leave the rug stretched upside down until thoroughly dry. If not stiff enough, give it another treatment.

Q: I'm going to try painting my concrete garage. Is it possible to use a painter roller instead of a brush?

A: The right type of roller will work splendidly. Get the kind with long fibers on the roller, not the short lamb's wool variety used for painting smooth surfaces. The long fibers work the paint into the concrete rough spots.

Q: The linoleum in the kitchen still looks pretty good, but apparently the surface must have worn down. When it is washed, it becomes a little spongy and takes forever to dry. What can be done (except replacing it)?

A: A couple of coats of top quality floor and decking enamel has prolonged the life of many a linoleum floor. First, be sure it has thoroughly dried out. Then carefully remove all traces of wax and grease. With these two necessities done, you should expect a respectable job, which will last a long time.

Q: Where can I get plans for building a space-saving storage closet under a stairway?

A: Write to Popular Science Monthly, 355 Lexington Ave., New York City 10017, or to Directions Simplified, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y.

Q: I have seen so many homes where nail homes have rusted and spoiled the looks of the white paint that I want to be sure this won't happen when I build my house. Any recommendations?

A: If you don't use non-rusting nails, be sure to smooth a dab of putty over each nailhead (some job!) Even better is to countersink each nail slightly which will allow for a thicker dab.

Q: Please tell me the best way to take out a large stain from a white wool rug. It was caused during a party when some red paper and a knocked-over water glass landed on the rug together. Even though I wiped it up as quickly as I could, the red stain remained.

A: Most unfortunately, the rug may have been permanently discolored by the paper's dye. Don't waste any time trying home scouring or cleaning. Get the rug to a competent cleaner and hope for the best. Be prepared, though, to have the rug dyed another shade, so the stain won't show.

State Nurses Tell Plans for Institutes

The Wisconsin Nurses Association has scheduled two institutes this spring which will focus on "The Legal Aspects of Nursing." The programs will be held in Milwaukee and Wausau.

The Milwaukee institute is scheduled April 20 and 21 at the Red Carpet Inn, with the Wausau program, May 18 and 19 at the Holiday Inn.

The Thursday institutes are scheduled from noon to 9 p.m. and the Friday programs, 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The sessions will include studies on the "Purposes of Licensure and Interpretation of the Wisconsin Nursing Practice Act," by James McDermott, Madison, assistant state attorney general; and "Problems of Implementation of the Nursing Practice Act" by Miss Adele G. Stahl, R.N., Madison, director of the Wisconsin State Department of Nurses.

Special clinics will be held on maternal and child health, supervision of non-professional personnel, medicare and records.

All registered professional nurses have been invited to attend. Those interested may contact Mrs. Werner Jonschner, R.N., Neenah, president of the Appleton district of the association.

Miss Gibbons Tells Plans for November Rite

Patricia Gibbons

A November 18 wedding is planned by Miss Patricia Ann Gibbons and Edward Allen Bradley. Their engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Gibbons, 1607 S. Carpenter St. The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradley, Belvidere, Ill.

Miss Gibbons attended Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh. Mr. Bradley was graduated from Monmouth University, Monmouth, Ill. The couple is employed by the Turner School District, Beloit.

Fanciful Approach Adds Flourishes To Kitchen Tasks

When an old-time recipe calls for "a wine glass" of liquid, you are usually safe in adding one-quarter cup.

Toothpicks will help you hold two cake layers together after they have been filled and frosted. The picks should, of course, be removed before serving.

* * *

Tie mixed spice in cheesecloth and add to the water in which you cook shrimp. Save the shrimp cooking liquid to use as a base for fish soup.

Add anchovies to a meatless tomato sauce for spaghetti.

Modern Hinduism Holds Fast to Ancient Doctrines

"Hinduism is the most complex of all religions," said John Stanley in presenting the historic origins and contemporary trends of Hinduism at the first of the five-session non-credit adult course 'World Religions', at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Campus. The classes are held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Wednesdays.

Dr. Stanley has taught non-Christian religions for the past six years at Lawrence University.

"Modern Hinduism is an amalgamation of all that preceded it since its origin in 3500 B.C. Unlike other religions, Hinduism does not reject its past, but keeps everything, even its contradictory parts," stated Mr. Stanley.

Reincarnation Belief

The Harapia civilization or the Dravidians of the Indus River Valley, (now West Pakistan) who developed a high civilization, are considered the originators of the religion. The Negroid people believed in reincarnation called Samsara and also in the moral law, Karma, that says if one does wrong his soul will suffer. These are still the beliefs of Hindus today.

According to the speaker, the Karma and Samsara belief is that when a person dies, his soul leaves the body and is reborn in another body. The kind of body, whether it be snake, beetle or man of high caste, depends on how good a life he lived.

The Aryans, a light-skinned Indo-European people, ran the Dravidians out of the Indus River Valley in 1500 B.C. and further developed the religion, combining it with their polytheistic religion and their scriptures or Vedas.

Chant Hymns

The Vedas are composed of 1,500 hymns sung to gods. Mr. Stanley stated that though many Hindus are illiterate today, they know the words of the hymns by memory because they have been passed from preceding generations. The songs are chanted on three notes, always returning to the center note. This symbolizes becoming one with god, stated the professor.

The most important part of the Aryan's religion was their sacrifices to their gods, which were either nature gods or gods of the principle of order. The latter were thought to hold the universe together. Sacrifices guaranteed that the gods would continue their work.

The essential part of a sacrifice is the prayer or Brahma accompanying the sacrifice, for without the prayer, said by a member of the highest caste order, the sacrifice means nothing.

Discover 'Ultimate'

From 1500 to 700 B.C. more sacrifices were offered to the gods of order than to the gods of nature. The Aryans were looking outward, trying to find the basic principle of life.

Brahma holds the universe together, so behind Brahma there must be a secret force, they reasoned. That principle is the ultimate reality, so Brahman is the absolute truth, they said. This applies to the entire universe and the smallest grain of sand, according to Mr. Stanley.

After the Aryans knew the absolute power behind prayer as Brahman, they wanted to find the reality inside themselves. This, said Mr. Stanley, led to the belief in the Atman or soul as the essential part of themselves, the part reincarnated into another body. They thought if it ever became free from the body it would become one with Brahman, said Mr. Stanley. This is the Hindu goal.

The Hindu's religion offers salvation from perpetual reincarnation. One path to salvation involves leading a good life and not violating caste restrictions. Another is getting rid of ignorance and, through knowing the truth of the Brahman-Atman equation, becoming one with Brahman and thus living in Moksha, a desired state, forever.

Another means of salvation involves worshiping with all the soul, until the Hindu becomes one with Brahman, or truth.

The fourth way to salvation involves the doctrine of yoga. This is intellectual and psychological concentration on the soul to become one with the Atman or the soul.

Position Required

The proper position for blocking the senses to meditate is sitting with a straight spine, legs crossed, heels on thighs with the soles of the feet turned upward and knees flat on the floor. The hands are folded with fingers and thumbs together and the Yogi, through half-closed eyes, looks at his thumbs. To stop interruption caused by his breathing, he develops a breathing technique so that he only takes one breath every three minutes. This is how the Yogi experiences a temporary Moksha.

Incorporating all doctrines of the past, Mr. Stanley says the Hindu religion has absorbed the Ahimsa philosophy, which is reverence for life and allows no killing of animals.

Heresies Included

Heresies are also carried into the present Hindu worship. In 500 B.C. the philosopher Buddha questioned a religion that offered salvation only to those who could afford to be intellectuals, such as priests. The essential part of his religion, called the popular Hinduism or Hinduism of the masses, included all gods worshipped by villagers as reincarnations of Brahman and Atman.

Mr. Stanley believes the study of other religions is important today because when nations work with each other for peace, they must understand what others consider the ultimate truth.

A Lovelier You

Poised Hands

Many girls say that they are self-conscious about their hands — "don't know what to do with them." Still other girls never give their hands a thought. Although opposed, both attitudes make for gawkiness.

Most hands have to be schooled before they behave gracefully. You have to learn the poised action and pass it along. From head to hands! To make a good beginning, just master these handy DO's and DON'TS:

Do — keep your fingers relaxed. Held stiffly, fingers look clawish and develop "dropitis." Don't — make a show of the flat width of your hand. Turn it so the thumb and forefinger face your public. To understand the whys, stand with hands at sides and touch thumbs to skirt. Then turn hands so that fingertips touch skirt. How much prettier the side view than the flat expanse!

Do — avoid shoving your hand straight out when shaking another's. Turn the palm slightly upward in clasp position. Don't — clutch or dangle a purse. Grasp it lightly, like the treasure it is. Ditto when you carry gloves.

Don't fidget. Fidgeters, by showing a woeful lack of poise, give people the twidgets. Do — remember that the natural gesture is the poised, graceful one. Be done with and have none of artiness — holding a cup with the little finger stuck straight out, for instance.

Don't — forget the confidence that comes with clean, smooth manicured hands.

Do you have a hand problem? Send today for Lovelier Hands, a booklet that covers every step in a quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Sheets of Gravy, Sauces, Relishes or Dried Ice Cream in Food Forecast

Instant foods have come a long way since Colonial women dried apples in the sun.

Nowadays dried shrimp, salads and other delicacies fill the knapsacks of campers roughing it in the woods. Dried ice cream has been experimentally marketed; some experts believe it will become a popular confection.

The old-fashioned method of drying a food is to heat it; the new way is to freeze it, the National Geographic Society says. Frozen food is placed in a vacuum chamber where air pressure is only one millimeter of mercury compared to normal pressure of 760 millimeters.

In freeze-drying, a food's salts, sugars, and proteins remain in their original place. They are not drawn to the surface of the food, as in conventional drying methods. Thus, there is little shrinkage or shriveling, and rehydration is not hampered by a crust of concentrated compounds on the surface.

Prevents Spoilage

About 85 to 95 per cent of the water in a food is removed during freeze-drying. This prevents spoilage not only by bacteria but by enzymes. The product does not require refrigeration, and will keep indefinitely in an air-tight package. It can be quickly rehydrated for use with water.

Freeze-drying changes the appearance of food very little. A freeze-dried strawberry looks almost like a fresh one.

Freeze-drying is expensive, however. Costs now run about 20 to 50 cents per pound, but the cost to a consumer may be worth it if a product has to be stored for a long time or transported over great distances. The American Mount Everest Expedition, for instance, relied heavily on freeze-dried foods.

Eventually, the cost is likely to decline to about five cents a pound, food expert Kermit Bird of the Department of Agriculture forecasts. This cost reduction would greatly increase the popularity of freeze-dried products in the normal household. Already, campers and military officials are enthusiastic purchasers.

Sheets of Catsup

Food technicians are interested in compressing as well as drying food. One new compression technique is to roll a dried food into a thin sheet. Sheets of catsup, barbecue sauce, gravy, syrup, and pickle relish are possible. Easy-to-chew pieces of these sheets are easily rehydrated in the mouth with saliva.

Spray-drying also is attracting attention. In this process, an atomizer converts a liquescent food into tiny droplets that are blown into heated air. The liquid in the droplets evaporates; the dried particles settle as a powder.

Spray-drying could drastically cut shipping costs. In its usual form, shortening may cost perhaps $375 per truckload to ship from Chicago to New York. Spray-dried, it could travel the same distance for $215, experts say.

Wood sap has been successfully spray-dried and converted into a nutritional supplement for cattle feed. Cactus juice and mixes for cocktails have also been spray-dried.

Awareness of Selectivity Can Stretch Dollars

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

A task force of economic educators working through the Joint Council on Economic Education has assembled a set of principles that can be related through basic concepts to the family's management of money. There are several of these concepts. But a most important one that can be applied to everyday living is the recognition by the consumer of "Opportunity Costs" — which could be described as "the other opportunities that exist for spending the same amount of money." Of course, this principle has been expressed in many ways since the first man said: "You pays your money and you takes your choice."

If this awareness of selectivity is more fully appreciated by families, they can avoid a period of trial and error in attempting to work out their individual financial plans.

So let's see how this concept is used. It asks you not to think in terms of the cost of goods and services as indicated by the price, but to look at the purchase in terms of what other goods and services could be purchased with the same amount of money.

Three Advantages

For example: the cost of a portable record player versus the enjoyment of tickets to the theatre; a new hat or dinner on the town; steak at $1.25 a pound rather than two pounds of hamburger at 69 cents a pound; the cost of a $3,500 car, not viewed merely as $3,500, but as what that amount could otherwise purchase for the family.

In applying this principle, the family would make a list of goods and services it plans to purchase within a given period of time, including savings, investment in stocks and bonds, and additional life insurance. On a limited income, a consumer would ask himself, for every item purchased, if there were any other items that could be purchased with the same amount of money and increase his personal satisfaction.

An understanding of this concept has three values:

1. Stimulates the family to channel its money into the most advantageous directions;

2. Forces the family to look at all the choices available, and

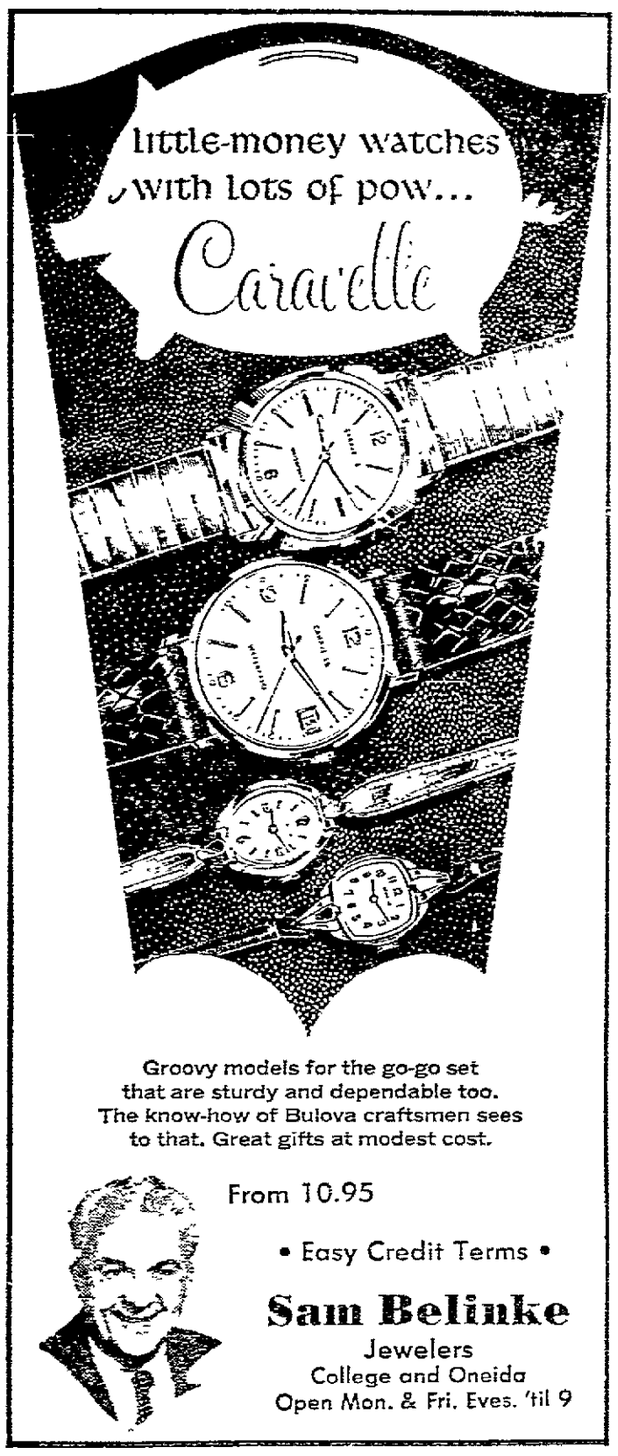
3. Helps it to evaluate whether what it wants now is what it really needs.

No Impulse Buying

You have seen families, perhaps, on the same income you have who appear to live better, have what they want, yet manage to stay out of debt. And you've no doubt often said: How do they do it? How they do it is encompassed in this very concept of selectivity. They might never have been able to explain it in so many words, and didn't even know, consciously, that they had a "concept." But by practicing the basic principles of deliberate choice, with family financial objectives in mind, they have literally managed their money.

There's nothing rigid in this concept. It allows you to spend in whatever way you like. But it does force you to realize what you're spending for. The hazard of impulse buying is licked.

Such a broad concept doesn't, of course, in any way conflict with keeping a budget tailor-made for your own family. Opportunity, selectivity, is the philosophy of money management. The budget is the tool with which you can put it into practice.



Groovy models for the go-go set that are sturdy and dependable too. The know-how of Bulova craftsmen sees to that. Great gifts at modest cost.

Or, if we pass them by, explain to a child why his safety as a non-public school student is less important than the safety of his public school friends.

Explain why Wisconsin can't match Mississippi, whose Supreme Court said in 1941: "The state is under duty to ignore the child's creed, but not its need." Or the U. S. Supreme Court, which said in 1947 when it approved bus rides for church-related school children: "The State contributes no money to the schools. It does not support them. Its legislation does no more than . . . help parents get their children, regardless of their religion, safely and expeditiously to and from accredited schools." Or Pennsylvania, whose Supreme Court said this year: "In view of the peril hovering over our streets and roads... those charged with concern for the safety of children are duty bound to devise methods and means for saving the little travelers from harm on their way to and from school."

Twenty states now give bus rides to children to private as well as public schools. They do not pass "the little travelers" by. Nor should we.

'Juliet of the Spirits'

Special Fellini Movie Has Technical Wizardry

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

One week before beginning the filming of "Juliet of the Spirits," which closes tonight in its three-day run at the Appleton Theater, Italian director Federico Fellini had a dream. He dreamed of taking his right eye out with a spoon.

What did it mean?

"Maybe it meant that for this picture I didn't need the concrete, earthly right eye," he later told interviewers Tullio Kezich, "but only the left — the one of fantasy."

If, as Fellini suggests, he did close the eye of earthly reality while writing (with Tullio Phinelli and Brunello Rondi) and directing this lusciously tinted fable of an Italian wife's escape from the emotional bondage of a listless middle-class marriage, then such a course might be encouraged for more film-makers.

Brilliant Craftsmanship

For seldom has a story that is, in essence, little more than sophisticated soap opera been so brilliantly mounted and captivatingly photographed. More calculated in its effects and considerably less spontaneous in its episodic development than in Fellini's "8½" and "La Dolce Vita," "Juliet of the Spirits" tops them both in spectacle and sheer visual splendor.

It is surely one of the most beautifully crafted motion pictures ever made.

Long-time students of Fellini lore will be reassured to discover that all of the auteur's familiar "hang-ups", as one viewer put it, are here once more— the Church, the circus, sex, the theater, repression and the banality of the mass media.

Once again, the minor roles are superbly cast; the framing is wonderfully tight and evocative; the cutting is quick and economical, and the sound track imaginatively and sensuously used.

Similarity Ends

But here the similarity with Fellini's, two more recent films ends. For "Juliet" is not only a thesis picture, with fashionably valid sociological underpinnings and a neat little plot spun out as if "reflected in so many mirrors," as Fellini once described it — but it is a picture with a concrete and comprehensible resolution.

Such a resolution Fellini was unwilling (and, as an artist, probably unable) to achieve in his previous two films, and it is intriguing to note that he has provided his wife, Giulietta Masina, who plays Juliet, with precisely that psychological release from childhood repressions and taboos that he was unable to bestow upon the autobiographical hero of "8½."

Visual Imagery

In any event, the basic situation of "Juliet" is developed logically and with great exercise of the visual imagination. Under her husband's direction Miss Masina successfully graduates from the proletariat of "La Strada" and "The Nights of Cabiria" to the Roman middle class, and impersonates with gamin-like charm, a housewife who achieves emotional liberation through the discovery that the loss of her husband, an event she has so long dreaded, merely signals the beginning of "her real life."

Fellini once called fellow director Ingmar Bergman "a conjuror — half witch, half showman"; the same might be said for the creator of "Juliet of the Spirits."

There is magic here, and technical wizardry, and more than a touch of the beguiling charlatan, as Fellini draws upon the resources of the color camera to flash out a skeleton that might not otherwise bear the weight of the fantastic imagery with which he has clothed it.

But overblown or not, overgorgeous or not, "Juliet of the Spirits" is the work of one of the cinema's few authentic originals. As such, it will undoubtedly find an important place in the body of his work, and will serve as a stimulus for further exploration of a medium whose true potential is only now being discovered.

'Cancer Crusade '67' On 2 Area Stations

Puppeteer Shari Lewis, Lambchop To Head Big Roster of Celebrities

BY JINGO

The American Cancer Society's kickoff film, "Crusade '67," will be shown on two Green Bay TV stations during April.

Jingo

Channel 11 will carry it at 10 p.m. this Saturday. The color film is a half hour in length. It also will be telecast at 9 p.m. Tuesday, April 18, on Channel 2.

Big Names Assisting

Mistress of ceremonies is Shari Lewis, who will be accompanied by her puppet, Lambchop. Appearing on the film are Jack Benny, Mel Blanc, Lorne Greene, Myron Cohen, Sammy Davis Jr., Joan Crawford and V. J. Skutt, 1967 Crusade chairman.

Lorne Greene, 1967 honorary education chairman, will speak briefly about the hopeful side of cancer. The cartoon Flintstones will point out the importance of an annual checkup.

Mrs. Joan Hoffmann, Appleton, publicity chairman of the Outagamie County unit of the Society, recommends that readers of Jingo view this film, "as they will not only find it very entertaining but informative on the hopeful side of cancer." Jingo hopes so.

Good old Charlie Brown, a fate-tempter to the end, is about to tackle his toughest dilemma yet — love.

The fourth in a series of highly-successful "Peanuts" TV specials is scheduled for Monday, June 12. Pre-empting "The Lucy Show" on that date, "You're in Love, Charlie Brown" will involve the wise and witty youngsters created by the pen of Charles Schulz.

Vacation 'Daze'

The story, which concerns the last day of school, spring, and how one man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of a certain little red-haired girl, was written by Schulz, creators of the characters whose daily antics amuse millions of newspaper readers in the U.S. — including Post-Crescent subscribers — and in 40 foreign publications.

The other three specials were "A Charlie Brown Christmas" (now an annual broadcast), "Charlie Brown's All-Stars" (set for April 10 rebroadcast) and "It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown."

Actor Robert Culp could be called a thinking man's spy. He not only co-stars with Bill Cosby in the popular "I Spy" television series, but he frequently writes the scripts. He says he's glad to see the decline of the James Bond type of spy, preferring a more human, mistake-making characterization to give a story more acceptability to the TV audience. (AP Wirephoto)

Is Danube Red, Blue Or Both?

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 channels 11-6-9 — There's a lot for scenery - watchers, a good bit for girl - watchers, and even a smattering of politics in The Beautiful Blue and Red Danube, a tour of the 2,000 - mile - long river from its Alpine source to its delta (magnificent scenery here) as it empties into the Black Sea. The river flows through eight countries, and the camera makes major stops in Vienna, Budapest and Belgrade.

6:30-7 — Channels 11-6-9 — Fortunately for Batman and Robin, the Caped Crusaders are armed for their war with Mr. Freeze (Eli Wallach) with a Batcopter, an Ice-Batarang, Ice-Batropes, Reverse Thermal Batlozenges and Super - Thermalized Batskivvies, not to mention a snack for a seal named Isolde who is the heroine of this fairly repetitious episode.

6:30-7:30 Channels 4-5 — Once again a good man turned rotten is won back to goodness by the courage of Daniel Boone. This time he is Simon Oakland, playing a former general turned traitor who is so greedy for land, lots of land, that he sets up a war between Kentucky and Virginia to the Spanish can move in and grab everything.

6:30-7:30 Channels 2-7-12 — Rodeo, which is always popular with TV fans, makes its first Coliseum appearance. Roy Rogers and Dale Evans are the appropos hosts for this show.

7-7:30 Channels 11-6-9 — F Troop has a nutty episode that will delight regulars. Seems Wild Eagle is suffering from a toothache just as the Army dentist is on his semi - annual "see the troops twice a year" visit. So they smuggle Wild Eagle into uniform and in the Fort.

7:30-8:30 Channels 4-5 — The crew of the Enterprise is puzzled by strange happenings on Star Trek but their puzzlement will be nothing compared to viewers in this strange, confused episode. It's something about a "hole" in the universe, matter and anti-matter, a mysterious humanoid and a man who can apparently heal himself like a lizard.

8-10 Channels 2-7-12 — "Underworld U.S.A." on The Thursday Night Movies is not the most memorable of Cliff Robertson's movies. Made in 1961, it tells of a criminal's quest for the four gangsters who killed his father. Dolores Dorn, Beatrice Kay and Larry Gates are in the supporting cast.

9-10 Channels 4-5 — Herman's Hermits, doing a medley of their hits, then joining the star of The Dean Martin Show for some "old folk songs" are a delight in a well-paced show. Other guests: Abbe Lane in a Paris medley, Gene Barry singing "Sherry," Eddie Fisher "I Will Wait for You," and a finale in which everyone pays tribute to one of America's national pastimes: baseball.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

False. This is one old saw that is not at all true. A Harvard study of several thousand altruistic "good" persons found that they lived years longer than the population as a whole. The researcher concludes, "The kind and friendly person tends to live longer than hate-possessed individual. Love is one of the most important factors of longevity and good health." When an outstandingly good person does die young, we mourn him, and perhaps try to understand our loss by saying "the good die young."

Can a woman be too good a housekeeper?

Yes— No—

Yes, she surely can. The perfect housekeeper who has to have everything immaculate all the time makes her husband and children miserable with her demands for perpetual neatness. Friends and visitors in her home are apt to feel uncomfortable with her fussing about them emptying ashtrays and plumping up the pillows. She puts so much emphasis on keeping the house nice that she has little time to give the people who live there. It is better to be a good homemaker than a perfect housekeeper.

Should children help at home? How much allowance should youngsters receive? How are your children's manners? Should teenagers be allowed access to the family car? These are a few of the questions answered by experts in the booklet, "What Should Parents Expect From Children?". A copy's yours for 25 cents and your name and address (including ZIP Code) sent to "Let's Explore Your Mind," in care of The Post-Crescent.

Unused Carpet Strips Can Make Useful Flower Holders

BY CAPPY DICK

A narrow strip of carpet may seem to have little use, but actually a boy or girl can turn it into a unusual holder for the display of artificial flowers. Figure 2 shows the result.

Flower Holder

The strip must be rolled up rather loosely with the nap side exposed. The roll is to be fastened with several small strips of mending tape as in Figure 1.

Place it on your desk and stick the stems of the artificial flowers between the layers of carpet as the boy has done in Figure 2.

If the strip has been rolled too loosely it may allow the stems to slip so the flowers will not remain upright. In this case, remove the pieces of tape and roll the strip again, this time more tightly so the stems will be held more snugly in the turns.

If you wish, you can make a decorated paper wrapping for the roll, using a strip of paper and drawing a design on it with your paints or crayons and taping it around the roll. A new wrapping can be made from time to time to give the flower holder a fresh appearance.

Split Muscle Becomes Progressively Worse

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like to read about split muscles, which is my problem. It is in my right shoulder. I do not know when it happened or how, but it has become progressively more uncomfortable. The lump is about the size of a goose egg.

One man who had an operation for a similar condition said he would never go through it again because it didn't help him. — D.T.G.

A "split" muscle is one which has ruptured. A sudden strain is the usual cause. The fibers actually separate and the ends of the fragments form into lumps. If not repaired, these lumps remain and discomfort persists.

Ordinarily one is very much aware of the injury when it occurs, but you may have dismissed it as a cramp or the like at the time, and were not aware of it again until the lump developed.

Of the man who told you of his operation, I can say only that there is always someone who has had an unsuccessful result or is dissatified with almost any type of operation. Others have had very good results, and it was your "luck" to encounter one who did not.

I would suggest that you see an orthopedist to determine whether repair is still feasible. It would be worth a try.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for a boy 23 to have prostate gland trouble? All the doctors in our town say this is his trouble. He has had treatments but his back still aches, especially after sitting in class at college all day. Is there any cure? — Mrs. F.G.

Yes, it is possible for younger men to have this trouble, almost always in the form of acute infection, which you will find specified in my booklet, "The Pesky Prostate." (Send 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner, in care of the Post-Crescent, for a copy).

These prostate infections can be stubborn but there is no reason to doubt that they can be cured. His backache may or may not be related to the prostate condition.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a relative who takes two aspirins every night before she goes to bed whether she has a headache or not. Can't this be injurious to her health? — M.S.

Not likely to harm her — but why take them for no purpose?

Dear Dr. Molner: When is the best time to take aspirin? I was told not to take it on an empty stomach. I thought the stomach was empty only before breakfast. — Mrs. E.A.

Depending on what you have eaten, the stomach can be empty in a couple of hours.

Best time to take aspirin is when you need it. If the stomach is empty, take it with a few swallows of milk. Reason is that some sensitive stomachs can be irritated by aspirin, and if food is in the stomach, it prevents the aspirin from concentrating in one spot.

Note to H.R.H.: While lung cancer often has spread from cancer elsewhere, it also can start in the lung, so the information you were given is not correct.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Vocational Director Named to Committee On Manpower Policies

MADISON (AP)— The director of Wisconsin's State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education was named to a national committee on manpower policies and programs.

C. L. Greiber's appointment was announced Tuesday by Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner.

The committee to study possible waste, duplication or inefficiency in training programs supported by federal funds was established by Congress.

New York to Hold 12 Lotteries Annually

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says New York State will conduct 12 lotteries annually, 8 more than originally planned, with government returns estimated at $189 million.

The expanded lottery plan was announced Tuesday night, after the Republican governor met with the state legislature's top leaders and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City at the executive mansion.

Advertisement for Bids
Grading, Graveling and Bituminous Surfacing of Streets
Village of Black Creek
Black Creek, Wisconsin

Notice is hereby given by the Village Board, Village of Black Creek, Wisconsin, that it will receive sealed bids for the grading, graveling and bituminous surfacing of streets until 7:30 P.M., C.S.D.S.T., on April 10, 1967, at the Village Hall, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Bids are requested for the following work:

Contract I
2595 cubic yards unclassified excavation
3892 tons of gravel or crushed stone base course
1070 cubic yards granular subbase

Contract II
602 tons single aggregate bituminous surfacing course
36 tons bituminous materials for surface course

Plans and specifications and other contract documents are on file and may be obtained at the office of Phillips Engineering Company, 109 North Elm Street, Kimberly, Wisconsin. A deposit of $10.00 will be required for each set of plans and specifications obtained. Appleton Joint Meeting

Labor Official Urges Democrats To Avoid Party-Splitting Primaries

Wisconsin Democrats were urged Wednesday to avoid party-splitting primary election fights such as the one last year for the gubernatorial nomination.

John Giacomo, executive vice president of the Wisconsin AFL-CIO and president of COPE, the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education, said the Wisconsin Democratic Party should use the convention endorsement system practiced by the Wisconsin Republican Party.

Giacomo, Milwaukee, was the speaker at a joint meeting of the Appleton Building Trades Council and the Outagamie County Democratic Party, in the Appleton Labor Temple.

Hold Fights

The labor official said it's better to "hold your fights early at the convention and then to patch up your wounds later," rather than to hold a September primary and try to "patch things up" in the last six weeks.

"We can't go through another primary like the last one," Giacomo said, while pointing out that most state labor leaders share his views on the subject of endorsing candidates at the state party conventions.

Giacomo also scolded Democrats for allowing state party chairman, J. Louis Hanson, to be a candidate for the state senate during last fall's election at the same time he was supposed to be directing statewide party activities. Giacomo said he has made his views on that subject known to Hanson.

Labor Switches

Going into the subject of traditional labor support for the Democrats, the labor official said union organizations set up their own platforms and then seek out the political party whose platform is closest to labor's.

"It usually happens," Giacomo said, "that the Democratic Party views are the most like labor's."

He also chided state Democrats for failure to criticize weak opponents' bad records during election campaigns and added that the state AFL-CIO is "firmly on record" that it will support the Johnson-Humphrey ticket in 1968.

During a brief business session, the Outagamie Democrats passed a resolution in support of Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., Dist. Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Watertown, and 5th Dist. Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Milwaukee, who recently voted against the supplemental appropriation to finance the Vietnam war.

The resolution, offered by former county chairman Lester Balliet, passed by a voice vote with some strong dissent.

About 50 persons, equally divided between the labor group and the Democratic unit, attended the meeting.

Stolen Cars Are Abandoned In Bad Shape

Find Kimberly Autos Burned, Wrecked On DeBruin Road

Two cars stolen Wednesday night from Kimberly were found, both wrecked and one burned, early this morning on DeBruin Road, south of Outagamie County Trunk K.

County police are continuing investigation into the incident. As of late this morning, police were uncertain as to how the cars were damaged. They were found about 12:20 a.m.

The 1951 Chevrolet, which is burned almost completely, is owned by Cyril Fries, 316 E. Second St., Kimberly. Fries had reported the car missing about 11:26 p.m. The car was found partially on the roadway.

The other auto, a 1960 Ford Falcon, owned by Leo J. Vanden Heuvel, 321 E. Third St., Kimberly, was found in a ditch off the road, near the Fries car. The car was taken from Vanden Heuvel's driveway earlier in the evening. The rear end of the car was damaged and the side was scorched.

The Town of Buchanan Fire Department was at the scene about an hour.

Post Corp., Names Head Of Promotions

Appointment of Thomas A. Hutchison, West Allis, as Director of Promotion and Public Relations of Post Corporation, Appleton - based publishing and broadcasting firm, was announced today.

Hutchison is being transferred from his post as general manager of the West Allis Star, a weekly newspaper published by Post Corporation. Walter C. Ellmann, advertising manager of the Star, has been named to succeed him as general manager.

In his new post Hutchison will work with the managers of Post Corporation properties in Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa and Missouri developing promotion and public relations programs.

Hutchison has been in the newspaper business since 1953 when he became a reporter for the Oconto County Reporter. In 1956 he became co-owner of the Manawa Advocate. After selling that paper in 1960 he worked for a year as news editor of the Waupaca County Post, then served three years as state editor of the Green Bay Press-Gazette. He went to the West Allis Star as editor in 1964, and was named general manager in 1965.

Ellmann came to the Star in 1966 after 20 years in sales work for the Oconto County Reporter, Red Owl Stores, Oconto Brewing Company and Bond and Pickle Company. He served in sales management positions with the latter two firms.

Also announced was the promotion of David E. Hutchison to editor of the Star. He has been news editor. He joined the Star after graduating from St. Norbert College in 1965.

Ticket Chairmen Picked For Carley Testimonial

James Dana and Mrs. Robert Taylor, both of Appleton, have been appointed Outagamie County ticket chairmen for the David Carley testimonial dinner to be held in Madison on April 8.

The dinner for the state party's national committeeman will be at Holiday Inn No. 2, 6301 E. Broadway. Carley was defeated last fall by former Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey in the Democratic primary election for the governor's race.

Intruders Take $55, Household Items at Neenah

OSHKOSH — About $55 in cash and a few household items were taken from the home of James Clark, 1310 S. Park Ave., Neenah, in a break-in Tuesday, Winnebago County police learned Wednesday.

The Clarks, who returned from a vacation in northern Michigan after hearing about the break-in found cash missing from banks and from a box in a dresser. A transistor radio valued at $30 also was missing and four bottles of whisky were taken. The Clarks also found holes burned in the rugs in several rooms. The intruders apparently used matches to light their way and burned the rugs when they discarded the matches.

The break-in was discovered Tuesday by a neighbor, Mrs. Fred Jensen, 672 Chestnut St., who was looking after the home for the Clarks. The intruder gained entry through an upstairs window. A ladder was found in the backyard.

Larsen Boy Struck By Car After He Leaves School Bus

OSHKOSH — Tracy Olson, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olson, route 1, Larsen, was knocked down by an auto Wednesday as he crossed the road in front of his school bus.

Olson told Winnebago County police that a car came around the school bus, struck the boy and kept on going. The boy was not hurt.

The mother watched the incident from a window in the house. County police traced the driver of the car, but the Olsons did not press charges.

Citizens Advisory Group Backs Quest For Appleton Grant

Urges Federal Approval of Aid For Plant, Winnebago Pipeline

The Citizens Advisory Committee for Community Improvement voted Wednesday to urge federal government officials to approve a grant for Appleton's new water facilities.

The grant under consideration by Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) officials in Chicago, would provide $1.5 million to aid in construction of a new water treatment plant and pipeline to Lake Winnebago.

The move to support Appleton's request for funds was made by B. Beck Fisher, of the Outagamie County Banker's Association, after discussion of Appleton's water plans by Frank Keuler, director of public works and David Geenen, city attorney.

Richard Van Sistine, chairman of the citizen's committee, expressed his pleasure at the group's action. "Appleton needs water," he said. "It is an appropriate move to inform federal officials of the wide base of support in the community."

The advisory committee heard a review of the Harland Bartholomew comprehensive plan for Appleton by city planner Walter Rasmussen. It also discussed the purposes and methods of an advisory committee.

The organizational section of the meeting was devoted to subcommittee assignments and the appointment of chairmen for the subcommittees.

Housing committee: Rabbi Gilbert Silverstein, chairman, representing the Appleton Area Clergy Association;

Community planning: Jerry Long, Jaycees;

Capital improvements: Harry Kositzke, Appleton Taxpayer's Association.

Community expansion: Raymond Lake, Northside Advancement Association.

Undersheriff's Pay Plan Set For Discussion

Experience Warrants More Compensation Is Sheriff's Claim

Outagamie County Undersheriff Calvin L. Spice's salary will be the topic of a joint meeting April 5, of the county board's personnel and law enforcement committees.

The meeting was set this morning at a law enforcement unit meeting, at the suggestion of Sylvester Esler, county board chairman.

Spice, who has served as traffic patrolman, then sheriff for four terms, and now is undersheriff for Norbert J. Marx, is at the bottom of pay grade 19, in spite of his years of county service. By action of the county board's executive committee early this year, he is receiving $577 per month. Pay grade 19 has a top of $732 per month.

Request Denied

The executive committee turned down a request by Marx to raise Spice's salary, and since then, the salary matter has bounced from committee to committee with no action resulting. Several members of the law enforcement unit have urged that Spice's pay be raised.

The law enforcement committee will meet just prior to the joint session to determine a specific recommendation on the salary problem.

Institute Approved

In other business this morning, the law enforcement committee approved sending Sheriff Marx, his jailers and the Huber Law officer to Green Bay April 21 for a one day jailer's institute to be sponsored by the Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare, division of corrections, and the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association.

The committee also will recommend to the executive committee that Marx and his two lieutenants attend a two-day police administration school in Milwaukee May 25 and 26. The session is sponsored by the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association, the Wisconsin Chiefs of Police Association and the FBI.

County Zone Units to Air Water Law

Zoning committees from 11 Fox Valley area counties have been asked to attend a meeting in Appleton Tuesday to discuss shoreland zoning requirements of the new state water law.

The meeting, which will be held in the auditorium of Home Mutual Insurance Co., 1103 W. Foster St., was arranged by Oscar G. Woelfel, University of Wisconsin Extension district leader, and Douglas A. Yanggen of the UW's Department of Agriculture Economics.

According to Outagamie County Agriculture Agent Russell Luckow, who sent out the invitations, the meeting will be a followup to a "tele-lecture" on the same subject which was held on March 20.

County zoning committees invited are from Brown, Calumet, Door, Fond du Lac, Kewaunee, Manitowoc, Outagamie, Sheboygan, Waupaca, Waushara and Winnebago.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude about 3 p.m.

$30 Reported Missing From YMCA Lockers

About $30 was reported missing from lockers at the Appleton YMCA Wednesday night.

Appleton police also were told that someone stole a master key for the lockers. Several youths have been questioned in connection with the thefts. Police learned that about 25 lockers were entered.

Kiwanis to Hear of State Education Aids

KIMBERLY — Ray Hamann, superintendent of schools, will speak on "State School Aids" at a Kiwanis dinner at 6:15 p.m. today at the Darboy Club.

Hamann will explain how aids are computed, the effect on local taxes and their importance to a school district. A question and answer period will follow.

St. Bernard Parish Plans Church, School Facilities

Select Architect, Building Plans By May or June; Build in 1968

Specific plans for the construction of a church, religious school, and social and assembly facilities have been made for St. Bernard Catholic parish.

At a recent meeting of the eight - member building committee, a timetable, which includes the selection of an architect by May or June and preparation of building plans was approved. Bidding on the project is set for winter and construction will begin in the spring of 1968.

The committee also decided in favor of a modern architectural style for the building. Present plans call for the construction on a 10-acre plot located between projected extensions of Cherokee and Charles Streets, east of the proposed extension of Lynndale Avenue. However, at least one other site is under study at the present time, according to the Rev. Orville Janssen, pastor.

The newest Catholic congregation was established in September, 1966 and has been using Xavier High facilities. New boundaries for the parish recently were announced by the Most Rev. Stanislaus Bona, bishop of the Green Bay Diocese.

Boundary Lines

The southern boundaries are the Fox River and the middle of Winnebago County Trunk U. The western boundary is U. S. 45.

Initial boundaries, which separate the new parish from St. Mary and St. Joseph, were set at Outagamie Street as the eastern boundary; the middle of Spencer Street as the northern boundary.

Building committee members include Robert Driessen, Dean Smith, Paul Vanderneiden, Lloyd Eisner, John McVey, Milton Efuerst, Edward Bollenbeck, John Lindberg and Father Janssen.

Named to the education committee were Maurice Cunningham, Joseph Ott, Edward Byrne, Mrs. Robert Kools, Mrs. Ralph Whitehead, Mrs. Gus Zuehlke and Mrs. Harry Kimball.

Franciscan Nuns

They will assist the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity, Manitowoc, assigned to conduct the parish religion school. Mother M. Agna is expected to name a sister superior in the next few weeks after which plans will be made to have the school functioning in the fall, according to the pastor.

Other parish officers include a three - member board of consultors to assist the pastor and the parish secretary and treasurer. These include Robert Bachman, Cyril Lippert and John Kamps. Patrick Coughlin is secretary and Elmer Deprez, treasurer.

A 20-man steering committee, selected by nominations from the floor at the first parish meeting in October, has guided activities so far.

K. F. Berner

Ken Berner Heads Elks

New Exalted Ruler Of Appleton Lodge Succeeds Schumacher

Ken F. Berner has been elected exalted ruler of Appleton Elks Lodge No. 337 at a meeting at the Elks Lodge.

Berner succeeds Roy J. Schumacher to the organization's office. The new exalted ruler will attend the grand lodge convention in Chicago during July. Schumacher will be the Appleton group's alternate delegate.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Jake Van Leur, leading knight; Edward R. Pierre, loyal knight, and Francis F. Zimmer, lecturing knight.

Re-elected to Elks posts were Peter De Lain, secretary; Robert Zschaechner, treasurer, and Elmer Turkow, tiler. Gilbert Beglinger was appointed organist, a post he held previously.

Berner also announced the appointment of Richard Peeples as esquire. Appointment of chaplain and inner guard posts will be made later, Berner said.

Wendall Smith, a past exalted ruler, was elected to a five-year term as trustee succeeding Russell Peotter. Other trustees are Ray C. Max, Robert Gmeiner, Robert Lindsey and Robert Liethen.

New officers will be installed April 8.

Hi-Y, Tri-Y Convene In State Conference

Appleton Group Co-Sponsors Day Of Discussion, Tours, Dancing

"A Look at Reality," will be the theme of the annual Hi-Y, Tri-Y state conference, scheduled Saturday at the Appleton Family YMCA.

The program will include a panel discussion, lectures, tours, visits and a social dance. About 200 youths are expected.

The day will begin at 9:15 a.m. with introductions and a welcome. At 10:15 a.m. the Rev. Ellis Waggoner, associate pastor, Trinity Lutheran Church, will discuss "Involvement," after which the youth will adjourn to small discussion groups with adult leaders.

At 11:45 a.m. Robert Green, Milwaukee, a member of the public relations department for the north central area of the YMCA, will talk on "Changes With Time." A noon luncheon at Lawrence University will precede a lecture on colleges and universities by Dr. Curtis Tarr, Lawrence president.

At 2 p.m. the group will return to the YMCA for a panel discussion on "Sex, Drugs and Moral Standards." Panelists include Dr. C. E. Fenlon, who will act as a moderator and speak from the medical standpoint; Miss Mary Lee Huber and Chip Taggart, Lawrence students; Sgt. David Young, Appleton police juvenile department, and Miss Carol Trautwein, assistant dean of women at Lawrence.

From 4:30 to 6 p.m. the young people will have a choice of activities. They may either tour Lawrence, visit the Cavern coffeehouse, swim at the YMCA or dance in the Den.

An evening dance featuring a Stevens Point combo, will end the day's activities at 11:15 p.m.

The event is co-sponsored by the West Allis and Appleton YMCA.

Mrs. Maxine Vanevenhoven, girl's and women's director, and Wendell Smith, youth director, are in charge of the program.

Car Leaves Road; Seymour Man, Boy From West DePere Hurt

Two persons, including a 10-year-old boy, were injured about 12:30 p.m. Wednesday when their car left Outagamie County Trunk H near Chicago Corners and ran into a ditch.

Melvin J. Dorn, 21, route 1, Seymour, driver of the car, suffered face cuts and was taken to St. Vincent Hospital in Green Bay by ambulance. His passenger, Dennis Fuss, 10, route 2, West DePere, suffered bumps and bruises.

Outagamie County police said Dorn lost control of his car as he was south bound on H. The car crossed over a driveway, flew into the air and came to rest across another driveway.

Annual Concert Scheduled at Fox Valley High

Three Fox Valley Lutheran High School bands and a saxophone quartet will participate in the annual concert at 8 p.m. Friday at the school.

The Pep Band will lead off the program, followed by the senior and the junior bands. A saxophone quartet, composed of Linda Greve, Paul Zuberbier, Jeff Volkman and Gary Krueger and the massed bands will culminate the program.

Woman Files Claim Against Appleton

An Appleton woman has filed a claim against the city for $25,000 damages arising from injuries she received in a fall on Arthur Street Oct. 8, 1965.

Mrs. Margaret Edlebeck, 1531 E. Frances St., contends through her attorney, that the city was at fault for her injuries due to alleged defects in the street.

A previous notice of claim sent the city by Mrs. Edlebeck and her husband, Harold, was received and filed on Dec. 30, 1965.

Assembly Labor Commission's Appleton Session

Anti-Strike Proposals Studied at Hearing

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Municipal employer and labor groups drew partisan lines, as might be expected, but produced nothing in the way of fireworks at a public hearing conducted here Wednesday by the Assembly Labor Committee.

"What's the answer for strikes by public employes?" was the question being explored by the committee, headed by Assemblyman Nile W. Soik (R-Whitefish Bay).

Admittedly, committee members got few answers but did hear pros and cons of anti-strike proposals aired by only 10 persons.

Responsible Deliberation

"From what it has heard, I believe the committee recognizes there is a need for more responsible, mature deliberation from both sides of the table during bargaining," Soik said after the hearing.

"With this kind of an attitude on the part of the parties, we should have no strikes," Soik asserted.

Soik also indicated the committee generally felt when municipal and union negotiators are at an impasse, outside help should be called in, but at the same time the third party route should not be abused.

"The public needs to be recognized and should not be harmed," Soik declared, adding he was expressing personal opinion.

Tighten Factfinding

"I think there is a need to tighten up mediation and factfinding," Soik said.

Asked to elaborate, Soik suggested the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) should enter disputes on its own volition when neither party in a dispute wants to go to factfinding.

The veteran legislator felt, however, that if municipal and union negotiators find themselves at a stand-off, it might be well to consider calling in local persons — acceptable to both sides — to mediate problems arising during negotiations.

However, Soik emphasized the WERB's authority should not be pre-empted in any way. He also cautioned against infringing on home rule.

Protect Public

The gist of the hearing, which was attended by governmental and union officials from several surrounding counties, was that something should be done to protect the general public from strikes by municipal employes.

Many attending were content just to listen to the small group that did express opinions on what to do about striking municipal employes.

J. W. Rusch, Appleton city personnel director, said city services are too vital to the public to allow city employes to strike.

Rusch said in the case of municipalities, they are unlike industry and rather than economics — the city is dealing with public services.

Political Role

"In the municipal bargaining picture politics play a great role," Rusch said. "Municipal negotiators find they do not have some of the advantages of private industry."

Rusch suggested the penalty for an illegal strike be decertification of the union.

He felt there was also merit in compulsory arbitration.

"We had a strike but there was nothing we could do about it," Rusch said, referring to the recent one-day work stoppage of public works employes here.

Rusch claimed there is too much fragmentation of departments by unions.

Bargaining Agents

In Appleton, one union might be bargaining agent for employe units in several departments. In addition, there are other employe bargaining groups, Rusch cited.

"We find ourselves caught in the middle of one union trying to get more than the other," Rusch told the committee.

Rusch said municipalities needed some sort of help now but also felt that possibly in the future it would be all right to allow strikes.

Soik and other committee members agreed that fragmen-

Harrington Supports UW Tuition Increases

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A tuition increase for out-of-state students is acceptable to the University of Wisconsin, President Fred Harvey Harrington said Wednesday.

But such a fee hike must be "moderate" and should be proportional to a change in tuition of in-state students designed to restore a traditional 20 per cent of instructional cost levy on Wisconsin residents, he told the Assembly judiciary committee.

The committee, chaired by Assemblyman G. K. Anderson, R-Waupaca, is considering a bill which he co-authored with Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton and five other lawmakers which would allow the board of regents of the UW to raise non-resident tuition charges to $1,500 from the present levels which reach $1,100 a year.

No Opposition

The UW does not oppose a fee increase, Harrington said in answer to a question from Democratic Assemblyman Sam Held, Milwaukee, if it meets these qualifications.

Long - establisher educational policy at the UW requires in-state students to pay fees equal to 20 per cent of their instructional costs, Harrington poined out. The payments of in-state under-graduates have fallen below that level, he said. In the past he has told his board of regents that an in-state fee hike to that level would be acceptable on the basis of that policy.

An in-state fee increase could be matched by a proportional out-of-state cost rise, Harrington said.

"But I am asking that you raise it as little as you can," he added.

Final action on the bill was postponed to a future meeting due to confusion over the exact size of the proposed fee increase.

CCHE Analysis

A fiscal analysis prepared by the state Coordinating Committee for Higher Education estimated that the state would earn about $5 3 million in additional tuition receipts in the coming biennium under the terms of the bill. A similar estimate by the state Department of Administration put earnings at $12,964,000.

The confusion arose from unclear wording of the bill which proposes the increase. One interpretation, intended by at least some of the authors, puts a flat charge of $1.500 on out-of-state tuition.

A second interpretation leads to a sliding scale of fees, which climbs from $1,825 for a non-resident undergraduate to $2,222 for an out-of-state graduate student and to $5,312 for a non-resident medical school student.

Traffic Increases To Record Level On St. Lawrence

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP) —Traffic in both the Welland and Montreal-Lake Ontario sections of the St. Lawrence Seaway rose to a record level in 1966.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, disclosing commodity statistics for the year, said Wednesday the increase in traffic was attributable to bulk cargoes which rose by almost 6 million tons in both sections.

A total of 59 4 million tons of cargo passed through the Welland Canal section, an increase of 11 per cent over 1965. Between Montreal and Lake Ontario 49.2 million tons were handled, a rise of 13.5 per cent.

Backing From Farm Bureau

Strong Support for Bill Requiring State Purchase of Campus Sites

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A bill requiring the state to purchase land for two new campuses of the University of Wisconsin in Brown and Kenosha counties drew strong support Wednesday at a meeting of the Assembly education committee.

Authored by Assemblymen Russell Olson, R-Kenosha, and William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, the bill would require the state to purchase the sites for the UW Green Bay and Parkside campuses scheduled to open in 1969.

Cost of the Parkside campus lands alone, according to estimates of proponents of the bill, will be between $2 million and $3 million.

Kenosha Support

Most of the support for the bill came from residents of Kenosha County, where a protracted fight over the location of the campus has been carried on through different means than have been used concerning the Green Bay campus location.

Supporting the bill were Olson and Rogers, and three Kenosha County residents who claimed that the home county donate the site selected for the new schools creates a financial burden on Kenosha County and problem - ridden American Motors.

All residents of the state should help pay for them.

The bill also drew support from William KasaKaitas, secretary of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation, who said that his organization supported the measure because of its long-standing belief in equality of taxation.

His appearance was challenged by Assemblyman Raymond Heinzen, R-Marshfield, a Barm Bureau member, who questioned the group's interest in the legislation.

Farm Bureau Members

Several Kenosha County Farm Bureau members were in the audience as KasaKaitas, a former county resident, made his appearance.

KasaKaitas was questioned closely by committee members regarding the concept of state-borne costs for land for the new schools in relation to existing policies for university centers and plans for the state technical school system.

Both types of schools are now or will be locally-financed in regard to campus lands.

Democratic Assemblyman Herbert Grover of Shawano told KasaKaitas that in northeastern Wisconsin Outagamie and Brown counties were anxious to be selected as the campus site. "They were hot to get their sites picked," he said. "Now that Brown County has the site, some don't want to pay for it.

"It would seem to me that we are taking away a little local prerogative here. You sought the school and you got it," he told the Kenosha County witnesses. "Now the hand of cooperation should be extended" by local leaders, he said.

Committee chairman D. Russell Wartinbee, R-La Crosse, questioned witnesses as to whether they would be willing "to wipe the slate clean" and start the site selection process over, and whether they were willing to delay the start of construction "several years until we have the tax revenues to buy the sites."

Mixed Reactions

His comments received mixed reactions from the local residents and lawmakers. When asked if he would be willing to relinquish the site and move the school to another section of the state, Olson would not comment.

Mrs. Alberta Ours, Kenosha, said that the school was being planned faster than originally approved. "There seems to be a group that is pushing to get this thing built by 1969 by hook or by crook," she said.

Rogers described himself as an impartial observer of the site processes, as he represents a district outside of the county in which the Northeast Wisconsin campus will be built. He co-authored a bill to change the Green Bay campus location to one more favorable to southern Fox Valley residents.

"I'm not from Brown County and this place the site selection committee determined the new campus should be built," he said.

He backed the idea that all state residents should help pay for the sites as all will benefit from the schools

"The boundaries of this campus are the boundaries of the state," he said, repeating a famous UW motto.

Alaska Landmark Destroyed by Fire

A little theater, bunkhouse and an old boiler house, starting points of a gold mine tour for visitors, were described as a total loss.

Four Buildings in Appleton Being Razed by Demolition Work Crews

Demolition crews were at work today in various parts of Appleton as four buildings, including a community landmark, got the razing treatment.

Huge cranes set up shop on Washington Street Wednesday, in preparation for an all-out attack on the old No. 1 fire station.

The two-story red brick building was purchased from the city last year by the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

Firm officials say the building site — at the northwest corner of Franklin, Washington and Oneida streets — will be cleared and used for a parking area.

Keep Decor

The lot also will be landscaped in keeping with the decor of the other power company property and parking area

Eventually, according to the firm's long-range plans, an addition to its existing building will be erected on the site.

There were also these developments:

—The condemned residence at 549 N. Division St., owned by Roy Schmidt, is being razed after four years deliberation between the owner and the city, with complaints from residents in the area mixed in.

—The city-owned residence at 205 W. Prospect Ave., purchased from the power company for the proposed Oneida Street bridge right-of-way, is being torn down.

—Also being leveled is the residence formerly housing the superintendent of the Appleton City Home on W. Spencer Street. It is next to the home.

Waupaca Boy Admits Taking Cash, Radios In TV Store Break-In

WAUPACA — A 12-year-old Waupaca boy has admitted to police he entered the Waupaca TV Sales and Service Store, 111 W. Fulton St., Saturday night and took three radios and $7 from a cash drawer.

The youth gained entry to the building by breaking a small window to unlock a side door. All of the stolen property has been recovered, police said.

Released to the custody of his parents, the youth will be referred to juvenile authorities police said.

Nothing but Rubble Remains of the condemned residence at 549 N. Division St. after a huge crane went to work on the building earlier in the week. Neighbors objected for years that it was an eyesore. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Trade Slows in Aimless Market

Gainers Outnumber Losers, but Averages Nudged Downward

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed little trend early this afternoon. Trading slackened.

Gainers outnumbered losers but the popular averages declined due to weakness in some of their component blue chips.

Analysts saw the list as going through another corrective session in which recent gains were being consolidated.

In the absence of any fresh impetus from the news, market technicians cited the expectation of lower first-quarter earnings in comparison with a year ago. The market will also have to contend in the first two weeks of April with selling of stocks to raise cash for paying taxes, it was said.

Lower Trend

A lower trend prevailed among tobaccos, airlines, electronics, aerospace issues and autos.

Steels, rubbers, farm machinery and oils were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 6 at 322.8 with industrials off 1.8, rails up .3 and utilities unchanged.

Public Works' Proposal

Combined Effort Urged In Buying School Sites

A recommendation that the board of education and Appleton Council's land acquisition committee negotiate jointly for purchase of future school sites was made Tuesday by the board of public works.

It will come before the council next Wednesday night for final action.

Several aldermen in recent months, along with Mayor George Buckley, have suggested the board and acquisition committee deal with people wanting to sell property for school purposes.

While the board of education usually picks out the site and has been handling negotiations and options, the council furnishes the funds and the property is in the city's name.

Board of public works members felt a joint effort would be more advantageous to the city and school board, both from economic and future city planning aspects

In other action, the board referred several matters to the land acquisition committee.

It also approved

—Special assessments of $3.50 a foot for sanitary sewer and $2.45 a foot for grading and graveling roads for the 1967 construction season.

—Plans of the Fox Cities Baseball Club to erect a $27,000 to $35,000 addition to Goodland Field, replacing outmoded clubhouse facilities.

Woman Injured In 2-Car Mishap At New London

NEW LONDON — Mrs. Floyd R. Kaminski, route 1, received a cut to her right leg as the result of a two-car collision at 5:12 p.m. Wednesday at Wyman and Millard streets.

City police said the car driven by Mrs. Kaminski's husband was headed south on Wyman Street and collided with a car driven by Dennis J. Besaw, 21, 1005 W. Millard St., which was traveling west on Millard.

Damage to the vehicles was estimated at more than $100.

Dinner for Chairmen

YWCA Membership Drive to Get Underway

NEENAH - MENASHA — The YWCA membership drive for 3,000 new members will move into high gear at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday, at a dinner for division chairmen and team captains at the Valley Inn.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Gavin Young and Frederick Merrill, will instruct more than 100 campaign workers in details of the membership campaign which opens May 2 and will continue through May. Nineteen teams make up the membership drive.

Following the dinner, the campaign workers will tour the new $1.5 million YWCA Community Center to view the progress of construction and the various program areas of the tri-level structure.

A short slide presentation of the building highlights will be viewed at the dinner and Mrs. C. F. Pervier, executive director, will outline the rate structure and special features of the new facility. She will join with Frank Shattuck, designer of the building, to guide the tours through the building.

Solicitation for family and individual memberships through May will offer a special discount rate for charter family memberships. During the drive, families may join the YWCA for a yearly membership of $75. This rate will be increased to $90 after the opening of the building, according to Mrs. Pervier.

Townsmen Jam Talks on Annexation

MADISON — Townsmen jammed the senate hearing room Wednesday to fight for their lives.

They came in buses and cars from all points of the state to block what they feel is the latest "assassination attempt" on the urbanized towns by the cities.

Senate Bill 210 calls for "unilateral" annexation, meaning cities could annex territory from unincorporated areas by council resolution.

Ed Johnson, executive secretary of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, which has pushed the bill, was highly optimistic of its chances for passage following the marathon three-hour hearing which drew about 150 town officials and residents, including about 40 from the Town of Menasha and another large contingent from the Town of Grand Chute.

However, it could be a long road before cities have a new annexation tool. The bill has to get out of the committe on governmental and veterans' affairs and Sen. William Draheim (R-Neenah), committee chairman, admitted the possibility of putting the bill into "deep freeze," the fate of a similar annexation bill introduced two years ago.

Neenah Pool Site Only Point of Disagreement

NEENAH — Both the proponents and opponents agreed the city needs another swimming pool at Wednesday night's League of Women Voters candidates' forum.

But location and costs divided the two sides during an airing of issues of the $650,000 indoor-outdoor swimming pool complex proposed for Washington Park.

Amherst Junction Man Fined $75 for Speeding

WAUPACA — Albert M. Pavelski, 49, route 1, Amherst Junction, was fined $75 and costs Wednesday when he appeared in Municipal Justice Court and was found guilty of speeding 85 miles an hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone. Pavelski entered a plea of no contest.

In addition to fining Pavelski, Justice George Whalen suspended his driver's license for 15 days. The sentence was stayed until April 3.

Squad Car Backs Into $100 Crash At New London

NEW LONDON — More than $100 damage resulted from a two-car accident about 1:05 a.m. Wednesday involving the city police squad car.

Police said a car driven by patrolman David T. Blissett, 38, 1004 Werner-Allen Road, was traveling east on W. Cook Street, stopped and then backed up as the patrolman looked across the street to check a window. The police car backed into a parked car owned by Gerhard A. Ladwig, 211 W. Warren St., the investigating policeman said.

Teacher Talks Again Stymied

MENASHA — The last hope for a salary offering to accompany Menasha teacher contracts for 1967-68 was snuffed out at 1:30 a.m. today. Separate statements today by the bargaining groups indicated no immediate agreement.

Representatives from the Menasha Teachers Union, Local 1166, AFL-CIO, and the board of education met with mediator Arthur Kirby of the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board in a five and one-half hour session Wednesday night. It was the second bargaining session and represented 20 hours of exchange in the past 36 hours.

Menasha Awaits Official OK To Resume Master Planning

MENASHA — As soon as official notice from the Chicago office of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has been received, telling of approval of a fund grant, the city can resume its master plan studies, officials have been advised.

Mayor Kenneth Holmes was advised in a telegram Wednesday by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., that the request for federal aid had been approved. Meanwhile, Sen. Gaylord Nelson provided a newspaper release announcing the approval. This morning, Rep. William Steiger, R-Oshkosh, issued a similar release through his Washington staff.

Keeping Watch

The mayor had kept all three office holders aware of the progress of the application, and had received periodic reports from the solons that they were keeping watch on the procedures.

Steiger's office investigated this morning to find out the next steps the city should follow.

An aide to the congressman said officials in the Washington office of HUD advised that the city wait for official notice from the agency itself before going ahead with the planning project.

The aide said the Chicago regional office of HUD had not yet been notified of approval at the national level, but as soon as it is notified will in turn send the city the official notice.

At this point, the city could begin to incur costs and sign contracts for more planning work, the aide said

The $22,640 that has been allotted the city will not actually be received until more paper work is done, resulting in signing of a three-way contract between the city, the Chicago HUD office and the state Department of Resource Development.

Mayor Holmes said this morning, "I had intended to sit on it (the planning project) a little while, anyway," until he had received further details on the grant

2 Appleton Candidates Pass Free Radio Time

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Too late now . . . but two Appleton aldermanic candidates could have had time on their hands — free radio time, that is.

Newsmen from radio stations WHBY and WAPL both ran for city council and emerged as the top vote-getters in the primary. Under the circumstances, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) equal-time ruling would apply to their opponents.

James Bethke, WHBY news director, is being opposed for the 9th Ward post by Edward R. Maloney, and Arthur Hoolihan, newsman and part-time announcer for WAPL, by Frederick Kafura in the 11th Ward.

Deadline Past

Section 315 of the FCC rules, which governs radio and television stations, indicates that opponents of a broadcaster seeking public office, who appears on the airwaves, can request equal time — providing the request is made seven days prior to the election. Yesterday was the deadline.

The FCC also indicates the broadcasting station must notify the candidates of the provision and offer them air time. Both stations complied, spokesmen said.

It was learned that Maloney requested, and will receive, five minutes on WHBY, but Kafura apparently did not take advantage of his time slot on WAPL.

The broadcaster would not have to be talking about the election to make his opponent eligible for equal air or TV exposure. He could be conducting a disc jockey program.

Gets Exposure

The FCC contention is the broadcaster-candidate is getting public exposure which his opponent cannot normally get unless he buys political time.

One radio station manager said probably the best protection against the equal time "bit" becoming unwieldy would be to have the staff member take a leave of absence during the campaigning.

There would be nothing to keep him from writing daily newscasts . . . as long as he was not on the air.

Spokesmen for both WHBY and WAPL say there has been no problem.

However, this was not the case a few years ago at Green Bay when a radio station announcer was challenged well in advance by his opponent, and equal time was granted.

Ruling Absurd

One local radio station executive thought the FCC ruling absurd.

"Can't you just see a candidate, probably not equipped with the right voice or any broadcasting techniques, appearing on the air for about four hours some Surday afternoon to use up his equal ume?" he asked.

But it was admitted there is grounds for the provision. It could be interpreted as an advantage which is not readily available to his opponent.

There is nothing on the books that says equal space should be accorded candidates running against newsmen seeking office.

Fire Whipped by Gusty Winds destroyed a 100 by 40 foot barn and machine shed on the farm of William Springstroh, route 2, Black Creek, about 9 p.m. Also lost were livestock, machinery and hay. Barn, Shed Destroyed In Black Creek Blaze

Livestock, Hay Also Lost in Wednesday Night Fire on William Springstroh Farm

Fire whipped by gusty winds destroyed a 100 by 40 foot barn, a machine shed, 30 pigs, three head of cattle, several tons of hay and a considerable amount of machinery at the William Springstroh farm, route 2, Black Creek, Wednesday night.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out about 9 p.m. while the Springstroh family was away. A neighbor reported the blaze to the Town of Center Fire Department. The farm is at Pleasant Road and Outagamie County Trunk A, about seven miles north of Appleton.

Town of Center Fire Chief Russell Laird said the fire was raging out of control when the first of two fire trucks arrived. Firemen said the blaze may have begun in the southeast corner of the large barn.

Remained at Scene

About 30 firemen, most of whom remained at the scene until about 1 a.m., concentrated their efforts on saving Springstroh's house and other farm buildings near the barn. Paint was blistered and scorched on the side of the house facing the barn. Firemen sprayed water on the house.

Springstroh and several volunteers carried chickens and a large peacock out of a building about 20 feet from the barn then poured water on the building.

Springstroh, who has owned the farm only about two years, reportedly had shipped out a large quantity of pigs earlier in the day.

The young farmer said he lost a large amount of tools and farm equipment in the blaze. Much of the equipment was in a shed near the northwest corner of the barn. The shed also was leveled. Included in the equipment loss was a large tractor purchased recently. The loss, which was not estimated, reportedly was at least partially insured.

Outagamie County police were called to the scene to direct a steady flow of traffic.

County Zoning Unit to Discuss Camp Location

Consider Offering Stokely-Van Camp New Migrant Site

Stokely - Van Camp's migrant worker camp will become a county committee discussion topic again Monday morning.

Outagamie County's zoning committee will meet in the courthouse to discuss various pieces of county-owned property which might be offered to the canning firm as a possible site for re-locating the controversial camp.

The camp presently is in the Town of Grand Chute at the extreme north end of N. Casaloma Drive.

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler of Appleton said today that the county has several pieces of property in the Grand Chute area which might meet the needs of Stokely - Van Camp, Inc.

Outagamie County presently is preparing a lawsuit against the canning company which contends the migrant camp was built in violation of the county zoning ordinance. Earlier, the Town of Grand Chute had attempted to block the location of the camp, but a legal ruling said the town cannot enforce a county zoning ordinance.

Members of the zoning committee, in addition to Esler, who is an ex-officia member, are Supvs. Bernard Tillman, Emmett Root and George Kroes. Former Supv. Gerhardt Ruhsam is a citizen member of the committee.

Strike Averting Studied During Labor Hearing

Main Wedge

Eight municipal employe union and association spokesmen indicated their people did not want to strike but that it represented the main wedge after all attempts at agreement were exhausted. The union officials were from the Appleton, Neenah, Menasha region.

The position of the Appleton Taxpayers Association during the morning session triggered the bulwark of discussion for an otherwise dull day.

John McKenzie of Appleton, said the association was of the opinion that negotiations should be completed by budget time so salaries and other adjustments could be aired at the budget hearing.

The association recommended that should wage or any other contract adjustments have to be considered after passage of the annual budget, approval should require a two-thirds majority vote of the local governing body.

Hearing Recommended

McKenzie said the association also felt there should be a public hearing at some time during the negotiation process, possibly at the outset of fact-finding if the latter should come about.

"The association would like to enter the picture on behalf of the public at a time when it would be most helpful to all concerned," McKenzie told the committee.

Assemblyman Harold Froehlich (R-Appleton), speaker of the house, sat in with the committee.

At adjournment, Solk announced it was too early for the committee to have any indication of what it feels should be done.

Candidates Fail to File On Expenses

KAUKAUNA — Four candidates seeking election Tuesday failed to file legal pre - election expense statements with Karl E. Marzahl, city clerk, prior to the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline and will be required to follow state statutes for late filing in order to qualify for election.

Candidates still to file are Richard Kuehn, school board candidate; Robert Wieseler, First Ward aldermanic candidate; Cyril Reichel and William Rogers, Fifth Ward aldermanic candidates. The latter is in doubt as a campaign manager filed a statement.

Heaviest spending to date has been for the office of mayor. Gilbert Anderson, incumbent, reported spending $282 and Clarence Sullivan reported expenses of $124.76. School board candidates, running without opposition, reported no expenses.

First Ward aldermanic candidates reporting were Arnold Vander Loop, incumbent, none, and Robert Vondracek, $27.10; Second Ward, Earl Luedtke, incumbent, $11.25; Richard Gerrits, $20.20; Clifton Coffey, $7.50; Robert Nack, $15.75, and Frank Merckx, none.

Spending by Third Ward aldermen candidates showed George Simon, incumbent, none; Norman Meinert, $17.50, and Kenneth Huss, $20.20; Fourth Ward, Richard Helf, incumbent, $14.50; Russel Dix, incumbent, $7.50; Jerry Klarer, $30.50; Phillip Voights, none.

Fifth Ward aldermanic candidates reporting expenses showed Oscar Jahns, $16; Henry Drechsler, $10.50; LeRoy Peters $7.60, and Carl Engerson, $17.20; Earl Verbeten reported no expense for William Rogers, incumbent, but the city clerk has no record of Verbeten being named campaign manager for the alderman, thus his filing is being questioned.

Vandals Damage 19 Markers at Union Cemetery

Damage which authorities said could run into several thousand dollars was done when vandals tipped over and marred 19 large grave markers Wednesday night or early today at Union Cemetery on Outagamie County Trunk Z, between Kaukauna and Combined Locks.

Outagamie County Sheriff's investigators, who learned of the damage this morning, said it appeared to be the work of youths.

Authorities said there might be a connection between the cemetery vandalism and the stealing and damaging of two cars found early this morning on DeBruin Road, south of County Trunk K. The cemetery is near the spot where the cars were found, police said. One of the two cars was completely burned.

Construction Begins on Oshkosh Service Center For Telephone Firm

Construction is underway on a $186,000 garage and service center for the Wisconsin Telephone Co. at 820 Witzel Ave. in Oshkosh.

The one-story building, expected to be completed sometime next August, will give the telephone company 12,444 square feet of floor space for vehicle storage and 3,720 square feet for administrative space. Capacity will be 46 vehicles.

Contractor is the Haldon Corp., Oshkosh, and the architect, Klug and Smith Co., Milwaukee.

The company now parks its vehicles in a garage and service center at 793 High Ave., which has been sold to the Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh for expansion purposes. The telephone company will continue to use the building until its new garage has been completed.

Leaves, Debris Must Be Placed at Curb for Regular City Pickup

Leaves and debris must be placed on the curb for regular pickup, according to an announcement from the sanitation division of the public works department.

Officials said leaves and garden debris raked into the gutter clog the sweeper brooms and could clog the inlets and storm sewers.

Tree limbs, brush and other bulky debris must be cut into four-foot lengths and tied before they are placed on the curb for pickup.

University Sponsored

Nine Grants Awarded To Lawrence Faculty

Nine Lawrence University faculty members have received grants from the university to support their summer research, study and travel, President Curtis W. Tarr announced today.

Recipients include Paul M. Haberland, instructor in German; Charles M. Krance, instructor in French; Dr. Bradley J. Nickels, assistant professor of art history; Dr. John F. Plummer, associate professor of anthropology; E. Dane Purdo, associate professor of art; Dr. Sumner Richman, associate professor of biology; Clyde E. Rusk, assistant professor of physical education; Dr. William M. Schutte, professor of English, and Dr. Richard W. Winslow, assistant professor of Spanish.

The grant to Haberland will support his research at the University of Wisconsin Library in Madison toward completion of his doctoral dissertation. Krance, who also is completing his dissertation, intends to work in Madison this summer.

Purchase Photographs

Dr. Nickels, who is preparing a book on the French painter Fernand Leger, will use his grant to purchase photographs of Leger paintings from sources in the United States and in France.

Dr. Plummer will work with research material at Yale University to complete a monograph on Aymara culture. Dr. Plummer gathered the material during field work in South America while he was associated with the Human Relations Area Files at Yale.

Purdo, who will be on sabbatical leave during the 1967-68 academic year, will use his summer grant to study special techniques of silversmithing with master craftsmen in London. He also plans to do research in the silver collections in the Victoria and Albert Museum and in the British Museum.

Dr. Richman will travel to California where he will work with the marine food chain group at Scripps Institute of Oceanography in LaJolla. He will be on leave from Lawrence during 1967-68. Rusk plans to study this summer at Indiana University, Bloomington.

Attend Institute

Dr. Schutte, who holds the Lucia R. Briggs professorship at Lawrence, will use his grant to attend the Shakespeare Institute sponsored by the University of Bridgeport and the American Shakespeare Theatre from July 10 to Aug. 11.

Dr. Winslow intends to spend three weeks traveling in northern Spain as background for a book he is editing for the Twayne's World Authors Series. He is preparing a volume on Jose Maria de Pereda, a regional novelist of the late 19th century.

In addition to the Lawrence grants, other awards for summer study include a fellowship to Dr. J. Bruce Brackenridge, associate professor of physics, who has been selected by the American University, Washington, D.C., to attend the ninth Institute on the History and Philosophy of Science and Mathematics. The six-week program is sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Dr. Brackenridge holds the Alice G. Chapman chair in physics at Lawrence.

Executives Club Sponsors Sales Training Seminar

A sales training seminar sponsored by the Sales and Marketing Executives Club of Northeastern Wisconsin will begin at 7:30 a.m. April 6 at the Lawrence University Memorial Chapel.

Larry Wilson, president of the Larry Wilson Co., and Jay L. Beecroft, director of sales training at Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., will be featured speakers.

Wilson heads his own company and will travel more than 100,000 miles this year working with salesmen. He sold over $15 million of life insurance in five years before he reached the age of 30.

He then retired for a year to study and write a book on selling. He now advocates "psychological selling."

Beecroft heads 3M's corps of 4,200 salesmen and 800 managers. His training programs have taken him to Switzerland, France, Germany, Sweden, Denmark, Spain, England, Canada, Hong Kong, the Middle East, South America and South Africa.

He has received national awards from the National Society of Sales Training Executives for his editorial contributions in the field of salesmen training and development.

Plaintiff in Suit Found Negligent

Court Grants $235; $7,500 Damages Had Been Sought

A woman who brought a damage suit in connection with a traffic accident April 28, 1964, Tuesday was found 60 per cent negligent in causing the mishap.

Plaintiff in the action heard in Outagamie County Court Branch 3 was Mrs. Rosemary Arts, who at the time of the accident lived at 4601 E. Wisconsin Ave. Also named in the damage suit was Mutual Service Casualty Insurance Co., insurance carrier for a car owned by Joseph Weyenberg Sr., route 2, Kaukauna.

Weyenberg's daughter, Diane, was driving his car at the time of the accident with the Arts auto. She now is married and lives out of the state.

The Arts car was westbound on State 96, near Outagamie County Trunk OO, making a left turn into a trailer park driveway, and the Weyenberg car was eastbound on 96 when the accident occurred. Both women were injured.

The jury ruled that the former Diane Weyenberg was 40 per cent negligent in causing the accident, and Mrs. Arts was 60 per cent negligent. The jury further found that Mrs. Arts is entitled to $1,500 for personal injury; however because it was a split verdict, the final judgement was up to Judge Raymond P. Dohr who presided.

The court ruled that Mrs. Arts was entitled to $50 for damage to her car and $184.90 for medical, hospital and doctor bills.

Mrs. Arts had sought $7,500 damages in the action, according to the complaint filed in the clerk of court's office.

Gunman Kills Policeman In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A police sergeant was shot to death Wednesday night as he attempted to arrest a gunman after an auto chase.

A woman with the slayer was wounded by another policeman.

Sgt. Gerald Doll, 36, died in St. Anne's Hospital a short time after he was admitted.

The woman was wounded by shotgun pellets fired by policeman William Reddon at the gunman and the woman moments after Doll fell mortally wounded near Cicero and Shakespeare Avenues on the northwest side.

The wounded woman shed little light on circumstances of the chase and Doll's death. Police said she was about 18. They sought to identify her.

The killer apparently escaped although a search was begun minutes after the shootings. Doll approached the pair after their car had crashed into a lamp post.

Theater Remodeling Permit Issued for New Auto Body Repair Shop

KAUKAUNA — A permit to remodel an old theater building at 222 Lawe St. has been issued to Fox Cities Realty Inc. by Gene Ditter, building inspector.

The structure will be remodeled to permit use as an auto body repair shop. Cost of the work is estimated at $20,000. Floyd Pendleton, Kaukauna, is general contractor for remodeling while Daniel Baer, Appleton, will be architect.

Florida Lad Dies In Refrigerator

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A 5-year-old boy suffocated Wednesday after apparently crawling into a porch refrigerator with his pet puppy.

The six-month-old dog survived.

A baby-sitter told police that Willie Earl Arnold must have gotten into the refrigerator while he thought he was dressing for kindergarten.

WANT AD INFORMATION

CLOSING TIME

Want ads accepted to 4:00 p.m. the day before day of publication. For Monday—Before noon Saturdays. For Sundays—Before 10:30 a.m. Saturdays.

CORRECTIONS OR CANCELLATIONS

Want ad corrections or cancellations accepted to 8:30 a.m. for the same day publication. For Sundays—Before 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

IMPORTANT

Composition costs will be charged, if an ordered ad is cancelled before publication.

After an ad is ordered, it cannot be changed before one publication.

When cancelling an ad, demand a "kill number" No claim is recognized on ads cancelled without it. The number of days ad is published determines the rate of such ads.

ADJUSTMENTS

The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for verbal statements in conflict with its established rules, policies or rates.

All claims for adjustments or refunds must be made within 7 days after expiration of ad.

Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which make the advertisement less valuable, should be corrected the first day, when one extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.

NOTICE

The Post-Crescent is exercising all precautions to avoid publishing any fraudulent or misleading advertising. However, if any ad appearing in the classified columns of the Post-Crescent can be proven fraudulent or misleading, we would appreciate your informing us immediately.

Pollution Control to Cost Billions of Dollars

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Corporations, cities, towns and taxpayers the nation over are now beginning to receive that astronomical sums will be spent in coming years to control air and water pollution.

The estimated $5 billion a year U. S. industry and government already are spending to combat pollution by factories, garbage incinerators, car fumes, sewage, etc., could be at least doubled be at least doubl-least doubled by 1970, less than three years away, according to New York's Chase Manhatten Bank. Estimates of pollution control costs over the next generation range up to $500 billion for sewerage and industrial waste treatment, auto exhaust control, incinerator improvement, etc.

As just one hard illustration of the anti-pollution spending trend, federal outlays for the construction of waste treatment facilities in U. S. communities are due to rise from $150 million in fiscal 1967 to $450 million in fiscal 1968 to $1.25 billion in fiscal 1971. Half of our state legislatures are considering tough new anti-pollution laws and regulations, aimed primarily at industrial polluters.

What's Industry Doing?

In view of this, what is private industry doing — and not doing — to clean up the nation's air and water?

You are in the majority today if you believe that industry is shirking its responsibility to combat the pollution problem, according to one recent poll. Yet here are little recognized facts about the extent of industry's effort:

—A survey of 3,000 American corporations by the National Industrial Conference Board revealed that these corporations now have a capital investment of $1 billion in facilities to reduce or control water pollution, with yearly operating expenses of $100 million. Total industry spending to combat water pollution today is estimated at $400 million a year.

Sylvia Porter

—Just in the past decade, the electric power industry estimates it has spent $750 million on pollution control and the oil industry reports it has invested another $250 million.

—One of the nation's biggest chemical companies calculates it has invested a total of $114 million in pollution control equipment. Each year, the chemical industry in general spends $43 million to operate smog control equipment.

—Consolidated Edison Co. has announced that it is switching to less-polluting fuel for its power plants, ahead of its original schedule. (The Tennessee Valley Authority, an independent federal government agency, also has just disclosed plans to invest $12-$15 million over the next five years on new equipment to cut smoke at its electric generating plants.)

—U. S. industry today is footing a full one-half of the bill to fight water pollution and a full four-fifths of the costs of reducing air pollution.

By contrast, total state and local spending on the battle against air pollution amounts to a scant 8c per capita each year. As for water, thousands of communities are doing little or nothing to keep sewage out of their lakes and streams.

But despite its commendable efforts, business remains, next to you and me, the big culprit. It is continuing to dump more pollutants into the air and water than it removes. A shockingly small 4 per cent of the 3,000 companies surveyed by the NICB had as much as a written policy on the subject of pollution.

So the declared war against

Dwindling List of Localities Will Vote on 'Wet-Dry' Issue

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Local option elections on liquor and beer sales in Wisconsin communities will be fewer in number than in recent years when the people of Wisconsin go to the polls next week.

The state Beverage and Cigarette Tax Division reports it has been notified of 14 of such referendum issues, most of them in smaller communities, mainly in western and northwestern Wisconsin.

One of the elections will be in Richland Center, which for years has been the largest of the communities that have had "dry" laws by local ordinance. On the ballot for the decision of the residents of the community of 4,746 is a proposal to permit the sale of beer and liquor within its corporate limits. The only other city listed for a wet-dry vote is Westby, in nearby Vernon County, which now also prohibits the sale of intoxicants by local rule.

pollution also comes down to an undeclared war between government and private business. In the brutally cold words of M. A. Wright, President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce:

"We in business have only two alternatives. Either we voluntarily implement effective pollution abatement programs, at all levels of business and industry, or in the near future our actions will be spelled out by congressional legislation."

10 Wisconsin Students Killed In Plane Crash

Death Toll 19 as Jet Slams Into New Orleans Motel

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A Delta Air Lines DC8 jet on a training flight careened into a luxury motel opposite New Orleans International Airport early today and exploded. Ten high school pupils from Juda, Wis., were among the 19 persons killed in the flaming crash.

The students were on a senior class outing, part of a group of 32 from Juda High School who had been in New Orleans since Monday and were scheduled to leave today. Nine of the dead were girls found huddled together in a charred bathroom of the motel. The body of the 10th, a boy, was blown outside.

Juda is in Green County near the Illinois border.

Five pilots and a federal inspector were on board the big jet, which was coming in for a landing. It sliced through two houses before plunging into the Hilton Inn, across U.S. 61 from the airport. All six in the plane were killed.

Fierce Flames

The motel erupted into fierce flames. As many as 40 guest units were destroyed or damaged. The number of injured was not known.

The cartwheeling jet spilled fuel as it skidded down a railroad track behind the motel, blistering the area. It blew apart when it hit the motel.

Challenge to Federal Court

Mrs. Wallace Ready To Unveil Plan for Takeover of Schools

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — An audacious challenge to the federal government which sets a new high in bravado is now ready for unveiling after careful and secret preparation by George Wallace and his wife, Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama.

What Wallace is planning is no less than total takeover of the state's public school system by Mrs. Wallace, claiming the police power of the state as her constitutional authority for seizure.

The announcement, carefully concealed as a state secret until now, will come tonight in a well-rehearsed speech by Mrs. Wallace to a joint session of the legislature and a statewide television audience. Mrs. Wallace will ask for specific legislative endorsement of her takeover of the school system in the form of a resolution of approval. In the Wallace rubberstamp legislature, the wheels are well greased for a quick okay.

This bold challenge to the federal government, growing out of a March 23 order by a special three-member U.S. court to end 13 years of stalling on desegregation, is designed above all to galvanize the South behind George Wallace's presidential ambitions.

Moreover, the challenge also poses the prospect of the nation's only lady governor, at some future point in the new school crisis, confronting federal troops sent to Alabama to enforce the court's integration order — a replay of George Wallace's 1963 stand in the schoolroom door. But with a fragile flower of southern womanhood playing the leading role, this time it could boost Wallace sentiment throughout the nation.

The decision to hurl a new challenge at Washington wasn't arrived at lightly. When George Wallace's legal advisers first proposed it, he called a meeting of some two dozen advisers, both in and out of the state legislature, and analyzed the political and juridical effects of seizing the public school system. Immediately after they reached their decision, television coverage was arranged.

Wisconsin Among States Which Would be Affected Under Federal Injunction

BY DAVID GIFFEY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The National Farmers Organization Wednesday afternoon was charged in court with using coercion in attempting to monopolize the interstate sale of milk during the two-week-old milk holding action.

The civil suit, filed by the Justice Department in U.S. District Court in Des Moines, brought forth strong criticism of federal policies as early as Wednesday morning from NFO officials in Wisconsin. They were informed that the federal action was pending, in a tape recording distributed Tuesday night from the office of Oren Lee Staley, Corning, Iowa, national president. The message said that an injunction would be issued against the NFO.

Staley's recording apparently was sent out too early. Meanwhile, local NFO members were altering their tactics before the court announced the suit. The Justice Department and U.S. District Court spokesmen in Washington said during the morning Wednesday they didn't have any knowledge of the action.

A short time later, however, word of the antitrust suit was released.

Reality Assumed

Proceeding under the assumption that the suit was a reality, local NFO officials began contract negotiations with processors asking that farmers be allowed to ship the milk, have it processed into cheese, powdered milk or butter, and held in warehouses.

The contracts would be for 12 months and warehouse receipts would be issued so the product would, in effect, be held in a processed form rather than raw milk.

The court action seeks an order forbidding the NFO from trying to monopolize the sale of milk by illegal means and from threatening non-NFO members. It didn't challenge the milk withholding by NFO members but accused them of forcing non-member farmers, truckers and processors to cooperate with them.

During the milk hold which began March 15, there have been scattered reports of violence in the states affected. In the Fox River Valley, reports violence has been minimal and, in most cases, the acts haven't been directly blamed on NFO members.

Picketing at dairy plants since last Saturday has gone without incident.

Criticize Action

Staley, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman have criticized the federal action saying farmers should be allowed to withhold the product they produce from the market if they choose to do so.

Edward Kenney, a spokesman for the Justice Department in Des Moines, this morning told the Post-Crescent the action "would have nothing to do with ending the withholding."

"The NFO's withholding of its own milk is not attacked in the suit," he said.

Reports said 19 of the 25 states taking part in the hold were named in the suit. Kenney said, "Wisconsin definitely is included among them."

"We never were quite sure which 25 states they were talking about," he added when

Huntley, Brinkley Differ

Some Picket, Others Work, But Artists' Strike Continues

The familiar coast to coast television signoff was conspicuously absent Wednesday night as Chet Huntley, defying a strike by the 16,000-member American Federation of Television and Radio Artists, went it alone on his evening news report for the National Broadcasting Co.

David Brinkley, the other half of the NBC news team, stayed away from his microphone in Washington. He refused to cross a picket line.

Saturday Meeting

There appeared to be little likelihood of a settlement before Saturday when union officials and executives of NBC, CBS, ABC and the Mutual Broadcasting System meet in Washington at the offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

The strike over wages and commercial fees, the first national one in AFTRA's 30-year history, was called at 5 a.m. Wednesday in behalf of about 100 local on-the-air newscasters whose minimums currently exceed $11,000 a year. Most network stars, some of whose salaries range upward from the $100,000 level, supported the strike, as members of AFTRA even though they had reached an agreement last January.

Frank McGee, another NBC television and radio newsman well-known for his description of U.S. space shots, also defied the picket lines and broadcast his regular 4 p.m. radio newscast Wednesday.

Cronkite Jennings

But missing from the TV screens were other well-known newscasters such as Walter Cronkite of the Columbia Broadcasting System and Peter Jennings of the American Broadcasting Co.

Cronkite was replaced by Arnold Zenker, CBS program administration manager. Jennings

President of Sherwood Bank Succumbs at 83

James Bergstrom Was Life-Long Valley Resident

James W. Bergstrom, 83, president of the Sherwood State Bank, died early this morning after a lengthy illness.

A funeral mass will be said at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Menasha, at noon Saturday and burial will be in St. Margaret Cemetery, Neenah. Laemmrich Funeral Home, Menasha, is in charge of arrangements. There will be no visitation at the funeral home.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Bergstrom, Lake Winnebago.

Born in Neenah Jan. 22, 1884, he was a lifelong resident of the Fox River Valley. His parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George O. Bergstrom, were pioneers in Neenah and established the Bergstrom Stove Co., the products of which were sold worldwide.

Neenah Schools

Mr. Bergstrom was educated in the Neenah school system and the Mohegan Lake Military Academy in New York. In 1923, he became president of the Bergstrom Stove Co. and directed its operation until the business was discontinued. In 1949 he became associated with the Sherwood State Bank and held the position of chief executive officer and director for many years and was the president of the bank at the time of his death. He also held the positions of vice president and director of the State Bank of Greenleaf from 1954 through 1962.

Mr. Bergstrom had always been interested in education. In 1925, he was appointed a member of the Board of Industrial and Vocational Education in Neenah and served through 1931. He also was a member of the building committee of the board in 1928 and 1929. He has been associated with the administrations of Lawrence University and St. Norbert College as a business consultant for many years.

During World War I he was active on the various War Bond drives. Throughout World War II and for 10 years thereafter he served as chairman of the Calumet County draft board. He received a citation from the office of the President of the United States for this service. He also organized and was chairman of the Calumet County Civil Defense organization during World War II. He served on the National Committee of Sponsors of the United Seamans' Service, an organization which worked on behalf of the merchant seaman during the war effort.

Memorials may be made to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton, or Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, Neenah.

274 Americans Killed in Week

U.S., Reds Suffer Most War Deaths

SAIGON (AP) — More American and Communist troops were killed last week than ever before in the Vietnam war, U.S. military headquarters announced today.

The United States lost 274 dead and the Communists 2,774, the American command said.

While the Communist death toll set a record for the second straight week, the U.S. total exceeded a record of 240 that had stood since the battle of the Ia Drang Valley in November 1965.

Growing Intensity

Although the ground war has been relatively quiet for the past few days, the casualty summary for last week emphasized the growing intensity of the struggle in Vietnam. Many of the casualties were suffered in one of the war's deadliest one-day battles, on March 21, in which a crack Viet Cong regiment lost more than 600 dead in the jungles of Tay Ninh Province.

The deadly pace of the war continued Wednesday with 50 Viet Cong reported killed by South Korean soldiers sweeping the central coast and scattered actions dotting the countryside.

U.S. pilots smashed at targets in North Vietnam with 108 missions, including strikes on a storage complex 27 miles northeast of Hanoi. In the south, rockets from a U.S. Army helicopter on a firing mission fell short, killed three civilians, wounded 20 others and destroyed 31 huts in a government-controlled village 35 miles southeast of Quang Ngai.

1,320 Wounded

The weekly casualty summary reported 1,320 Americans were wounded last week, the third highest total of the war, and 12 were missing.

The casualty figures also reflect the increasing use by the Communists of mortars, rockets and recoilless rifles — relatively long-range weapons which they now generally favor in an attempt to escape the massive and growing U.S. firepower. U.S. officers say the Communists have apparently decided to wage a war of attrition for the time being.

Despite record losses for two weeks, the U.S. estimate of total Communist troop strength increased by 1,000 men last week and 4,000 the week before, to a total of 237,000.

Action on Dodd Unlikely to be Either Extreme

Ethics Committee Decides Against Expelling Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee has decided against recommending expulsion of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd. But neither will it exonerate him of misconduct charges.

It also was learned Wednesday that the panel will not propose that Dodd be stripped of his Senate seniority or penalized financially in any way.

The 59-year-old Connecticut Democrat's financial affairs and his relations with an agent of West German business interests have been under investigation by the bipartisan committee for more than a year.

The committee's recommendations to the Senate are not expected for three or four weeks, but the staff is working on a preliminary draft.

'Between Extremes'

At a secret meeting last week, to set guidelines for the staff, the committee ruled out both total exoneration and expulsion, it was learned.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., one of the six committee members, said when asked about this he thought it was fair to conclude that whatever action is taken "will fall between these two extremes."

In-betwen courses of action could include censure or condemnation of Dodd's conduct or some other form of reprimand or rebuke.

It appeared the committee's report is likely to make different findings on various aspects of Dodd's activities.

'No Official Action'

One source said "the degree of sverity" of the committee's action has yet to be determined, with the precise wording to be worked out after the members return from Congress' Easter recess.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., committee chairman, issued this statement: "Since the hearings closed the committee has had one meeting which was for discussion only. All members were present. No official action was taken. The committee adjourned to meet soon after the recess for further consideration of the case."

Terms of Office Cause Confusion, Could Get Worse

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — If Wisconsin voters are often left in a quandary about the framework of their government, no one can really blame them.

For state and national offices Wisconsin voters are called upon to deal with contenders racing for offices which seemingly have little unity of tenure, and keeping them straight at times can be expected to be more than difficult.

United States senators are elected to six-year terms, while their counterparts in the House of Representatives serve for two-year periods.

The state models for such officers serve also for staggered periods, but of shorter durations.

State senators serve for four years, while assemblymen serve for two.

Nationally, state voters are called upon to select a chief executive to serve for a four-year period, while on the state level the governor serves only two years before coming before the voters once again.

With him come most of the rest of the constitutional officers of the state who, unlike their national counterparts, are elected and not appointed to their posts.

Some Resemblance

The lieutenant governor, whose duties but not station resemble those of the vice president, serves a two-year term. The secretary of state, who follows the lieutenant governor in the gubernatorial line of succession, also serves a two-year elective term.

The state treasurer serves for two years.

The attorney general serves for two years.

Confusing?

Questions are being presented to state voters next Tuesday which are designed to ease the problems of government and citizenship which are seemingly caused by such a system.

But it is conceivable that even more problems could result.

Four questions specifically designed to do away with the two-year system of service for the partisan constitutional officers have been submitted for consideration on next week's ballot.

But the questions, which divide the five offices into four separate packages, could be decided completely independently, resulting in a more mixed system than we now have.

Many Possibilties

The questions ask, in turn, whether the governor and lieutenant governor should serve four-year terms, starting in 1970, and then in separate questions, if the same system should be started in that year for the secretary of state, the state treasurer and the attorney general as well.

Most probable results of the questions are, of course, those considered by the 1965 and 1967 legislatures when they approved resolutions calling for the submission of those questions to the voters this spring.

Either the entire package will pass, it is thought, or the package of four questions will fail.

But a multitude of other results is possible, growing out of the individual manner in which the questions were framed.

Voters could accept the first questions and reject the other three. Or they could accept the first two and reject the second two. Or approve the first three and disapprove the fourth. Or

NEW LONDON — The issue involving the resignations of firemen from the volunteer department is a dead one as far as the 14 remaining members of the department are concerned.

Robert Besaw, who will be acting chief effective Saturday said the firemen held an informal meeting Wednesday evening and there was no further official action. "The issue is absolutely dead as far as remaining members of the department are concerned," Besaw said.

"We will work twice as hard to get the organization back to a good working team," he added.

Appoint Officers

Officers will be appointed on a temporary basis Saturday, the day Besaw succeeds Arthur Freiburger.

Besaw said, "We are not short of fire protection in the city. The department has 14 good men who are not on the department for the money, but because they want to be."

He said new applications for admission to the department would be acted on by the membership. Members of the department expressed hope that the matter could be "left to die," so they could have a chance to reorganize.

Five ranking officers resigned from the department this past week in an apparent show of sympathy to Al Schafer who allegedly was asked to resign by the police and fire commission.

Arthur C. Freiburger, Evan (Bud) Stern, James T. Sullivan, Milford (Dan) Rex and Paul F. Kamke resigned. The resignations become effective Saturday, and all were officers, except Kamke.

Indicate Cooperation

One hundred per cent cooperation between the commission and the department has been indicated by the remaining members, Besaw said.

A force of 22 men is recommended by the fire insurance rating bureau. However, the department has consistently operated at a maxi-

Parish Votes To Keep Pupils At Stockbridge

St. Mary Church To Hire Additional Lay Teacher for Year

STOCKBRIDGE — St. Mary Catholic congregation voted, 127-49, Tuesday to keep seventh and eighth grades in the parish school and hire another lay teacher for the 1967-68 term on a trial basis for one year.

The special meeting was called to decide whether to send the junior high school pupils to the public school or bear the burden of paying for another teacher, after the parish was notified it would lose one of the five teaching nuns allocated from the Franciscan Sisters, Milwaukee. Three lay teachers complete the faculty.

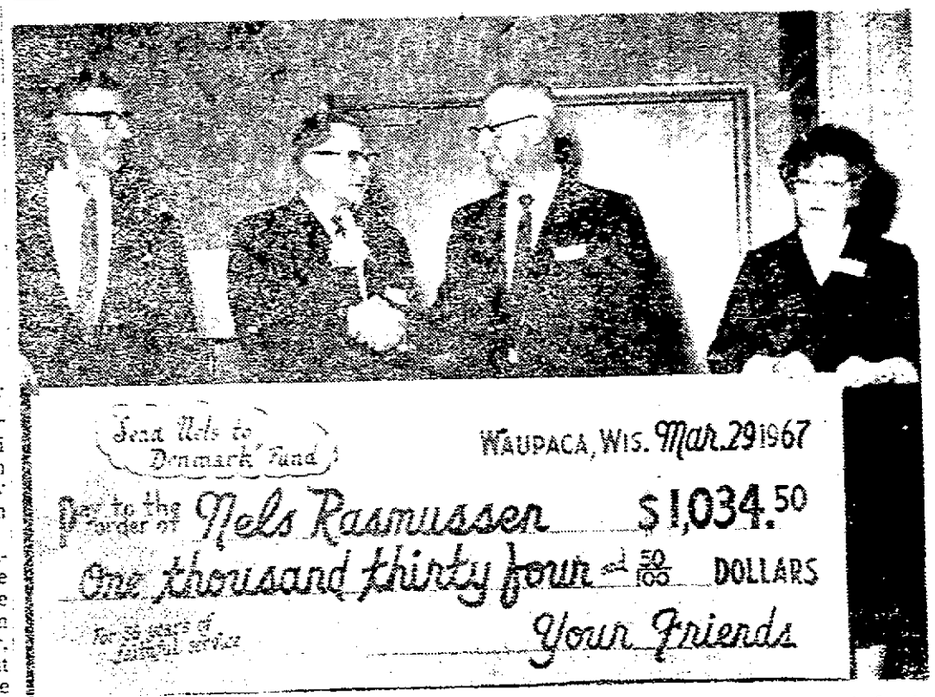
The school presently has more than 300 pupils. About 80 pupils were involved in the seventh and eighth grades.

Keep Intact

Parishioners said they preferred to have pupils receive religious instruction during school hours, rather than after school. It would require added transportation. The parish has had a parochial school for more than 50 years and parishioners wanted to keep it intact. School officials said there was enough room for the pupils under consideration. The school has eight classrooms.

Public school officials at the meeting said the seventh and eighth grade pupils could be accommodated possibly with departmental teaching and additional teachers.

How to cope with the added financial responsibility was not determined as assessments were raised at the annual parish meeting and the effects of the added teachers' salary would not be felt until fall.



Former Waupaca Street department superintendent Nels Rasmussen was honored at a Small Cities Conference meeting Wednesday when Waupaca City officials presented him with a check for $1,034 which he will use for a trip to his native land of Denmark. The money was collected through a "Send Nels to Denmark" fund which was started at the time of his retirement, Nov. 1, 1966. Waupaca 'Sends Nels to Denmark'

WAUPACA — Nels Rasmussen, former Waupaca street department superintendent, who retired last Nov. 1, now will be able to realize his dream of a trip to Denmark, the country he left at the age of 3 to come to the United States with his parents.

At the time of his retirement, a group of citizens wanted to show their appreciation for Rasmussen's 35 years of service to the city, so they organized a "Send Nels to Denmark" fund.

Reach Goal

Within two months the goal of $1,000 was reached, and at a Small Cities Conference meeting Wednesday, attended by officials of eight cities, Rasmussen, a guest of honor, was presented with a check for $1,034. The money was presented to him in two forms. One is a check which he can take to the bank and cash, and another an eight-foot-long check signed, "Your Friends," which he can keep as a souvenir.

The checks were presented by Mayor Lloyd Matheson, Council President Alfred Jarnick and City Clerk Mrs. Harriett Ward.

Builds Garden

Rasmussen, known as a person who always gave a little bit extra, took it upon himself several years ago to transform an ugly rock pile at the end of N. Main Street into an attractive rock garden. Spending many of his free hours during the spring and summer, he planted and cared for many varieties of flowers at "his park."

Shortly before Rasmussen retired, the city council took official action to name the rock garden "Nels Rasmussen Park."

Nels plans to leave for Denmark sometime in May and to stay about 30 days if he is successful in locating some of his relatives in Denmark.

Clintonville District Faculty Wins $47,036 Salary Boost

All 80 Teachers To be Affected By New Rate

CLINTONVILLE — An increase in the current salary schedule, totaling $47,036, as proposed by the Clintonville Board of Education, was approved Wednesday by the Clintonville Education Association (CEA), with Friday set as the deadline for the release of contracts.

This figure includes the salaries of 80 teachers in the system and is $16,886 over the scheduled raise of $30,150, which was approved last year by both the board and CEA.

According to the new schedule, effective in September, the base increase over the current schedule, gives a teacher with three years of training a $4,575 base and a top salary of $5,535; a bachelors degree, from $5,500 to $7,805; and a masters degree, $5,900 to $8,770.

Initial Agreement

The two-year agreement of a year ago called for a salary increase of a total of $30,150 for the current term and the same amount for the 1967-68 year.

The new agreement constitutes a $400 across-the-board base increase. In a proposal to the CEA committee, the board committee stated that of the additional $200 proposed over last year's agreement, an extra $100 is added due to the 1.6 per cent increase in the cost of living beyond that which was anticipated in last year's negotiations and another $100 was added on the basis of competition from other school systems.

Initially, the CEA had requested a 3½ per cent increase, figured on current individual salaries, which the board did not approve. The 3.3 per cent increase in the cost of living index was cited as the reason for the request.

New Contract

The new contract, presented at a special board meeting March 23 by Robert Stieg, head of the welfare and personnel committee of the board, was unanimously approved by the board.

Previous negotiations had been carried on by CEA salary committee co-chairmen, Mrs. Prudence Bowers and Robert Schiomann and the board's committee, composed of Stieg, Mrs. Margaret McCauley and P. J. Oberhauser.

The board also agreed to:

—Two pay periods a month, starting with the fall term, with checks to be issued on the 15th and 30th of each month. Presently the teachers are paid only on the last teaching Friday of a month.

Noon Hour Relief

—Not recommend board consideration of noon-hour relief from supervision duty for elementary teachers. This duty is on a rotation basis and balances out with other duties outside the classroom assigned to all teachers. Therefore, it is considered a part of the total teaching job.

Ponder Pay For Coaches

No Changes in Schedule for Past 15 Years

CLINTONVILLE — The school board is planning a special session at 4:30 p.m. today to consider personnel committee recommendations regarding salary increases for the coaching staff, unchanged in the past 15 years.

The topic is a carryover from Tuesday night's regular board meeting. It was pointed out that all schools in the Mideastern Wisconsin Conference were checking coaching salaries this year.

Carl Bruggink and Marc Pecha, physical education instructors at the senior and junior high schools, respectively, presented a proposal to revise salaries. The consensus of the board indicated they favored an adjustment but left details to the personnel committee.

Leave of Absence

Two requests for a year's leave of absence for further study were approved. Supt. K. O. Rawson recommended the move providing a suitable substitute is available. Granted leaves were Robert Kuehl, who teaches social studies, and Paul A. Murphy, who teaches English, both in the junior high school. The board asked for written assurance that they

Post Corp., Names Head Of Promotions

Appointment of Thomas A. Hutchison, West Allis, as Director of Promotion and Public Relations of Post Corporation, Appleton - based publishing and broadcasting firm, was announced today.

Hutchison is being transferred from his post as general manager of the West Allis Star, a weekly newspaper published by Post Corporation. Walter C. Ellmann, advertising manager of the Star, has been named to succeed him as general manager.

In his new post Hutchison will work with the managers of Post Corporation properties in Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa and Missouri developing promotion and public relations programs.

Hutchison has been in the newspaper business since 1953 when he became a reporter for the Oconto County Reporter. In 1956 he became co-owner of the Manawa Advocate. After selling that paper in 1960 he worked for a year as news editor of the Waupaca County Post, then served three years as state editor of the Green Bay Press-Gazette. He went to the West Allis Star as editor in 1964, and was named general manager in 1965.

Ellmann came to the Star in 1966 after 20 years in sales work for the Oconto County Reporter, Red Owl Stores, Oconto Brewing Company and Bond and Pickle Company. He served in sales management positions with the latter two firms.

Also announced was the promotion of David E. Hutchison to editor of the Star. He has been news editor. He joined the Star after graduating from St. Norbert College in 1965.

Squad Car Backs Into $100 Crash At New London

NEW LONDON — More than $100 damage resulted from a two-car accident about 1:05 a.m. Wednesday involving the city police squad car.

Police said a car driven by patrolman David T. Blissett, 36, 1604 Werner-Allen Road, was traveling east on W. Cook Street, stopped and then backed up as the patrolman looked across the street to check a window. The police car backed into a parked car owned by Gerhard A. Ladwig, 211 W. Warren St., the investigating policeman said.

BEAR CREEK — A public chili supper will be served from 3:30 to 8 p.m. Sunday afternoon at the Grace Lutheran church parlors.

Barn, Shed Destroyed In Black Creek Blaze

Livestock, Hay Also Lost in Wednesday Night Fire on William Springstroh Farm

Fire whipped by gusty winds destroyed a 100 by 40 foot barn, a machine shed, 30 pigs, three head of cattle, several tons of hay and a considerable amount of machinery at the William Springstroh farm, route 2, Black Creek, Wednesday night.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out about 9 p.m. while the Springstroh family was away. A neighbor reported the blaze to the Town of Center Fire Department. The farm is at Pleasant Road and Outagamie County Trunk A, about seven miles north of Appleton.

Town of Center Fire Chief Russell Laird said the fire was raging out of control when the first of two fire trucks arrived. Firemen said the blaze may have begun in the southeast corner of the large barn.

Remained at Scene

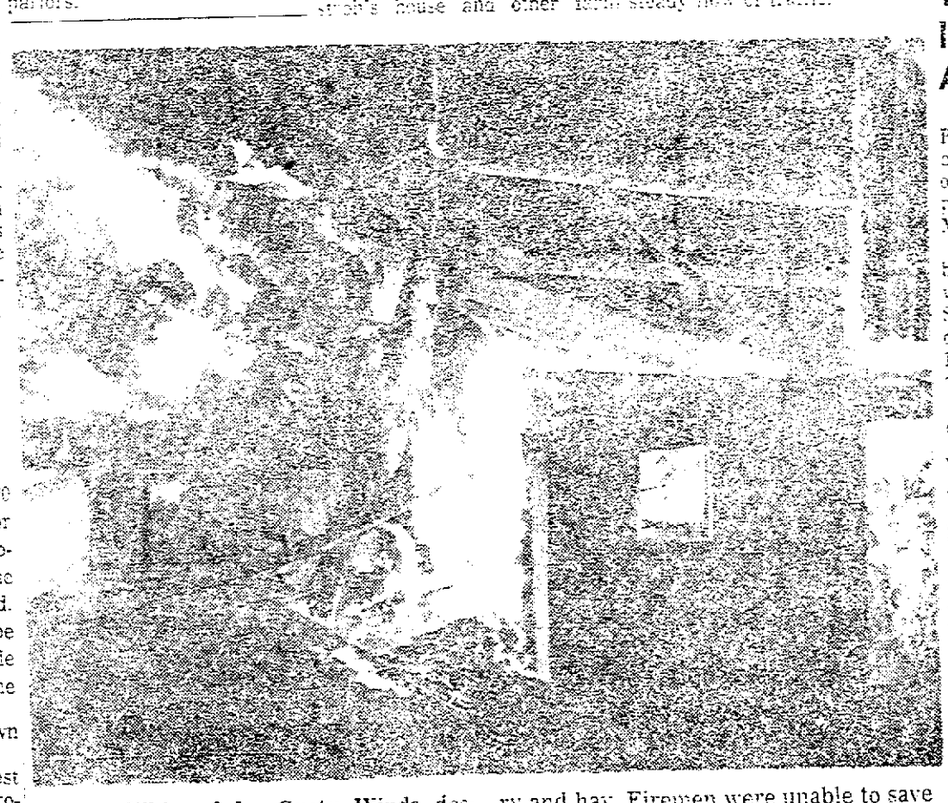
About 50 firemen, most of whom remained at the scene until about 1 a.m., concentrated their efforts on saving Springstroh's house and other farm buildings near the barn. Paint was blistered and scorched on the side of the house facing the barn. Firemen sprayed water on the house.

Springstroh and several volunteers carried chickens and a large peacock out of a building about 20 feet from the barn then poured water on the building.

Springstroh, who has owned the farm only about two years, reportedly had shipped out a large quantity of pigs earlier in the day.

The young farmer said he lost a large amount of tools and farm equipment in the blaze. Much of the equipment was in a shed near the northwest corner of the barn. The shed also was leveled. Included in the equipment loss was a large tractor purchased recently. The loss, which was not estimated, reportedly was at least partially insured.

Outagamie County police were called to the scene to direct a steady flow of traffic.



Fire Whipped by Gusty Winds destroyed a 100 by 40 foot barn and machine shed on the farm of William Springstroh, route 2, Black Creek, about 9 p.m. Also lost were livestock, machinery and hay. Firemen were unable to save the building but remained at the scene to keep the fire from spreading to other farm buildings and the house. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Woman Injured In 2-Car Mishap At New London

NEW LONDON — Mrs. Floyd R. Kaminski, route 1, received a cut to her right leg as the result of a two-car collision at 5:12 p.m. Wednesday at Wyman and Millard streets.

City police said the car driven by Mrs. Kaminski's husband was headed south on Wyman Street and collided with a car driven by Dennis J. Besaw, 21, 1005 W. Millard St., which was traveling west on Millard.

Damage to the vehicles was estimated at more than $100.

Waupaca Boy Admits Taking Cash, Radios In TV Store Break-In

WAUPACA — A 12-year-old Waupaca boy has admitted to police he entered the Waupaca TV Sales and Service Store, 111 W. Fulton St., Saturday night and took three radios and $7 from a cash drawer.

The youth gained entry to the building by breaking a small window to unlock a side door. All of the stolen property has been recovered, police said.

Released to the custody of his parents, the youth will be referred to juvenile authorities, police said.

Planners Make Recommendations

Predict Population Boom for Brillion

BRILLION — Brillion's population, now 2,000, will possibly increase to between 4,200 and 5,000 by 1990, according to city inventory and analyses information tabulated by Candeub, Flessig and Associates, Madison, and presented at a special city council session Tuesday.

Phase one of the three-stage report to be included in a $9,200 updating of the city's comprehensive plan was presented to the city planning commission and council by representatives of the Madison firm.

Approximately 202 additional residential acres will be occupied by 1990, according to the report given. This residential growth will undoubtedly be to the south and east, according to the report, which further shows that sanitary sewer and water services can be accomplished in that direction at a lesser cost than the expenditure necessary to extend in any other direction.

Step Up Work

As a result, city officials decided Tuesday to step up the engineering work in that area, and subsequently the extension of water main and sanitary sewage facilities to the far southeast section of the city will be accelerated.

The area involved includes the 37-acre Don Sommers property, a site being considered here for construction of a new high school.

The concept report further projects that 120 additional commercial employes will be needed by 1990, but that only 11 additional acres of commercial land are necessary.

"Modernize and rebuild your older dilapidated central business district buildings instead of expanding your commercial land," the city delegation was told by Candeub, Flessig and Associates men Tuesday. Elimination of buildings that now hinder modernization is necessary, they added.

The city's planned $500,000 recreation center and indoor swimming pool should be located behind the city hall in the Beach Street area, they advised. The facility would then be centrally located and accessible to the two parochial and one public elementary schools.

Four projected downtown parking areas were outlined.

"We probably have been most optimistic in our industrial projections," said one of the consulting firm's representatives, "but our figures are feasible and possible according to trends

Bid Study Set For New Church At Clintonville

St. Martin Lutheran To Compare Costs On Proposed Facility

CLINTONVILLE — A special voters' meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday at St. Martin Lutheran Church to hear reports on bids received for construction of a church.

Comparison of bids will be made and the comparative costs of alternates for the proposed construcuon will be studied. Bids will be accepted for the building as proposed or with the alternate proposals which have been submitted.

The bids were opened with the architects and members of the building committee present. Bids received included three general, four heating, three plumbing, three electrical, two for bells, three for pews, and one skylight contractor.

The committee and architects reported they were pleased with the number of good competitive bids for consideration.

The total is 16 possibilities, but the wise bettor is placing his money on complete acceptance or rejection.

That entire question hinges on a concept of the democratic form of government and its relation to modern society.

Opponents of the changes rely on the theory that the officers of the state must be responsive to the will of the electorate, and that this responsiveness is best obtained through frequent tests of popularity at the polls. The two-year term of office, they contend, is inherently more democratic than a four-year term as the more frequent elections test the acceptance of the policies of the government by the judgment of the voters.

But this theory has had more than a little opposition in this country, especially in this century. As government and society have grown more complex, there has been a drive to allow state leaders a longer time in office to attempt to accomplish promised programs, free from the pressures of politics, before they are forced to meet the test of the voters once again.

Since 1900 there have been more than 50 attempts in Wisconsin alone to change from two years to four the constitutionally-set terms of office of the partisan constitutional officers.

But it has only been in very recent years that such a drive has accelerated to a point near public acceptance.

In 1951, the state legislature approved inclusion of a question to be considered for advisory purposes only. Included on the ballot, it asked whether the terms for the five offices in question should be lengthened to four years.

It was decisively defeated, losing by about a 3-2 margin despite the fact that two other referendum questions on the same ballot were approved.

In the 1965 Legislature, a resolution calling for a referendum on such a change was accepted for the first time in state history. It was passed again in an amended form this year. The two passages are required to place such a question before the voters.

The amendment made this session followed an attorney general's opinion which backed the legality of combining the questions relating to the governor and lieutenant governor considered by backers to be the most vital of the measures.

The change was made to ensure that the offices often thought to be intimately related, would at least be staffed for the same periods of time and would come before the voters simultaneously if the amendment were adopted.

Carefully Chosen

The 1970 date was carefully chosen as the enactment year to avoid having state constitutional officers elected in the same year as the national president. Many of the backers of the proposed change oppose such a combined election year, feeling Wisconsin state politics should not be directly affected by presidential races, and perhaps feeling as well such a combined ballot would give one party and edge over the other.

These developments in Wisconsin are a reflection of a national trend. Thirty years ago the states were evenly divided between two and four-year governors' terms, while today only 11 states still elect their chief executives for a two-year period.

Proponents of change argue that a two-year term does not allow sufficient time for a public official to become familiar with the responsibilities of his office, while also providing only an inadequate period for him to attempt to carry out his programs.

Cut Into Time

They also argue that the length, cost and intensity of modern political campaigns have cut into the time and resources available to an executive serving only a two-year term.

These arguments are somewhat negated by the fact that a political official always engages in politics no matter how long his secure term in office if he wants to preserve a political future. He needs no election to force him to campaign. The decrease in the amount of time spent on such activities, therefore, will not be sizable through such a change.

Opposition also has developed on the basis that at least some of the offices being included in the balloting should be, it is thought, appointive in nature — or staffed by civil service personnel — rather than elective.

Fewer Responsibilities

The secretary of state's duties, they point out, could be carried out by a well-trained clerk. The state treasurer has even fewer legal responsibilities in daily practice.

And the attorney general, it is argued, often is separated from the state's chief executive by far more than the 30 feet between their doors. The state's legal officer, they say, should be responsive to the will of the state's leader.

But despite such opposition, in a strict sense such questions have no bearing on the referendums to be considered. Whether a post should be elective or appointive is not at issue in the balloting.

On questions such as these, trends can easily develop in voting. Those opposed to one of the questions can easily be led to vote against all. If all are rejected, such reasoning may have been a large part of the cause.

Federal Court Asked to Stop NFO 'Coercion' asked why only 19 were charged.

A federal hearing before Judge Roy L. Stephenson would begin at 1 p.m. today in Des Moines, according to Kenney. The hearing was to bring to light arguments of the antitrust division of the Justice Department asking that a restraining order be issued to end the alleged coercion.

Sen. Nelson's statement regarding the civil suit said, "The Justice Department intervention against the National Farmers Organization is an unfortunate attempt at intimidation of the national leadership. There is no evidence of law violation by the national officers and none is charged," the senator said.

Nelson said the farmers have conducted an orderly holding action, "considering the number of people involved and the genuine tragedy of the low dairy price situation."

The Easter season hold was a quest for an increase of 2 cents a quart in the price paid farmers for their milk.

Going Ahead

In the meantime, NFO officials are going ahead with contract negotiations for "warehouse holding."

Reports this morning said some processing plants already signed the agreements and milk was being shipped by some NFO members in the eastern part of the state. Other firms are considering the contracts, according to Joseph Juckem Jr., Calumet County NFO president.

Ed Graf, Tomah, national director, said the group will go ahead with the contract negotiations and had planned to do so whether the suit was filed or not.

County meetings conducted nightly since the hold began will continue "unless something else turns up," according to Juckem.

Artists' Strike Affects Many Personalities

NBC newscaster Bill Ryan used his picket sign for support to sign autographs outside the RCA building in Rockefeller Plaza where he marched with strikers.

With executives and supervisors filling in for television personalities, the strike did not appear to have significantly affected programs on the first day Wednesday.

10-Year Team

Earlier in the day, NBC had said that the Huntley-Brinkley show would not go on. The news report is divided between Huntley in New York and Brinkley in Washington. They have been a team for more than 10 years.

Huntley apparently changed his mind about going on the air.

Jennings joined a picket line at ABC headquarters in midtown Manhattan and dozens of screaming teen-age girls crowded around the handsome personality. He granted their request for autographs, then one girl asked, "Who are you, anyway?"

The striking union said Huntley was liable to suspension or possibly expulsion.

"I would hate that," said Huntley, "but this is the end process of a 30-year conviction that AFTRA is not qualified to act as the bargaining agent for news broadcasters. I will not allow that conviction to cave in on a given night."

No Mention of Case

He said he had joined the union to appear as a guest on other shows and, in his beginning days in Los Angeles, to announce a symphony program. He said these were "areas of my work in which they would have jurisdiction."

Huntley, appearing quite drawn on the program, reported news of the strike but he made no mention of his own case.

McGee said he had been "compelled" to join AFTRA four years ago and did not consider the union a qualified bargaining agent.

"I don't want to be put in a position to be compelled to support something that I had no choice in deciding," said McGee. "I had no voice in the matter. They don't negotiate for me. I have an agent who does that."

Shift to New York

Newscasts that usually originate in Washington were shifted to New York.

William Small, CBS bureau chief in Washington, said he would cover the capital by using management personnel who have news backgrounds.

With Congress in recess, the strike appeared to have little effect in Washington.

Management handled three CBS shows in the capital and NBC diverted to New York 16 radio and television programs normally originating in Washington.

Among those picketing network offices in the capital were such well-known personalities as ABC commentator Howard K. Smith; Daniel Schorr of CBS; and Neil Boggs of NBC.

In anticipation of possibly a long strike, network officials were lining up supervisory personnel to handle forthcoming live sports attractions such as the Masters golf tourney April 8 and the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs beginning April 9. This weekend's sports shows were not expected to be affected much. Supervisory personnel will fill in for regular announcers.

Soap Operas

The hardest hit shows Wednesday were the soap operas. Six were canceled and replaced with filmed reruns of "Candid Camera," "I Love Lucy," and "The Playhouse of the Stars."

All networks indicated their audience participation shows have tapes ready to carry them through next week.

Such name entertainers as Dean Martin, Danny Kaye, Red Skelton and the Smothers Brothers are taped only a week or so in advance.

Weekend appearances of such stars as Ed Sullivan and Jackie Gleason were in doubt, with CBS prepared to use tapes of their old shows if necessary.

In Los Angeles, the producers of the Smothers Brothers show went into court Wednesday seeking an injunction to force AFTRA members to report to work for Friday's scheduled taping of the April 9 show on CBS.

10 Wisconsin Students Killed In Plane Crash

scattering wreckage for a hundred yards. The nose of the craft remained buried in the building.

The surviving students, many hysterical or in a daze, were placed under sedation by doctors. Some wore bermuda shorts, others were dressed in blankets. Tour leaders were busy informing relatives in Juda, a village of 300 persons in Wisconsin's dairy country of the tragedy.

'Sea of Fuel'

Police Capt. Marvin Leonard said the plane "spewed a sea of fuel right to those rooms where those 10 kids were staying. That's what killed them. Not the impact from the wreckage.

"There were nine girls in four rooms. You could see where they took refuge in the shower stalls. One girl even took her purse with her.

Most guests fled the fiery scene in panic, many in their nightclothes. Some charred rooms were inaccessible for hours because of the heat.

"We saw a real bright light," said Doug Baer, 16, of Park Forest, Ill. "I opened the door and saw all those flames. We just ran. There was a series of explosions and breaking glass."

The plane — the oldest DC8 in use by the airline — had been airborne only nine minutes before the crash occurred. It had arrived shortly before with passengers from Chicago. The night was balmy with a nearly full moon.

As the jet careened toward the motel, it split a wooden frame house, demolished another home across the street, hit a railroad track, skidded 100 yards and plowed into the motel.

The charred, decapitated body of a small boy was found in the remains of one home. A woman's body was nearby.

"I saw several bodies on fire in a field," said Jim Millet, an off-duty policeman who reached the scene minutes after the fiery crash at approximately 2 a.m. EST. "I heard screams coming from the Hilton Inn, and started leading people out."

State Called To Investigate Highway Death

Crime Laboratory to Help Decide Events Leading to Accident

The Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory has been requested to assist in the investigation of an accident north of Appleton Saturday night that Tuesday morning claimed the life of Dennis L. Miller, 22, 902 W. Winnebago St.

Miller

The decision to summon the state agency was made after conferences among Outagamie County Sheriff Norbert Marx, Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer and Sgt. Stanley Arnold of the county police.

In a statement issued Wednesday morning, Arnold said the state laboratory was called to help determine the cause of the fatal accident on Mayflower Drive, just north of State 76, and events that occurred just prior to the accident.

Arnold said today that he and a representative of the state agency viewed cars involved in the accident and an examination was made of the accident scene. The state official was in Appleton Tuesday afternoon.

Arnold and Marx said the crime laboratory will forward a report of the findings to the sheriff's department. No results of the investigation were released today.

Miller died about 7:40 a.m. Tuesday of severe head injuries as a result of the accident about 6:15 p.m. Saturday. His 1960 compact station wagon left Mayflower Drive, rolled onto its side and slammed sideways into a large tree.

Brother Uninjured

A car driven by Miller's brother, William, 25, route 2, Hilbert, apparently left the road about the same time, crossed through a ditch on the opposite side of Mayflower Drive, and ended upright in a field, about 100 yards from his brother's car. William Miller was not injured.

Both cars involved in the accident were impounded by Outagamie County police.

Funeral services for Dennis L. Miller will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Wichmann Funeral Home. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery, Neenah. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Thursday.

Xavier Coach to Speak

BRILLION — Gene (Torchy) Clark, Appleton Xavier High School football and basketball coach, will speak at the Brillion Athletic Association quarterly membership meeting at 8 p.m. April 6 at the Brillion Conservation Club clubhouse.

Brillion High School seniors scrubbed the Horn Park Pavilion during Easter vacation to be ready to open the new youth center in the building early in April. The city has granted students use of the facility. Stan Schultz, center project president, holds a dust pan for Sharon Stanelle, left, and Diane Behnke, during the clean-up-campaign. mum strength of 20 for several years.

New London has maintained a remarkable record on average responses to fires, with 14.6 firemen reporting for each run. The 22-man force was set by the rating bureau to insure an adequate number of available volunteers for a fire call.

Extras Stand by

A complimentary force to supplement the department will insure an adequate staff of available fire fighters. Some of the stand-by firemen have had previous experience on the department.

Besaw is the only remaining officer. However, engineers, Ruben Voss, Sylvester Larson, Ed Jagoditsch and I. P. (Izzy) Pelkey, remain to operate trucks and pumps.

Veterans of the department are Joe Timar, Karl Herminath and Donald Dent. Newer members are Darwin Scheid, Wayne Wilfuer, Gary Barrington, Brian Zietlow, Robert Flease, Ronald Heise and Joe Quaintance.

At no time have any charges, formal or informal, been made against Schafer by the commission. Neither Schafer nor the commission has made a public statement on the resignation, which apparently precipitated the resignations of other officers.

Three Injured In Accident Near Chilton

CHILTON — Three Fox Cities residents were injured about 9 a.m. Wednesday in a two-car crash on State 57 about 2½ miles north of here.

Taken to Calumet Memorial Hospital by the hospital ambulance were Richard M. Rach, 16, 1700 E. Ninth St., Kaukauna, driver of one of the cars who suffered multiple cuts and bruises and a possible head injury; Clayton Bunnell, 21, also of 1700 E. Ninth St., Kaukauna, Rach's passenger, cuts and bruises, and Jack Nagel, 700 S. Fairview St., Appleton, head cuts.

Rach and Bunnell are natives of the Stockbridge area.

Rach, northbound, was passing a truck and car when his auto and the Nagle car collided almost headon, Calumet County police said. Dense fog reduced visibility, police said.

Both cars were demolished.

Football Coach To Speak at Manawa Dinner

MANAWA — James Rice, head coach of the Wisconsin State University-Eau Claire, football team, will speak at the second annual high school athletic banquet Thursday evening.

The event is sponsored by the Lions Club and will be at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Athletes and cheerleaders will be honored.

Committee members are Kenneth Biegel, William Mathwig, Irvin Lotz, Rolland Handrich and M. G. Hales.

This phase of the report relates that industrial employment here will increase 3,000 people in 20 years and 300 additional industrial acres of land will be needed.

Also included in the report were suggested recreational and park facility sites.

Map Displays

Maps displayed showed existing land use; highway and street analyses; right-of-way information; pavement types, pavement conditions; area traffic volume; utility service area; existing and committed public buildings; delapidated buildings; environmental conditions — potential problems; existing off-street parking; corrections on 1962 base map and Brillion development factors showing areas not suitable for general urban development.

Subsequent reports by the consultants will include a "planning report and specific plan" with emphasis on capital improvement, areas to annex, zoning ordinances and pinpointing areas or specific old buildings that should be eliminated.

Phase two of the three stage report is scheduled to be given in about three weeks.

Three soil suitability maps displayed Tuesday clearly indicate that land surrounding the city is not conducive to septic tank sewage facilities. For this reason, owners of property adjacent to the city are being urged to attend future meetings conducted here by the Madison firm.

Lake Michigan Water Series

Information Sought on Pollution Caused by Nuclear Power Plant

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

MANITOWOC — Approaching advent of nuclear power generation drew special attention at a Lake Michigan water quality hearing here Tuesday.

The first such atomic age facility scheduled near here, it was brought out, will use half again as much water in one hour as Green Bay draws out of the lake in one day.

A second plant now in the early planning stages can be expected to have an even greater thirst.

The water, required for condenser cooling, will be returned to Lake Michigan as clean as before, but it will be about 20 degrees higher in temperature.

Constant Vigilance

The nuclear power plants will produce substances called radioactive isotopes, calling for constant vigilance and calculated control.

These problems and others in the pollution spectrum were placed before the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development (DRD) during a three-hour session. The hearing was fifth in a series of 11 set up as a procedure toward establishment of quality criteria on Wisconsin sections of interstate waters.

Standards being proposed by the DRD elicited varying reactions here. Twelve persons presented statements, some as individuals, others as industry, public or citizen group representatives.

The hearing drew 130 witnesses and spectators. It was the best attended to date, according to DRD staff members. Andrew Damen, legal counsel for the department, presided as chairman.

Too Vague

Paced by Glenn A. Reed, general superintendent of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., industry spokesmen asserted that the proposed criteria are too vague on some points, too stringent on others. They emphasized the necessity for a healthy industrial climate, and urged the state to use extreme caution in defining restrictions on water utilization.

The Wisconsin Conservation Department read into the record a statement contending that the proposals are not tough enough where fishing waters are concerned.

Virgil Muench, Green Bay conservationist, made a plea for preservation of Lake Michigan despite what it might cost. Warning of creeping pollution, he said he wanted to be sure "there is no compromise for the sake of expediency." He was the only one of the 12 speakers whose eloquence drew applause, and he received a comment of appreciation from Damen as the hearing ended.

Record Held Open

Damen announced that the record will be held open another 10 days for the filing of any additional statements.

Reed told of the nuclear plant that Wisconsin-Michigan is going to build at Point Beach, north of Two Rivers. He said the 500,000-kilowatt facility will be the best and most efficient that present technology makes possible.

The Wisconsin Public Service Corp. is also planning a nuclear power plant at a site not yet determined, but was not represented at the hearing. The WPS plant will be of 527,000 kilowatt capacity, according to announced intentions.

"We are concerned with recreation, and the growing needs to provide leisure time opportunities for ever increasing numbers of people," Reed stated.

Highly Essential

"But we must also consider the facts, we must note what made the country great," he stressed. "Generation of electrical power at reasonable rates for consumers is highly essential." He pointed out that with nuclear power it will be possible to develop new versatility in the steam cycle for power generation.

"But we are concerned about criteria proposals that may jeopardize this development," Reed declared.

According to Reed, the Wisconsin-Michigan facility will require 350,000 gallons of water per minute for cooling purposes. This comes to 21 million gallons an hour, and compares with an average daily pumpage by the Green Bay Water Department of about 13 million gallons.

Reed did not think that raising the temperature of the water by 20 degrees would result in any serious harmful effects.

"Lake Michigan is very, very cold. It is unlikely to reach 65 degrees at Point Beach at any time," he remarked.

The state is proposing that 89.6 degrees be the maximum temperature for fishing waters. It also opposes "abrupt changes" in temperature by more than nine degrees.

Muench charged that the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development patterned its proposals to criteria drawn up in states such as Ohio and Illinois.

"Wisconsin is different, and what they have is not good enough for us. We should not lower our standards to conform to their conditions," Muench said.

Vital Importance

Asserting that water temperature is of vital importance, he said that cooling systems are available to industry and should be required.

"Can we accept a half-dead Lake Michigan or a three-quarters dead Green Bay?" he asked

Frank Hansen, Sheboygan, read a statement for William Ferris, vice president of Wisconsin Power and Light. He contended that cooling systems for steam power generating plants would be prohibitive in cost.

Henry C. Crandall, vice president for research with Mosinee Paper Mills, Mosinee, said severe cooling requirements would be a hardship for industries closely spaced on rivers.

Republicans Ask Raise In Non-Resident Fees

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Raising non-resident tuition fees at the University of Wisconsin (UW), as asked by a group of prominent Republican assemblymen, would increase state treasury revenues by more than $6 million a year even if the higher charges would reduce the number of such non-resident admissions.

The estimate was made to the legislature by the finance analysts of the State Department of Administration.

Republican Demand

The demand for higher charges to meet a larger share of the school's operating costs is being made by a group of majority party legislators, led by Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton.

The bill would boost non-resident undergraduate fees, now set at $1,050, to $1,500. It also would require the regents to establish non-resident fees for professional and graduate students at a rate equal to the actual costs of accommodating such students, including "direct and indirect costs."

The Department of Administration made its calculations on the assumption that higher charges for graduates and under-graduate would reduce such admissions by about 25 per cent.

Make Exception

The analysts said some conjecture on the fiscal result of the higher fee proposal results from the bill's provision that an exception would be made for non-resident students coming from home states which maintain universities. Such students could be charged the higher of the actual cost of instruction of the student, or the non-resident tuition charged a Wisconsin resident by the student's home state.

A year ago the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education ordered state institutions to limit their non-resident undergraduate enrollments to 25 per cent of the total. The UW meets that rule by holding down non-resident freshmen admissions to 30 per cent. Transfers and other forms of attrition result in meeting the 25 per cent total under-graduate limit.

Recreational Water Usage Laws Sought

State Conservation Department Wants Local Ordinances

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The time has come when many of the local governments of Wisconsin face the need for local legislation regulating the use of recreational waters within their jurisdiction, the State Conservation Department told the Legislature Wednesday.

John Brasch of the department appeared to support a bill that would authorize the department and its specialists to counsel and assist cities, villages, towns and counties in water use problems and the development of local water use ordinances.

He said the department has its statewide waters inventory, started under mandate of the Legislature, about two-thirds finished and that its data will provide guides for the classification of lakes and the promulgation of use regulations according to the classifications. He emphasized that the department's powers would be permissive only.

Nine Recommendations

The department already has evolved nine recommendations for water use regulations that have grown out of the findings in the lakes inventory, he said. They relate to regulation of conflicting uses, such as boating, water skiing, fishing and bathing. They also acknowledge the problem of imposing restrictions in some localities, as through a division of use rights on crowded waters, or the prohibition of some forms of activity, such as power boating, on smaller bodies of water.

Planners have increasingly emphasized problems of recreational water use conflicts as public recreational activity and demand for recreational opportunity have grown.

Some authorities have urged the enactment of statewide controls for the sake of uniformity and to avoid confusion and conflicts among local jurisdiction, such as boating on lakes bounded by a number of towns or other local units of government. A bill proposing state government control of boating activities is now before the Legislature.

State Plans Report on Pesticide Fish Damage

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — State Conservation Department laboratory technicians are rushing into print a new report on damage to Wisconsin fish life from the use of persistent pesticides such as DDT.

The report will be made public early next month, a department spokesman said, and is expected to flash additional warnings against the use of some toxic materials for plant pests and diseases that can destroy fish and other forms of wildlife.

The first such report on studies of DDT effects on fish was published a year ago. The new report will be more intensive, informed sources relate.

Walter E. Scott, an administrative aide in the department, referred to the new study in an appeal to the Madison city administration to halt the use of DDT in spraying against Dutch elm disease, because of the hazards of contamination of near-by Lake Mendota and the destruction of its fish life.

Preliminary Review

He asserted that a "preliminary review of the findings shows significant levels of DDT residues in walleye eggs and in fish from throughout the state, so that there is reason for grave concern over this type of persistent environmental pollution wherever and whenever it appears."

The City of Madison has agreed to abandon the use of DDT, in favor of a milder poison, for the spring season, pending a review of the problems associated with it.

Scott pointed to the warnings of the state Conservation Commission, wildlife authorities in other states, the United States Department of Interior and other sources about the dangers resulting from the use of DDT and similar chlorinated hydrocarbons in pest control.

He also cited the statement of Prof. Arthur D. Hasler of the University of Wisconsin that "it is inevitable that pesticides applied to trees over hard city streets will reach water-courses."

As a service to the voters and in cooperation with the League of Women Voters, The Post-Crescent presents the stands of the candidates as submitted by them:

1. What solutions do you see to Appleton's growing fiscal problems particularly in view of projected capital improvements in the next few years?

Voss — The council is in the process of developing a capital improvement program. This program should be used as a guideline in future outlay spending. The projects should be listed in priority.

Wachtendonk — The services of the city are the results of the demands of its citizens. With the rising cost of living, which we are experiencing today naturally result in higher tax rates. For years Appleton had very little capital improvements. The past few years have been expensive ones for Appleton The solution to this problem could be solved by better education between the city and its citizens. Inform the public what is planned and explain the reasons it is being done, and what the benefit will be to the public. If you feel you have made a good deal on a purchase, and you are convinced you have received your moneys worth you are satisfied. The same thing is true with city expenditures. If you have prudent spending, and careful budgeting, that is what the citizens want and have a right to expect Bethke — The City of Appleton appears to have reached a saturation point in the area of tax increases. I believe that until the tax load can be distributed more equitably. . .by means of state legislation, through annexation or by attracting new industries. . city officials should study new projects with an eye toward the purse strings. Once a revised capital improvement program has been approved by the city council; a priority system should be established to implement the new projects.

Maloney — Other than the two stock answers to this question, namely, more industrial development and annexation, and taking a very optimistic view, I would like to say that our growing fiscal problems for the present and the future are more a part of necessary growing pains we are experiencing in a time of unprecedented growth, not only on the city level, but county, state, and federal levels also. With the rising cost of labor, material for building and the continuing need of more facilities to educate our children, I can't be too critical of our continuing rise of property taxes, only to say we must always be on the alert to find means to do these things in the most economical way without adding unnecessary rubbish but also without deleting any necessary essentials."

Hoolihan — The City of Appleton should adopt a capital improvement program to be used as a guideline for future improvements. The capital improvements should be designated in a priority manner When adopting such a program the overall financial program must be taken into the picture — such as future increased assessed valuations of property within the city, increased interest rates for bonds, and maturities of bonds The retirement of bonds should be over a 20 year period

Kafura — Long term planning and financing is the only logical solution to Appleton's fiscal problems This timetable must and can be flexible to provide for emergency needs. It is important that plans for improvements once formalized are continued to completion without major changes which normally are expensive. Good prior planning will prevent problems and additional costs such as we are now encountering in the Soldier's Square parking ramp project.

Stumpf — My solution would be to broaden the tax base, that is by the city annexing so-called tax islands and extending the city boundaries as proposed by the city planner.

Thompson — Economy in government first; if we have this, and I believe we do, we must then look for ways to broaden our tax base Our new industrial park is one step in this direction.

Gertsch — The City of Appleton is now big business and has to operate as such The growing fiscal problems can be solved by helping our present industry expand and meeting their problems: by annexing more residential and industrial areas into the city and attracting new industry to the city. Also, the need for more people to meet this increased labor market is necessary; a problem which has to be studied.

McHugh — The solutions to Appleton's growing fiscal problems particularly in view of projected capital improvements in the next few years would be to intice new industry to Appleton, and the annexation of the outlying townships. The tax money collected from both of these sources would lessen Appleton's financial burden.

Mac Donald — 1) Trim costs of present facilities and services 2) Prepare priority list of needed improvements. 3) Analyze financing methods. 4) Schedule per necessity and financial limitations.

2. Do you favor Appleton's membership in a voluntary council of governments for our metropolitan area as proposed by the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission?

Voss — No. The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission's purpose is to set up an orderly zoning for land usage in the valley Recommendations beyond this scope is exceeding their purpose for which it was set up.

Wachtendock — I do favor Appleton's membership in a voluntary council of governments for our area.

Bethke — My knowledge of the proposed council of governments for the Fox Valley area is limited. However, from that limited background I would favor formation of the organization

Maloney — I favor anything that has to do with better communications between any group of citizens, elected officials or any other organization that will get together to exchange ideas and review problems, and look at other peoples' ideas and past experiences with problems of similar nature. I believe most of our problems today stem from a lack of communications.

Hoolihan — I believe that the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission is headed in the right direction. I favor the expressway plan which would link the area from Kaukauna to Menasha I would also like to think that the time has come when there should be more action on the plans put forth by the Fox Valley region.

Kafura — I favor Appleton's membership in a voluntary council of governments because each of the neighboring cities and villages is experiencing the same growth and tax problems as Appleton. If the neighboring communities can reconcil some of the differences between themselves, they will be able to solve the larger, mutual problems.

Stumpf — Very much. The Fox Cities are becoming more of a city as a whole every day. We all have to cooperate with each other for our own good. This can only be done by meeting with each other as a group to iron out problems.

Thompson — I have not formed an opinion.

Gertsch — Yes, for it would make the planning commission more effective by having all elected officials on the commission and also increase the area's chances for more federal grants.

McHugh — Yes, I do favor Appleton's membership in a voluntary council of governments for our metropolitan area as proposed by the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

MacDonald — Yes. As of recent Federal Metropolitan Act members of such voluntary councils will be eligible for 20 per cent additional funds in all grants from Federal government.

3. What proposals would you suggest to keep and attract industry to Appleton?

Voss — The city should maintain its tax rate — not increase it as the taxpayers are already burdened with all types of taxes. The spending program of the city should be held to a minimum without curtailing essential services. Budgets should be prepared on needs and not wants. Unnecessary spending such as trips (extended out of the state) should be halted.

Wachtendonk — There are six things which any industry considers when thinking of relocating new industry.

1. Available transportation facilities.
2. Available labor force
3. How good is the school system
4. What are the recreation facilities in the area
5. What is the tax rate in the community
6. What is the political stability of the community

From the above items, we can decide for ourselves how Appleton appears to new industry and the industry we now have in Appleton. If we are on the short side of any of the above, then we should make an effort to change them in the best interest to the city of Appleton.

Bethke — I believe the City of Appleton should always be in the position to lean in the direction of requests from existing industries that are contemplating expansion. These requests should be granted where they will not seriously affect adjacent property owners. The same holds true for attracting new industries to Appleton since city officials usually are well aware of the needs of the industry which should be approved if not jeopardizing existing city policies.

Maloney — I think the recently formed committee on industrial development is a definite step in the right direction for attracting industry but we must give our present industry the feeling that we not only need them but will give them top priority when they request assistance in matters of expanding or anything else to keep them growing within our city rather than in some other area.

Hoolihan — I believe that a good tax base is important to obtaining new industry into Appleton. Appleton's school system, its scenic beauty and retail market value is an asset to the community to which strangers would be attracted to.

Kafura — To attract and keep industry in Appleton we must establish an equitable tax base which neither favors nor discriminates against industry. We cannot favor new industry by tax freezes and expect present Appleton industry to help carry the newcomers. I do not feel that new industry expects preferential treatment but does require an area established with adequate utilities, facilities, and access in which to locate and expand.

Stumpf — The special committee just appointed by Mayor Buckley is a step in the right direction. We cannot let up, and must pursue every angle of approach such as rezoning, purchasing the old county airport, etc. to lure industry to Appleton.

Thompson — Available land for expanding and new industry. We now have within the city two very good locations, one private already zoned for industry, the other the old county airport property. As soon as we are able to service the utilities for this property (about 200 acres) we will have the most important ingredient.

Gertsch — Our present new industrial and commerce committee of the city council is a step in the right direction. We should check first with our present industry to see what their problems and needs will be for the future and then have an aggressive portfolio to attract new industry.

McHugh — My proposals to keep industry in Appleton would be to go to the furthest reasonable lengths possible to grant industry their requests for facilities needed. When requests from industry are received by the council immediate action should be taken and continued through until a mutual agreement has been reached. My proposals to attract industry to Appleton would be to contact industry best suited for our city, point out to them actual facts and figures showing and proving to them how they could benefit and mature in Appleton by stressing our geographical location, facilities, and manpower. Grant new industry the privilege of restraining their taxes while they are becoming established, with the agreement that as they grow their taxes would be increased accordingly.

MacDonald — Be prepared and-or willing to assist in securing sites for expansion or location — move as swiftly as possible to provide utilities and services, etc.—maintain liaison between interested parties and city government so that orderly action can be permitted — encourage vocational programs and apprentice training programs.

4. What methods do you suggest to improve the communications between the council and the county board? Between the council and the school board?

Voss — I believe quarterly informal meetings should be held between the council and the county board to inform each other of their problems and attempt to mutually solve them.

The school advisory committee should become more active and meet with the board of education. This committee is the liaison between the school board and the common council.

Wachtendonk — To improve the communications between the council and the county board, several things could be done. 1. Have a joint meeting of the Appleton supervisors and the city council every three months, to discuss mutual problems. 2. An exchange of board and council meeting minutes to the respective groups, making each aware of problems each are facing.

Bethke — I am of the opinion that lines of communication between the council and the county board as well as the council and the school board are adequate at the present time. The only thing that is needed are city and county officials who are willing to listen to and review each others programs and problems.

Maloney — Here again as in question No. 2. I believe we need a closer relationship in the form of discussion groups between the city council and county board, the school board and the newly formed citizens advisory group. It might even be a good idea to have a meeting with representatives of all four groups to exchange their ideas and the ideas of the people they represent on common problems.

Hoolihan — I would favor a liaison member of both the city council and the county board. This would enable both governmental bodies to have knowledge of what the other is planning in the way of projects which could develop into a joint venture. I would also like the county board and the city council to hold at least three informal meetings per year. This would permit both governmental bodies to exchange suggestions and probably come up with a solution to a program facing one or the other groups.

Alderman should be dedicated enough to attend all or at least most of the Appleton board of education meetings.

Kafura — Communications between the council and county board can be improved by close liaison between the two bodies. Their goals should be quite similar but petty grievances due to misunderstanding can detour the most determined, qualified people.

The present impasse between the city council and school board is caused by a lack of communications and desire to know and understand each other's problems. It appears that there are many decisions made with total disregard for the problems of the other elected group.

Stumpf — The lack of communication between the council and county board has been greatly exaggerated. Both governments must meet frequently as a whole or by appointed committees to keep each other well informed. Lack of information has been the stumbling block.

The council and school board should meet as a body, not as the school advisory committee and school board does today.

Thompson — Five full-time alderman. My personal opinion being part-time alderman cannot give the time required for county and school board meetings.

Gertsch — Joint meetings on a quarterly basis with the county board and the city council would certainly make both government bodies more aware of needs and problems facing each other as a result of these meetings, many tax dollars could be saved such as joint ventures in purchasing, etc.

As for the council and school board, more involvement by the school advisory committee in the policy decisions by the board of education, which in turn will eliminate long and delaying discussions by both parties.

McHugh — The methods that I suggest to improve the communications between the council and county board; the council and the school board would be to appoint a committee from the council to attend all county and school board meetings requesting the committee to report back to the council all the important business, relating all the details, so that the council would have a verbal and more detailed report on each matter that requires its vote. A representative from each board should also be present at each council meeting.

MacDonald — School advisory committee should serve more effectively as a committee and furnish reports to council of school board activities. Periodic meetings between executive committee of county board and board of public works (which includes chairmen of all council committees).

Kaukauna Sets Grade Program

Book Fair and Art Display Sunday at Holy Cross School

KAUKAUNA — The third annual book fair and art display, sponsored by the Holy Cross Home-School Association, will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday in the school cafeteria.

Theme will be "Involvement Today for Tomorrow" and each grade will have its own display on its own grade level, according to Sister Claudia, principal. No admission will be charged and visitors may purchase specific books for donation to the school library or make donations toward a purchase, according to Mrs. Eugene LaBorde, chairman of the Home-School Library Committee.

Purpose of the book fair is to make the library self-supporting. New books are purchased each year to keep the library up to basic library standards, and worn out books must be replaced. This year several sets of encyclopedia are needed in addition to other volumes which usually cost from $2 to $5.

"Of special interest to parents and visitors will be an art display by the children. Each pupil from the school will have a picture on exhibit, the picture selected from work done in art class by the student during the past year. Pictures will be grouped according to age level," said Sister Claudia.

Pianist's Recital Set for Lawrence Music Hall

Pianist Maya Duesberg, a senior at Lawrence Conservatory of Music, will feature a sonatina composed by her mother, Helen Tobias Duesberg, on her recital at 8 p.m. today at the Lawrence Music-Drama Center.

The featured composition is entitled "Sonatina," and was composed in 1950 when Mrs. Duesberg was a resident of Germany. The score is written in a modern context over a contrapuntal bass line.

Miss Duesberg

Mrs. Duesberg, a native of Estonia, studied there and in Berlin, where she was a composition student of Herman Grabner, and an organ student of Fritz Heitman. In this country she has been an organ pupil of Willard Nevins, and is currently active as a concert organist.

Second Solo

Miss Duesberg will be playing her second solo recital at Lawrence. She was heard in a junior program last April, and has made a number of student recital appearances on other occasions.

She has been especially active in Lawrence University Theatre, and was seen most recently in productions of Moliere's "Scapin," and in a collection of Elizabethan literary excerpts entitled "The Golden Age." Prior to this season she had roles in Ugo Betti's "The Queen and the Rebels," John Gay's "The Beggar's Opera," and Yeats' "Words Upon the Window Pane."

She has been director of special events and production for WLFM, the Lawrence student-operated radio station, and has been active in the university's People-to-People program.

Her area activities have included direction of a choir at First English Lutheran Church, and numerous appearances as a church soloist.

For Long Distance Calls

Phone Firm Adding $104,200 in Equipment

Additional switching equipment valued at $104,200 is currently being installed in the Wisconsin Telephone Company's switching center at 120 N Superior St. as the result of increased calling volumes.

The equipment is specifically designed to meet the switching requirements for long distance calling, according to community relations manager Richard Van Sistine.

"Appleton is a main switching center for long distance calling in this area," Van Sistine pointed out. "All long distance calls placed from Neenah-Menasha, Little Chute, New London, Kaukauna, Hortonville, Wrightstown, Appleton and several other communities in this area are handled through the switching center here. From here they are relayed to the nationwide long distance network."

Van Sistine noted that the additional switching equipment also is designed to gear up the telephone company's facilities for the summer season.

"Part of this equipment will give us extra circuits for automatically recording a long distance call when it is made," Van Sistine noted. "This equipment is known as CAMA equipment — centralized automatic message accounting.

The equipment is being installed by the Western Electric Co., the manufacturing and supply arm of the nationwide Bell System. The project is expected to be completed sometime in May. The equipment will be tested, then turned over to Wisconsin Telephone Co. plant personnel who will put it into use when the need arises.

April Deadline For Studded Tires On State's Cars

Wisconsin motorists using studded snow tires on their cars are warned that the tires must be removed by April 15. The law legalizing the use of studded tires in Wisconsin restricts their use to the period between Oct. 15 and April 15.

When removing studded tires for storage, the Wisconsin Division of the American Automobile Association points out, be sure to have them marked so that you can have them put back on the same wheel.

The reason is that studs wear at a slight angle, which causes them to lay over a little on one side. Much of the effectiveness of the studs will be lost if the tires are replaced on different wheels.

The following steps are recommended for storage:

—Avoid contact with oil or grease.

Kennedy Carrier To be Christened

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — Two days before the May 29 birthday that would have been the late President John F. Kennedy's 50th, an aircraft carrier will be christened in his name at Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co.

Shipyard officials announced the May 27 christening date Tuesday and noted it was the nearest Saturday to Kennedy's birthday. Major vessels traditionally are launched at the shipyard on Saturday.

The carrier, for which the keel was laid Oct. 22, 1964, will be conventionally powered and of the Forrestal class. Its contract price at the shipyard was $188.5 million.

Police Training Bill

A minimum standards police training bill introduced by State Sen. Robert W. Warren (R-Green Bay) deserves strong support from government and police agencies throughout Wisconsin.

Warren, a member of the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Crime, proposed establishment of a law enforcement standards council to promote better training, including a curriculum, for all policemen hired after the effective date of the bill. About 700 policemen would receive the training each year.

Training would be done at vocational schools and state universities and would cover subjects basic to police work. Communities would be reimbursed for up to half of the expenses of their officers' training.

The Outagamie County Board's law enforcement committee has recommended to the board that it support Warren's bill. Strong endorsement by village and city police departments in all Fox Valley counties would go a long way in showing that the public is interested in a program that should have been instituted a long time ago.

All too often, a policeman, especially in small communities, is hired one day and is on the street or highway with a gun and a badge the next. He can be of little or no value to the municipality he is serving. In fact, a poorly trained police officer can be a strong deterrent to good law enforcement, which today is a profession demanding highly skilled personnel.

Warren's proposal, spiked by strong compulsory compliance provisions and supplemented by follow-up legislation, could help provide the public with assurance it will receive the competent law enforcement it is paying for and entitled to.

Taxes Also Mean Services

For a number of years the high rate of taxation in Wisconsin has been blamed for putting the state in an unfavorable position in competing with neighboring states for attracting new industry. But now a report prepared by the Division of Economic Development puts the matter in better perspective. The 58-page study details the high level of services provided by Wisconsin to its residents.

The state spends about $25 more per capita on education than the average amount paid by all states. In higher education the figure is even more flattering. The state is far above average in the proportion of students in public institutions. High levels of spending for services such as fire protection, highway maintenance, sewerage, local parks and recreation "seem to mirror well the higher quality of service residents want."

The report also makes the rather startling point that only one state — New Jersey — receives less per capita in federal aids. And that Wisconsin tends to make only minor charges for some services for which other states levy high fees.

In comparisons with other states, particularly those in this part of the country, Wisconsin's taxes rank high. But as the new report points out, a comparison must also be made between the public services provided.

Governor Knowles' state board for economic development believes the report will be valuable in promoting Wisconsin to outside industry. Robert F. Draper, president of the John Oster Co. and a member of the board, called it a "great report."

Tax structure is a factor which industry considers in evaluating new locations, although there are other factors which are more important such as availability of labor and proximity to markets. The tax structure is particularly important to officials of a company considering locating in Wisconsin. In some cases the impact of state taxes upon that individual may affect his judgement on what is good for his company. Now at least Wisconsin can point out that there are advantages to living in Wisconsin for that individual, as well as for other employes of the company. And our excellent educational system is in this respect a great plus.

Drugs and Adolescents

New York City is the narcotic capital of the nation. The most disturbing thing about drug statistics is that more and more they are involving the adolescent. And, while narcotics are still not a serious problem in Wisconsin, the tendency of the high school student in particular to follow the crowd is of utmost concern.

In New York a remarkable group called Encounter is having some amount of success in preventing drug addiction among teen-agers. Members are all young and all were on drugs of one form or another. They pull no punches in dealing with the girls and boys who want to stop taking drugs and who come to the meetings seeking help. "I just tell them that almost every friend I had when I was on drugs is either dead or in jail," said one leader. The teen-ager who starts on marijuana or pep pills and who progresses to heroin or LSD is self-conscious, lacking in confidence and very anxious to appear "cool, hep and aware. It's just what's happening like a few years ago when everybody had to have switchblades."

In essence there isn't much difference between the pot smoking Greenwich Village high school students and those in Wisconsin who think they can impress the crowd by the illegal beer parties in the country every spring or the snitched bottle of brandy kept in a high school locker or under a bed.

There are a couple of paradoxes that apply to the high school student. While he desperately seems to need the approval of his peers, he also needs protection from them. And while he thinks that by going along with the crowd he gains that approval, actually it is the independent, self-confident individual who is really the most admired and envied, even if secretly and perhaps almost unconsciously.

Obviously there is no single way to deal with the problems of adolescence. Teenagers are not adults and cannot be treated as such but neither can we go back to the days of unquestioned adult authority. Since Wisconsin is usually behind New York in fads, it is likely that there will be more drug use in the state in the future.

But there is some amount of hope in organizations like Encounter. One girl told very simply why she decided to give up going to pot parties.

"I can't remember much about last spring because I was always high on pot or methedrine. I just decided that I wanted to enjoy spring."

At the spring of her own life, she said more than she realized.

Suggests Counter Activities to Curb Beer Drinking by Youths

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It has been with a great deal of interest that I have been watching the letters to the editor regarding the 18-year-old beer drinking law. Why do so many people, as well as state and federal law makers, take the negative approach in trying to solve these problems while overlooking the sensible solutions?

In the United States in 1966, over 49,000 people were killed in traffic accidents. In 50 per cent of them, alcohol was the primary factor. Attempts to lower the blood alcohol concentration from .15 per cent to .10 per cent as prima-facie evidence of being under the influence of alcohol have failed in this state as well as the attempts to pass an "implied consent law." Instead the automobile manufacturers have been taken to task for producing unsafe vehicles.

Many known mentally defectives are allowed to remain outside of the hospitals until they obtain a firearm and kill someone, at which time the public becomes aroused and wants to take firearms away from everyone. Attempts to inaugurate sensible firearms legislation aimed at those who use them in the commission of crimes have failed. If this is not enough, the U.S. Supreme Court through its recent decisions has made the convictions of these criminals even harder.

The same negative approach is being used today in the attempts to raise the legal beer drinking age from 18 to 19 or 21. This state has had 18 year old beer bars since the day prohibition was repealed and the parents of many of today's teenagers frequented them as I did and the problems today are the same as those of twenty years ago. It is not the beer being drunk in the well managed bars that causes the trouble, but that obtained from other sources and drunk on some side road after hours that is causing the most trouble. We should punish just those responsible for furnishing beer to those under age and the teenagers using the false ID cards, not all eighteen year olds.

One of the most positive approaches to this problem is the "Cavern," a non-sectarian coffee house catering to young people out of high school which is located in the basement of St. Joseph's old school. Several articles about this coffee house have appeared in The Post-Crescent and the April issue of "Cornet" magazine, a place were young people can get together over a cup of coffee or a coke and listen to some of the finest folk singing in the Fox Valley.

For those adults who are interested in finding out more about this positive approach, "Benefit Night" with an admission of one dollar is held on the evening of the first Sunday of the month and the public is invited.

This coffee house has worked out so well, that one for high school students is now under construction across the street in the basement of St. Joseph's new school. This one is to be called the "Shangri-la," and as was the "Cavern," constructed of donated material and labor. Father Timon states when it is finished, they plan on having so many activities such as drama, chorus, folksinging, etc. that the young people will not have time to get into trouble. All this is done at no cost to the taxpayer. The positive approach then would be to support the coffee houses or similar efforts, not by enacting laws which tend to cause more violations than already exist.

This Dairy Farm Couple Is Contented With Lot

Editor, Post-Crescent:

You have been printing letters from all the "disatisfied and disgusted" farmers. Well I would like to throw in a word from a "contented" farmer. We're not rich, nor expect to be, but certainly this past year has been the best one we have had in the dairy business, for a long time. Any farmer worth his salt should have been able to come out all right. If he didn't he never will no matter how high the price of milk goes. Certainly you have to work hard and put in long hours but that's what farming is.

No parent turned over the family farm to us at half-price. We went out and bought one on our own and literally pulled ourselves up by the bootstraps. But we made a go of it. We have our problems, but so does the city man. No one tells us when to get up, how to do our work, makes important decisions for us, chases the kids home nor sees every move you make. We tried living in town for awhile but we were happy to get back to the country again.

The quickest way to lose our freedom is for everyone to join one organization and have one man, who probably never saw a cow, tell us how to run our business. The N.F.O. is trying such a thing now. We should all join in and destroy our only source of income. Yet there own members don't intend to withhold any milk. We are surrounded by N.F.O. members and they all intend to keep on shipping milk. The cabbage farmers and the beef farmers are all for this milk action. Yet they wouldn't shoot their animals or destroy their crop to get a better price, so why should the dairy farmer throw his product away.

I think it's time the farmer set down and thought his situation over, thanked the Lord for his blessing and cut out belly aching. Otherwise he better move to town and he will find something to belly ache about there too.

Polite Drivers Yield Right of Way, but Get Hit by Moving House

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — It doesn't always pay to yield the right of way.

The truck got past, but not its load, which was a house being moved. The house snagged Robertson's car and jammed it into Pye's truck. Total damage, $300.

Wash Hung in Public Damper to Tourists

LISBON (AP) — Laundry hanging in balconies and windows may be very typical in the old quarters of Lisbon but is extremely inadequate on big boulevards, a Lisbon paper commented recently.

Municipal regulations only forbid hanging laundry in such a way that water drops may pour onto the heads of passers-by.

The tourist conscious newspaper, however, called for the interdiction of the habit. "Boulevards lose the solemnity of their names when exhibiting the intimate banners of homely life," the paper editorialized.

Wisconsin Report

Death of Vic Johnson Ends Colorful Career In National Politics

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Doubtless in some of the antiseptic lecture halls of schools of journalism around the country there remain solemn professors who warn budding journalists about the perils of a too intimate acquaintance with the professional politicians they will encounter in their work.

Wyngaard

Probably many of the cubs will accept such admonitions when they enter the world of news writing and editing. But if they construe them too literally, they will miss some of the most enduring friendships and the most exciting persons in the world.

The reflection came with the announcement of the death last week of Victor A. Johnston, professional politician extraordinary, and one of the most fascinating personalities and best friends I have counted in a considerable experience in public affairs reporting. He was the executive director for the last 20 years of the Republican National Senatorial Campaign Committee.

ONCE WAS REPORTER

Characteristically, Vic Johnston was a reporter turned politician. He started in his home county of North Dakota nearly 40 years ago, when Herbert Hoover's presidential campaign was the cause.

In the intervening decades he devoted himself almost exclusively to his party and the campaigns of its leaders. He was an intimate adviser and assistant of such latter day captains of the party as stassen, Taft, Nixon, Goldwater, and Dewey. Although like many old line Republicans he could restrain his enthusiasm for Eisenhower was a pillar of the Republican establishment nevertheless as the key man involved in the party's campaign for U.S. Senate nominees in nearly every state across the country.

Vic Johnston figured in one of the historical events in the history of Wisconsin politics when he was brought to Wisconsin by the late Thomas E. Coleman to assist in the fight that brought down the last of the old LaFollettes and put the late Joseph R. McCarthy in the U.S. Senate in 1946.

Yet the appeal of the man was not in his rise to the highest circles of his party or his association with the national leaders of his time. It was in his endless capacity as a raconteur, as bon vivant, and as unblinking expert in the vagaries of human nature. There was no hero worship in Vic Johnston. Men have feet of clay, and sometimes the clods are a little bigger on the mighty. His irreverence and utter candor brought him a thousand reporter friends around the country, as well as his rich stock of telling anecdotes. They enabled him in return to get on the telephone in his Washington office to make an authoritative survey of conditions or outlook that would have entailed a month of work for any other professional.

MADE FRIENDS EASILY

Perhaps because he once earned his living as a reporter, more likely because he enjoyed their company and shared their realism about his profession of politics, Johnston made friends easily with writers everywhere. One of his favorite warnings to Republican fat cats was that Democrats cultivate the men who write the news, while Republicans tend to court the publishers. He felt the Democrats were more shrewd, in that regard.

In the press club bars of America the Johnston stories will be told for a long time. Everybody has a favorite. Perhaps there is an apt Wisconsin flavor in the tale he liked to tell about the time he went to Washington for the installation of Joe McCarthy. Out of his own professional experience in public relations he earnestly advised McCarthy to plan in advance what he would say to the correspondents who would inevitably meet the Wisconsin giant killer at the station. McCarthy listened. He agreed to be careful.

"Gosh, it's raining."

Strictly Personal

Thoughts at Large Occupy Harris Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

How can we call someone "successful" when he has failed to realize his personal life, his social life, his spiritual life, his esthetic life — when he has, indeed, sacrificed all these sustaining elements for the sole purpose of succeeding in his acquisitive, or public, life?

Harris

After the snows of '67, perhaps commentators and orators will be a little less glib in prattling about "man's conquest of space."

A little adversity may build character, but a little more can easily corrode it: as Cardinal Newman once said, "There is nothing necessarily sanctifying about suffering — suffering merely makes bad men worse."

It is a delusion that those engaged couples who know each other for a long time increase their chances for a happy marriage: for no matter whom you marry on Saturday, you wake up on Sunday married to somebody else.

The sense of mortality can be defeated only by engaging in some activity that projects far beyond one's own time and place; and it is ironic that those who have the greatest aversion to death are precisely those who have least known what to do with their lives.

Those who think that modern bureaucracy is a new and special problem of our time should be told that the Talmud, composed thousands of years ago, contains this revealing sentence: "If the seas were ink, the reeds pens, the skies parchment, and all men scribes, they would not suffice to describe the complexity of government.

One of the chief differences I have observed between Englishmen and Americans is that if the Englishman genuinely believes he is good at something, he doesn't care if anyone else recognizes it or not, while the American seems not to believe he is good until he has got other people to tell him so.

"He preached a good sermon today" generally means "one that applies more to the people around me than to me."

It is a non sequitur to think that because a teacher is "good with little children" she would therefore be good with her own, if she had any; for it is easy to be "good" with children who are ultimately someone else's responsibility.

The main reason that social progress is so slow and painful is that we are (quite properly) committed to majority rule as the safest form of government, and yet history discloses that it is the minorities of each age who most often turn out to have been right — for instance, the majority of American colonists opposed our bid for independence.

Compliments Well Bestowed

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 6, 1867.

The Ripon Commonwealth contains the following compliments to J. M. Barker, Architect, and Ketchum Co., Iron Founders and Machinist of this City of Appleton:

On Tuesday last we visited for a short time the new mill erected by our enterprising fellow citizen, G. W. Dellinger.

The mill is not yet completed, but that portion of it intended for custom work is running complete, and turning out the very finest work. The machinery in this mill is among the best, if not really the most complete, ever put up in this state.

The draughting was done by Mr. J. M. Barstow, of Appleton, and by this job alone has shown himself to be a perfect master of the business. He has comprehended all the details, so that everything has come together with absolute perfection.

The iron work was made by Ketchum Co., of Appleton, and are really perfect specimens of work in that line.

The putting up of the machinery has all been superintended by Mr. Dellinger himself, and not a mistake or blunder has been made. All the latest improvements have been introduced, regardless of the expense, and it is perhaps as perfect a mill as there is in all Wisconsin.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Canverra, Australia, pledged at a historic dinner at Parliament House "that there can be no compromise: we shall win (the war) or we shall die, and to this end I pledge you the full resources of all the mighty power of my country and all the blood of my countrymen."

J. R. Froom was elected the new exalted ruler of the Appleton Elks Lodge. He succeeded Glenn H. Arthur.

Mrs. Rex Spencer was elected president of the Rainbow Veterans Auxiliary at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Bogan. Other officers were Mrs. Robert Merkel and Mrs. John Hantschel, vice presidents; Mrs. August Arens, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Leon Bartlein, chaplain, and Mrs. Paul Wilke, historian.

The gold Oscar, Miss Bergman's second, was for her portrayal of Anastasia in the movie of the same name; Brynner won his for his work in "The King and I." That year the best motion picture was "Around the World in 80 Days."

Emmett H. Hoks, Menasha, was awarded a National Science Foundation scholarship for graduate study at the University of Wisconsin.

Four sophomore vocalists at Appleton High School were chosen to participate in the Fox Valley-Lake Shore Music Festival. They were Sally De Braal, Pat Fischer, Jean Gerou and Karen Schermitzler.

Basketball Enthusiast Has Private Court in His Real Estate Office

MIAMI (AP) — Lots of sports enthusiasts own tennis courts, swimming pools, racing cars and the like. Dick First owns a private indoor basketball court.

It's only half-size with just one basket. But everything else about it is regulation. The floor is suspended for better jumping action. The ceiling is lofty. It's in First's real estate office building — and it cost $6,000.

Says the 34-year-old First, "Lots of people spend that much on a swimming pool. I enjoy basketball better than swimming."

'Not a Dry Eye'

Americans Moved by Vietnam Constitution

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — "There wasn't a dry eye in the place."

Those are the words of one of President Johnson's aides. The place was Guam where the President, surrounded by his top advisers, met with South Vietnam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

And this was the occasion: Ky handed the President an embossed copy of South Vietnam's new constitution which Saigon's constituent assembly, after working on it since September, had just approved so Ky could take it to Guam.

If the Americans were moved to tears it was because this constitution was the first solid step toward a democratic society by a people who had endured endless centuries of domination by Chinese, mandarins, emperors, and the colonialist French.

Hard Work

The same Johnson aide said that before Ky left Saigon he had worked four days and nights to get the constitution through the assembly. Election of a president and a new assembly will follow in a few months.

"The Americans were fatigued by their long journey to Guam," the aide said, "but Ky should have been exhausted. He wasn't. He was very self-confident." Newsmen who watched and heard him at Guam can testify to that.

Ky asserted himself at Guam — to such an extent that he took the headlines away from Johnson — and has continued to do so since, which may have a significant effect on the war and American relations with South Vietnam.

Sign of Hope

In the past week some prominent South Vietnamese have expressed great hope for the future, believing a popularly-supported, established government will take the starch out of the Viet Cong and induce North Vietnam to talk peace.

They were realistic enough to believe that just achieving a democratic government is not enough — to prove it can endure will take a little time and until then American help will continue to be needed.

At a news conference in Guam, Ky called for broadening and intensifying the war against North Vietnam. He blasted those American critics of Johnson and the war who call for an end to bombing the North and for a coalition government in South Vietnam to include the present enemy, the Viet Cong.

Ky said: "It's now our turn to say something. We are not going to accept communism in South Vietnam and nobody is going to be able to impose communism on us. We will never accept a coalition with Communists."

Persuade North Vietnamese

But the self-confidence didn't first show itself at Guam. When Johnson last February ordered a bombing pause over the Vietnamese lunar new year, hoping this might persuade North Vietnam to make a peace move, nothing happened.

It will probably go down as a futile American gesture. But one significant thing, perhaps overlooked, did happen in connection with the lunar pause.

Ky's South Vietnamese government by then had reached a point of such self-confidence that in a surprise move it offered to discuss with North Vietnam a much longer pause in the bombing. North Vietnam did not accept.

Still later, immediately after the Guam meeting, South Vietnam's chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu, announced his government had proposed a peace meeting with the North, saying that if they were ready, "We are ready."

This apparently was part of South Vietnam's reply — which wasn't made public until this week — to the three-step peace proposal made by U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations.
